firmly believed there was a world outside of our own minds But all around me were challenges How could we be so sure there were such things existing apart from us Philosopher Benedict Chilwell faces a crisis of confidence and hopes to resolve it in a self imposed exile far away in the north of Norway From his cabin he begins his meditations pondering the mysteries of philosophy in the dark Arctic winter Pride a whale love and lust the Huldra God and a chain of causes all interrupt Benedict s solitude Could they prove his salvation In six days approaching the return of the light Benedict discovers a basis for certainty and tries his best to convince his hosts Through doubts questions and reasoning Chilwell inadvertently follows in Descartes footsteps Will he be killed by the cold too or will the warmth of Plato s sun save him in time The Aesthetics and Politics of the Crowd in American Literature Mary Esteve,2003-02-27 Mary Esteve provides a study of crowd representations in American literature from the antebellum era to the early twentieth century As a central icon of political and cultural democracy the crowd occupies a prominent place in the American literary and cultural landscape Esteve examines a range of writing by Poe Hawthorne Lydia Maria Child Du Bois James and Stephen Crane among others These writers she argues distinguish between the aesthetics of immersion in a crowd and the mode of collectivity demanded of political liberal subjects In their representations of everyday crowds ranging from streams of urban pedestrians to swarms of train travellers from upper class parties to lower class revivalist meetings such authors seize on the political problems facing a mass liberal democracy problems such as the stipulations of citizenship nation formation mass immigration and the emergence of mass media Esteve examines both the aesthetic and political meanings of such urban crowd scenes Colour, Light and Wonder in Islamic Art Idries Trevathan,2020-02-17 The experience of colour in Islamic visual culture has historically been overlooked In this new approach Idries Trevathan examines the language of colour in Islamic art and architecture in dialogue with its aesthetic contexts offering insights into the pre modern Muslim experience of interpreting colour The seventeenth century Shah Mosque in Isfahan Iran represents one of the finest examples of colour use on a grand scale Here Trevathan examines the philosophical and mystical traditions that formed the mosque s backdrop He shows how careful combinations of colour and design proportions in Islamic patterns expresses knowledge beyond that experienced in the corporeal world offering another language with which to know and experience God Colour thus becomes a spiritual language calling for a re consideration of how we read Islamic aesthetics

Transformative Aesthetics Erika Fischer-Lichte,Benjamin Wihstutz,2017-07-31 Aesthetic theory in the West has until now been dominated by ideas of effect autonomy and reception Transformative Aesthetics uncovers these theories mutual concern with the transformation of those involved From artists to spectators readers listeners or audiences the idea of transformation is one familiar to cultures across the globe Transformation of the individual is only one part of this aesthetic phenomenon as contemporary artists are increasingly called upon to have a transformative sustainable impact on society at large To this end Erika Fischer Lichte and Benjamin Wihstutz present a series of fresh perspectives on the discussion of aesthetics uniting Western theory with that of India China

Australia and beyond Each chapter of Transformative Aesthetics focuses on a different approach to transformation from the foundations of aesthetics to contemporary theories breaking new ground to establish a network of thought that spans theatre performance art history cultural studies and philosophy

Whitewash and the New Aesthetic of the Protestant Reformation Victoria George, 2013-12-31 This book is a reconsideration of the practice of whitewashing church interiors during the Protestant Reformation in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries It is the first detailed study of its kind which challenges the view that whitewash was always only a cheap coat of paint Victoria George pulls together several histories of the colour white from the biblical period to the present and ideas about the colour white in philosophy theology art and architecture from antiquity to the present She links them to case studies of the ways in which reformers Huldrych Zwingli and John Calvin thought about colour in a careful analysis of the role of colour thinking in their theological writings The social meanings embodied in the word whitewash as it entered the printed media in the 17th century is explored as part of a chapter on the history of whitewashing itself The long term symbolic and aesthetic implications of the practice of whitewashing are examined in the larger context of material culture in terms of their value as a metaphor for both the Reformed Protestant and the Catholic in opposition to them and for the uses to which whitewash has been put over time George proposes that the practice was not only visually transformative but held importance for religious aesthetics as an agent of change and for an aesthetics of minimalism generally especially evident in the twentieth and twenty first centuries Victoria George received an MFA from the Royal College of Art London an MA from The Architectural Association and a Ph D from Cambridge She has taught religion and the arts at the University of Richmond in Virginia
