Towards a Pedagogy for Emancipation Chris Sarra,2014-06-17 Strong and Smart Towards a Pedagogy for Emancipation tells the story of how Dr Chris Sarra overcame low expectations for his future to become an educator who has sought to change the tide of low expectations for other Indigenous students The book draws upon Roy Bhaskar s theory of Critical Realism to demonstrate how Indigenous people have agency and can take control of their own emancipation Sarra shows that it is important for Indigenous students to have confidence in their own strength and ability to be as able as any other group within society The book also compares and contrasts White perceptions of what it is to be Indigenous and Indigenous views of what it is to be an Aboriginal Australian The book calls for Indigenous Australians to radically transform and not simply reproduce the identity that Mainstream White Australia has sought to foster for them Here the book explores in what ways Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are othered by White Australians Sarra seeks to advance the novel position that it is OK to be other to White Australia The question becomes which other The Indigenous Student should not be treated as the Feared and or Despised Other nor should they be coerced into wholly assimilating into White culture Moving the

Needle on Children's Physical Activity - How to Best Promote More Movement? Mirko Brandes ,Jennifer Sacke,2024-07-24 Globally physical inactivity is on the rise in most countries and according to the WHO it is considered one of the leading major public health risks As children s physical activity behaviors are conveyed into adulthood many interventions focus on establishing healthy physical activity habits in children to prevent the potential negative health outcomes associated with low physical activity over the life course The school environment provides an opportunity to reach the majority of children however physical activity promotion in schools can often be a challenge Barriers to the success of physical activity interventions include the physical social and economic environment competencies and workload of teachers as well as the perception that physical activity may interfere with the primary task of schools which is education Moreover the evaluation of physical activity interventions for children is challenging raising a discussion on how to best evaluate these interventions
