The Last Machine Ian Christie,1994 The Cambridge History of Twentieth-Century English Literature Laura Marcus,Peter Nicholls,2004 Publisher Description Last Machine Ian Christie,1995 A review of the era of silent film

The Modern Supernatural and the Beginnings of Cinema Murray Leeder,2017-01-10 This study sees the nineteenth century supernatural as a significant context for cinema s first years The book takes up the familiar notion of cinema as a ghostly spectral or haunted medium and asks what made such association possible Examining the history of the projected image and supernatural displays psychical research and telepathy spirit photography and X rays the skeletons of the danse macabre and the ghostly spaces of the mind it uncovers many lost and fascinating connections The Modern Supernatural and the Beginnings of Cinema locates film s spectral affinities within a history stretching back to the beginning of screen practice and forward to the digital era In addition to examining the use of supernatural themes by pioneering filmmakers like Georges M li s and George Albert Smith it also engages with the representations of cinema s ghostly past in Guy Maddin s recent online project Seances 2016 It is ideal for those interested in the history of cinema the study of the supernatural and the pre history of the horror film Early Cinema Simon Popple,Joe Kember,2019-07-25 This book introduces the reader to the study of cinema as a series of aesthetic technological cultural ideological and economic debates while exploring new and challenging approaches to the subject It explores the period 1895 to 1914 when cinema established itself as the leading form of visual culture among rapidly expanding global media emerging from a rich tradition of scientific economic entertainment and educational practices and quickly developing as a worldwide institution Digital Imaging in Popular Cinema Lisa Purse,2013-01-07 To what extent has cinema been transformed by the advent of digital imaging Have digital solutions to production challenges begun to change our experience of films and their characters action and narratives And what impact does the inclusion of digital imaging in the film frame have on our interpretation and analysis of film texts Digital Imaging in Popular Cinema explores these issues through analysis of specific film moments and extended case studies of films including Minority Report King Kong 300 and Hugo It discusses how digital imaging can mimic transform shape and generate both fantastical and mundane objects and phenomena from scratch and what the implications are for how we read films and explores how cultural ideas about digital imaging can influence meaning within a film a scene or even a single shot The increasingly widespread use of digital imaging in cinema means that we can no longer afford to ignore it when critically analysing and interpreting film texts This innovative and engaging book provides a blueprint for approaching digital imaging in contemporary film and is therefore essential reading for all those working in the field of Film Studies From Steam to Screen Rebecca Harrison,2018-03-22 In late nineteenth and early twentieth century Britain there was widespread fascination with the technological transformations wrought by modernity Films newspapers and literature told astonishing stories about technology such as locomotives breaking speed records and moving images seemingly springing into life

onscreen And whether in films about train travel or in newspaper articles about movie theatres on trains stories about the convergence of the railway and cinema were especially prominent Together the two technologies radically transformed how people interacted with the world around them and became crucial to how British media reflected the nation s modernity and changing role within the empire Rebecca Harrison draws on archival sources and an extensive corpus of films to trace the intertwined histories of the train and the screen for the first time In doing so she presents a new and illuminating material and cultural history of the period and demonstrates the myriad ways railways and cinema coalesced to transform the population s everyday life With examples taken from more than 240 newsreels and 40 feature length films From Steam to Screen is essential reading for students and researchers working on film studies and British history at the turn of the century and beyond

Gothic Modernisms A. Smith,J. Wallace,2001-05-04 This is the first full length exploration of the relationship between Gothic fiction and Modernism in fiction and film The Gothic s fascination with images of the fragmented self is echoed in the Modernist concern with the psyche and the paranoia of the everyday The contributors explore how the Gothic influences a range of writers including James Joyce D H Lawrence Virginia Woolf May Sinclair Elizabeth Bowen and Djuna Barnes

Cities and Cinema Barbara Mennel,2008-03-19 Films about cities abound They provide fantasies for those who recognize their city and those for whom the city is a faraway dream or nightmare How does cinema rework city planners hopes and city dwellers fears of modern urbanism Can an analysis of city films answer some of the questions posed in urban studies What kinds of vision for the future and images of the past do city films offer What are the changes that city films have undergone Cities and Cinema puts urban theory and cinema studies in dialogue The book s first section analyzes three important genres of city films that follow in historical sequence each associated with a particular city moving from the city film of the Weimar Republic to the film noir associated with Los Angeles and the image of Paris in the cinema of the French New Wave The second section discusses socio historical themes of urban studies beginning with the relationship of film industries and individual cities continuing with the portrayal of war torn and divided cities and ending with the cinematic expression of utopia and dystopia in urban science fiction The last section negotiates the question of identity and place in a global world moving from the portrayal of ghettos and barrios to the city as a setting for gay and lesbian desire to end with the representation of the global city in transnational cinematic practices The book suggests that modernity links urbanism and cinema It accounts for the significant changes that city film has undergone through processes of globalization during which the city has developed from an icon in national cinema to a privileged site for transnational cinematic practices It is a key text for students and researchers of film studies urban studies and cultural studies

Mapping Lives Peter France,William St Clair,2004-09-23 Why biography Lives of writers thinkers and artists while unfailingly popular with readers raise all kinds of theoretical problems This volume explores the different faces and functions of the genre in a range of European settings from antiquity to the present

French-language Road Cinema Michael Gott,2016-05-31 Focusing on a corpus of films from France Belgium and Switzerland French language Road Cinema contends that nowhere is the impulse to remap the spaces and identities of New Europe more evident than in French language cinema

Literature, Technology, and Modernity, 1860-2000 Nicholas Daly, 2004-02-12 Industrial modernity takes it as self evident that there is a difference between people and machines but the corollary of this has been a recurring fantasy about the erasure of that difference The central scenario in this fantasy is the crash sometimes literal sometimes metaphorical Nicholas Daly considers the way human machine encounters have been imagined from the 1860s on arguing that such scenes dramatize the modernization of subjectivity This book will be of interest to scholars of modernism literature and film

Ostrannen Annie van den Oever, 2010 Summary Defamiliarisation or ostrannen the artistic technique of forcing the audience to see common things in an unfamiliar or strange way in order to enhance perception of the familiar has become one of the central concept of modern artistic practice ranging over movements including Dada postmodernism epic theatre and science fiction as well as our response to arts Coined by the Soviet literary critic Victor Shklovskii in 1917 ostrannen has come to resonate deeply in film studies where it entered into dialogue with the French philosopher Derrida's concept of difference bordering on differing and deferring Striking provocative and incisive the essays of the distinguished film scholars in this volume recall the range and depth of a concept that since 1917 changed the trajectory of theoretical inquiry

Fifty Key British Films Sarah Barrow, John White, 2012-08-06 In Fifty Key British Films Britain's best known films such as Clockwork Orange The Full Monty and Goldfinger are scrutinised for their outstanding ability to articulate the issues of the time This is essential reading for anyone interested in quality cult film

Projected Shadows Andrea Sabbadini, 2007-04-11 This book presents a new collection of essays exploring films from a psychoanalytic perspective focussing specifically on the representation of loss in European cinema Other themes familiar to psychoanalytic discourse are explored in the process

Locating Queerness in the Media Jane Campbell, Theresa Carilli, 2017-07-25 Locating Queerness in the Media A New Look examines how media images of the LGBTQ community create a universal consciousness about the existence of queer people ranging from tragic and villainous to upbeat and courageous In this book contributors explore how our media world invites a tension that marginalizes the LGBTQ community It examines what a queer sensibility means and how the queer community is creating new ways to study itself Throughout the book contributors explore specific media images that resonate throughout the media casting the community in a particular manner Ultimately its goal is to promote an understanding of the LGBTQ community to cover or in distinct chapters With its original narrative line and student oriented philosophy the text greatly enriches student s appreciation of cinema while equipping them with the essential skills and vocabulary to succeed in film studies This is an ideal foundational text for all lecturers undergraduate or A level students of film and cinema studies as well as enthusiasts of film and cinema looking for a comprehensive guide New to this Edition Content reflecting the increasing importance of production contexts in chapters focusing exclusively on the film business distribution and exhibition A more detailed chapter on representation and greater emphasis on audience Updated content addressing the significance of transnational cinema drawing on a more global non Hollywood range of film examples and case studies from Europe Asia and Latin America Text is broken up by a wider variety of film stills representing world cinema from the classics to the latest in contemporary cinema

The Body and the Arts Corinne Saunders,2009-03-26 The Body and the Arts focuses on the dynamic relation between the body and the arts the body as inspiration subject symbol and medium Contributors from a variety of disciplines explore this relation across a range of periods and art forms spanning medicine literature from the classical period to the present and visual and performing arts

The Tenth Muse Laura Marcus,2010-08-12 The Tenth Muse explores writings on the cinema in the first decades of the twentieth century Laura Marcus examines the impact of cinema on early twentieth century literary and more broadly aesthetic and cultural consciousness by bringing together the study of the terms and strategies of early writings about film with literary engagement with cinema in the same period She gives a new understanding of the ways in which early writers about film reviewers critics theorists developed aesthetic categories to define and accommodate what was called the seventh art or the tenth muse and found discursive strategies adequate to the representation of the new art and technology of cinema with its unprecedented powers of movement In examining the writings of early film critics and commentators in tandem with those of more specifically literary figures including H G Wells and Virginia Woolf and in bringing literary texts into this field Laura Marcus provides a new account of relationships between cinema and literature Intertwining two major strands of research the exploration of early film criticism and theory and cinema s presence in literary texts The Tenth Muse shows how issues central to an understanding of cinema including questions of time repetition movement vision sound and silence are threaded through both kinds of writing and the ways in which discursive and fictional writings overlapped The movement that defined cinema was also perceived as a more fragile and unstable ephemerality that inhered at every level from the fleeting nature of the projected images to the vagaries of cinematic exhibition It was the anxiety over the mutability of the medium and its exhibition which from the 1920s onwards led to the establishment of such institutional spaces for cinema as the London based Film Society the new film journals and in the 1930s the first film archives The Tenth Muse explores the continuities between these sites of cinematic culture and the conceptual literary and philosophical understandings of the filmic medium

Fantastic Voyages of the Cinematic Imagination Matthew Solomon,2011-05-01 Best moving pictures I ever saw Thus did one Vaudeville theater manager

describe Georges Méliès's A Trip to the Moon (Le Voyage dans la lune) after it was screened for enthusiastic audiences in October 1902. Cinema's first true blockbuster, A Trip to the Moon still inspires such superlatives and continues to be widely viewed on DVD, on the Internet, and in countless film courses. In Fantastic Voyages of the Cinematic Imagination, leading film scholars examine Méliès's landmark film in detail, demonstrating its many crucial connections to literature, popular culture, and visual culture of the time, as well as its long afterlife in more recent films, television, and music videos. Together, these essays make clear that Méliès was not only a major filmmaker but also a key figure in the emergence of modern spectacle and the birth of the modern cinematic imagination. And by bringing interdisciplinary methodologies of early cinema studies to bear on A Trip to the Moon, the contributors also open up much larger questions about aesthetics, media, and modernity. In his introduction, Matthew Solomon traces the convoluted provenance of the film's multiple versions and its key place in the historiography of cinema, and an appendix contains a useful dossier of primary source documents that contextualize the film's production, along with translations of two major articles written by Méliès himself.
