Clift, J. Harff, J. Wu, Y. Qui, 2016-09-02 The rivers of East Asia are some of the largest and most important to human society and the global economy They drain a variety of terrains from the Tibetan plateau the hill country of southern China and the steep mountains of Taiwan The sediment they carry potentially records the longterm evolution of continental environments within the marine stratigraphic record Sediments reaching the ocean have to traverse the wide continental shelves where they may be reworked and transported by longshore currents typhoon storm waves as well as large ocean currents such as the Kuroshio Deciphering any marine record requires us to understand the dynamics of sediment transport on the continental shelves and this region acts as a global type example of such processes Studies in this volume span a wide range of subdisciplines in the marine sciences and provide new insights into how sediment is distributed offshore after leaving the river mouths Index Medicus ,2004 Vols for 1963

 Hoffmann,2002-12-06 The concept of innate immunity refers to the first line host defense that serves to limit infection in the early hours after exposure to microorganisms Recent data have highlighted similarities between pathogen recognition signaling pathways and effector mechanisms of innate immunity in Drosophila and mammals pointing to a common ancestry of these defenses In addition to its role in the early phase of defense innate immunity in mammals appears to play a key role in stimulating the subsequent clonal response of adaptive immunity Recent exciting information has determined that the templates that are laid down in primitive life forms like flowering plants and insects form the basic principles of first line host defense that are conserved in mammalian systems The next frontier in the field is to understand the dynamic adaptive changes that occur as a result of the inter play between host defenses and infectious agents One emerging theme is that microorganisms are constantly seeking ways to co opt host defenses On the other hand host defense to infection is mediated by the coordinate action of pattern recognition molecules and receptors that in mammals are important and probably necessary antecedents to the development of an adaptive immune response Innate Immunity aims to explore the intersection between host pathogen interactions across an evolutionary spectrum that will inform our understanding of the dynamic interplay between infectious agents and host defense in man
