In the Eye of the Beholder: The Evolutionary Emergence of Visual Communication* Iain Davidson, 2025-09-08 The book is about how art arose and how it became what we call art today How did art emerge from the relationships between people and the things they produce and the ideas of producers How do people manipulate those relationships in their own society How do outsiders work out the ways in which those relationships were used to make art What is art and why are all people engaged with it in one way or another From its very beginning and everywhere art has always been embedded in its cultural context the contexts of the people who made and see it and that context has often been ritual The history of art confused social and institutional changes of view because western critics or artists sought to define the boundaries of art so tightly that ritual purposeful or utilitarian works were excluded from it In their definition art only existed if the rituals of the original producers were stripped from the works or if the objects were appropriated away from the situation in which they were produced The objects stripped from their context could then only be valued for their aesthetics Art consists of relationships between people things and ideas in quite specific ways Those relationships are discussed at length in this book The book is aimed at artists art historians and archaeologists but also at the general public interested in art It is intended both for people whose interest in art comes from knowledge of the art of all continents and for those who have no knowledge

Fake Heritage John Darlington, 2020-10-02 The first survey of the many redesigned and imitation historical landmarks and objects that dot the globe John Darlington shows it is not just written history that is malleable it is also history on the ground heritage in brick and stone wood and metal Simon Jenkins Times Literary Supplement What happens when the past or more specifically a piece of cultural heritage is fabricated From 50 replica Eiffel Towers located around the world to Saddam Hussein's reconstructions of ancient cities examples of forged heritage are widespread Some are easy to dismiss as blatant frauds the Piltdown Man while others adhere to honest copying or respectful homage the Parthenon in Nashville Tennessee This compelling book examines copies of historic buildings faux archaeological sites and other false artifacts using them to explore the ethics and consequences of reconstructing the past it also tackles the issues involved with faithful above board re creations of ancient landmarks John Darlington probes questions of historical authenticity seeking the lessons that lurk when history is twisted to tell an untrue story Amplified by stunning images the narrative underscores how the issue of duplicating heritage is both intriguing and incredibly complex especially in the twenty first century as communication and technology flourish so too do our opportunities to be deceived
