The Last Days Of The Old Eastern World:

History of Egypt, Chalda³/₄a, Syria, Babylonia, and Assyria (Complete) Gaston Maspero, Professor Maspero does not need to be introduced to us His name is well known in England and America as that of one of the chief masters of Egyptian science as well as of ancient Oriental history and archaeology Alike as a philologist a historian and an archaeologist he occupies a foremost place in the annals of modern knowledge and research He possesses that quick apprehension and fertility of resource without which the decipherment of ancient texts is impossible and he also possesses a sympathy with the past and a power of realizing it which are indispensable if we would picture it aright His intimate acquaintance with Egypt and its literature and the opportunities of discovery afforded him by his position for several years as director of the Bulaq Museum give him an unique claim to speak with authority on the history of the valley of the Nile In the present work he has been prodigal of his abundant stores of learning and knowledge and it may therefore be regarded as the most complete account of ancient Egypt that has ever yet been published In the case of Babylonia and Assyria he no longer it is true speaks at first hand But he has thoroughly studied the latest and best authorities on the subject and has weighed their statements with the judgment which comes from an exhaustive acquaintance with a similar department of knowledge Naturally in progressive studies like those of Egyptology and Assyriology a good many theories and conclusions must be tentative and provisional only Discovery crowds so quickly on discovery that the truth of to day is often apt to be modified or amplified by the truth of to morrow A single fresh fact may throw a wholly new and unexpected light upon the results we have already gained and cause them to assume a somewhat changed aspect But this is what must happen in all sciences in which there is a healthy growth and archaeological science is no exception to the rule The spelling of ancient Egyptian proper names adopted by Professor Maspero will perhaps seem strange to many But it must be remembered that all our attempts to represent the pronunciation of ancient Egyptian words can be approximate only we can never ascertain with certainty how they were actually sounded All that can be done is to determine what pronunciation was assigned to them in the Greek period and to work backwards from this so far as it is possible to more remote ages This is what Professor Maspero has done and it must be no slight satisfaction to him to find that on the whole his system of transliteration is confirmed by the cuneiform tablets of Tel el Amarna The difficulties attaching to the spelling of Assyrian names are different from those which beset our attempts to reproduce even approximately the names of ancient Egypt The cuneiform system of writing was syllabic each character denoting a syllable so that we know what were the vowels in a proper name as well as the consonants Moreover the pronunciation of the consonants resembled that of the Hebrew consonants the transliteration of which has long since become conventional When therefore an Assyrian or Babylonian name is written phonetically its correct transliteration is not often a matter of question But unfortunately the names are not always written phonetically The cuneiform script was an inheritance from the non Semitic predecessors of the Semites in Babylonia and in this script the characters represented words as well as sounds Not unfrequently the Semitic Assyrians continued to write a name in the old Sumerian way instead of spelling it phonetically the result being that we do not know how it was pronounced in their own language The name of the Chald an Noab for instance is written with two characters which ideographically signify the sun or day of life and of the first of which the Sumerian values were ut babar khis tarn and par while the second had the value of zi Were it not that the Chald an historian B r ssos writes the name Xisuthros we should have no clue to its Semitic pronunciation History of Egypt, Chald³/₄a, Syria, Babylonia, and Assyria (Complete) Gaston Maspero, Professor Maspero does not need to be introduced to us His name is well known in England and America as that of one of the chief masters of Egyptian science as well as of ancient Oriental history and archaeology Alike as a philologist a historian and an archaeologist he occupies a foremost place in the annals of modern knowledge and research He possesses that quick apprehension and fertility of resource without which the decipherment of ancient texts is impossible and he also possesses a sympathy with the past and a power of realizing it which are indispensable if we would picture it aright His intimate acquaintance with Egypt and its literature and the opportunities of discovery afforded him by his position for several years as director of the Bulaq Museum give him an unique claim to speak with authority on the history of the valley of the Nile In the present work he has been prodigal of his abundant stores of learning and knowledge and it may therefore be regarded as the most complete account of ancient Egypt that has ever yet been published In the case of Babylonia and Assyria he no longer it is true speaks at first hand But he has thoroughly studied the latest and best authorities on the subject and has weighed their statements with the judgment which comes from an exhaustive acquaintance with a similar department of knowledge Naturally in progressive studies like those of Egyptology and Assyriology a good many theories and conclusions must be tentative and provisional only Discovery crowds so quickly on discovery that the truth of to day is often apt to be modified or amplified by the truth of to morrow A single fresh fact may throw a wholly new and unexpected light upon the results we have already gained and cause them to assume a somewhat changed aspect But this is what must happen in all sciences in which there is a healthy growth and archaeological science is no exception to the rule The spelling of ancient Egyptian proper names adopted by Professor Maspero will perhaps seem strange to many But it must be remembered that all our attempts to represent the pronunciation of ancient Egyptian words can be approximate only we can never ascertain with certainty how they were actually sounded All that can be done is to determine what pronunciation was assigned to them in the Greek period and to work backwards from this so far as it is possible to more remote ages This is what Professor Maspero has done and it must be no slight satisfaction to him to find that on the whole his system of transliteration is confirmed by the cuneiform tablets of Tel el Amarna The difficulties attaching to the spelling of Assyrian names are different from those which beset our attempts to reproduce even approximately the names of ancient Egypt The cuneiform system of writing was syllabic each character denoting a syllable so that we know what were the vowels in a proper name as well as the consonants Moreover the pronunciation of the

made by the Nile and sustained by the Nile The whole length of the land is shut in by two ranges of hills roughly parallel at a mean distance of about twelve miles During the earlier ages the river filled all this intermediate space and the sides of the hills polished worn blackened to their very summits still bear unmistakable traces of its action Wasted and shrunken within the deeps of its own ancient bed the stream now makes a way through its own thick deposits of mud The bulk of its waters keep to the east and constitutes the true Nile the Great River of the hieroglyphic inscriptions At Khartoum the single channel in which the river flowed divides and two other streams are opened up in a southerly direction each of them apparently equal in volume to the main stream Which is the true Nile Is it the Blue Nile which seems to come down from the distant mountains Or is it the White Nile which has traversed the immense plains of equatorial Africa The old Egyptians never knew The river kept the secret of its source from them as obstinately as it withheld it from us until a few years ago Vainly did their victorious armies follow the Nile for months together as they pursued the tribes who dwelt upon its banks only to find it as wide as full as irresistible in its progress as ever It was a fresh water sea iama ioma was the name by which they called it The Egyptians therefore never sought its source It was said to be of supernatural origin to rise in Paradise to traverse burning regions inaccessible to man and afterwards to fall into a sea whence it made its way to Egypt Apocalyptic Tremors C.R.

The God Dilemma V.C. Thomas, 2009-08-25 Today's modern technology and scientific knowledge contradicts all religious dogma created in ancient times by ignorant and superstitious people who had just learned to write Modern science can test the strength of one's faith and it can make him a skeptic causing him to discard the religious beliefs of his family for generations past Deep religious experiences or self-induced delusions can be explained by physical psychological biological and medical sciences today Evil or Sin is the result of social and mental conditions and can be corrected with education and medication today and without the help of an imaginary God To quote Mark Twain Faith is to believe in what you know for sure is not true The GOD Dilemma is an unscientific investigation to justify believing in religion today and in particular the Christian faith It argues that scientific and logical discussions about religion and the existence of God are futile however we cannot stop thinking about it Humans are maybe born with a faith in God's existence and with a conscience that tells them which is morally and ethically right and which is not Author Thomas used to believe in religion God and Christianity through his teenage years but even if he learned to ignore it during his 50 adult years he never consciously discarded his Christian faith He now shares his investigations and attempts to believe in Jesus Christ once again despite today's knowledge of the universe and evolution and by ignoring the sanctimonious behavior of fundamentalist US Christians In the international scene Thomas believes that the US wars since WWII cannot be justified by the life and the teachings of Jesus Christ There is an underlying moral claim by fundamentalist Christian Americans that its actions are justified by Jesus and Christianity The new phenomenon called Christian Zionism which requires the removal of Palestinians from their homeland to create and expand Israel to enable the second coming of Christ categorically contradicts the teachings of Jesus in the four Gospels Zionism is based on the Old Testament Bible OTB and Revelations in the New Testament both of which are scientifically ridiculous The OTB is also historically questionable about a God interacting with his only chosen people in Middle East and morally criminal God sponsored and assisted armed robbery and genocide to create Israel ancient and modern by today's legal and ethical standards Why has the life and teachings of Jesus Christ not produced universal love and non violence among Christians Why are American Christians the most active supporters of or not speaking out against the wars bombing and destruction by the USA since WWII Are Ashkenazi European Jews really the descendants of Semitic slaves from Egypt What were the reasons for anti-Semitism and the Holocaust in Christian Europe of the past Why is the European Union and the US punishing the Palestinians for the Holocaust crimes in Europe Can God's orders in the Bible be legally used by the United Nations to recreate Israel again in the 20th century after 3000 years by getting rid of Palestinians The book seeks to inform and provoke critical thinking of the readers through this investigation into religion and God and in particular the violent intolerant and self righteous behavior of Christians for centuries past and even in today's enlightened age using the source of the Christian religion the Bible East to West across Russia: The Long Journey Home Daniel C.A.
