Today we are all familiar with the iconic pictures of the nebulae produced by the Hubble Space Telescope s digital cameras But there was a time before the successful application of photography to the heavens in which scientists had to rely on handmade drawings of these mysterious phenomena Observing by Hand sheds entirely new light on the ways in which the production and reception of handdrawn images of the nebulae in the nineteenth century contributed to astronomical observation Omar W Nasim investigates hundreds of unpublished observing books and paper records from six nineteenth century observers of the nebulae Sir John Herschel William Parsons the third Earl of Rosse William Lassell Ebenezer Porter Mason Ernst Wilhelm Leberecht Tempel and George Phillips Bond Nasim focuses on the ways in which these observers created and employed their drawings in data driven procedures from their choices of artistic materials and techniques to their practices and scientific observation He examines the ways in which the act of drawing complemented the acts of seeing and knowing as well as the ways that making pictures was connected to the production of scientific knowledge An impeccably researched carefully crafted and beautifully illustrated piece of historical work Observing by Hand will delight historians of science art and the book as well as astronomers and philosophers      English Mechanic and World of Science ,1883      The Chautauquan Theodore L.
