Social Anthropology and Development Policy R. D. Grillo, Alan Rew, 1985 4e de couv In recent years there has been considerable interest among anthropologists throughout the world in the application of their discipline to policy questions The involvement of anthropologists in policy matters has a lengthy history especially during the colonial period and has always stimulated controversy and debate This volume arises from the 1983 ASA Conference which was a major review of the state of anthropology with special emphasis on newer developments in the field particularly in applied subjects It is a timely and valuable contribution to the debate about the social and cultural dimensions of policy planning The papers fall into three groups The first examines the role of the anthropologist in a variety of historical political contexts the second looks at what specifically the anthropologist can contribute to policy work the third attempts to spell out in more general terms what working in the applied field might mean for anthropologists and those who employ them as policy advisers
