Goodbye, Dr Banda Alexander Chula,2023-05-04 You may never have been may never go may never even have heard of the place but Malawi will repay your attention It is one of the smallest poorest countries in Africa often overlooked but its relationship with us in the West has been extraordinary How to engage with cultures profoundly unlike our own We travel the world compulsively wanting to reach out but seldom feeling sure of how to do so A small African country presents us with a near perfect case study From David Livingstone and the early missionaries through British colonialists to today s tourists aid workers and even Madonna Malawi has experienced the whole gamut of Westerners all trying to connect This has made for an extraordinary meeting of worlds between one of the continent s most fascinating indigenous cultures and the best and worst of our own Unexpected and exhilarating by turns edifying and uncomfortable it is a story with urgent lessons for our vexed age of identity crisis and multi cultural faltering Here tribal ritual collides with Ancient Greek theatre roving classicists with ancestral spirits poets and pop stars with missionary explorers hippies and kleptocrats with long suffering peasants a tumultuous masquerade around the enigmatic Dr Banda

A Companion to Twentieth-Century Poetry Neil Roberts,2008-04-15 In the twentieth century more people spoke English and more people wrote poetry than in the whole of previous history and this Companion strives to make sense of this crowded poetical era The original contributions by leading international scholars and practising poets were written as the contributors adjusted to the idea that the possibilities of twentieth century poetry were exhausted and finite. However, the volume also looks forward to the poetry and readings that the new century will bring. The Companion embraces the extraordinary development of poetry over the century in twenty English speaking countries, a century which began with a bipolar transatlantic connection in modernism and ended with the decentred heterogeneity of post colonialism. Representation of the canonical and the marginal is therefore balanced, including the full integration of women poets and feminist approaches and the in depth treatment of post colonial poets from various national traditions. Discussion of context, intertextualities and formal approaches illustrates the increasing self consciousness and self reflexivity of the period, whilst a Readings section offers new readings of key selected texts. The volume as a whole offers critical and contextual coverage of the full range of English language poetry in the last century. The Columbia

Guide to Central African Literature in English Since 1945 Adrian A. Roscoe, 2008. Columbia's guides to postwar African literature paint a unique portrait of the continent's rich and diverse literary traditions. This volume examines the rapid rise and growth of modern literature in the three postcolonial nations of Zimbabwe, Malawi and Zambia. It tracks the multiple political and economic pressures that have shaped Central African writing since the end of World War II and reveals its authors' heroic efforts to keep their literary traditions alive in the face of extreme poverty and AIDS. Adrian Roscoe begins with a list of key political events. Since writers were composing within both colonial and postcolonial contexts, he pays particular attention to the nature of British colonialism, especially theories regarding its provenance and motivation. Roscoe discusses such historical figures as David Livingstone, Cecil Rhodes and Sir Harry Johnston, as well as modern power players including Robert Mugabe, Kenneth Kaunda and Kamuzu Banda. He also addresses efforts to create a literary historical record from an African perspective, an account that challenges white historiographies in which the colonized was neither agent nor informer. A comprehensive alphabetical guide profiles both established and emerging authors and further illustrates issues raised in the introduction. Roscoe then concludes with a detailed bibliography recommending additional reading and sources. At the close of World War II, the people of Central Africa found themselves mired in imperial fatigue and broken promises of freedom. This fueled a desire for liberation and a major surge in literary production, and in this illuminating guide, Roscoe details the campaigns for social justice and political integrity, for education and economic empowerment, and for gender equity, participatory democracy, rural development and environmental care that characterized this exciting period of development. Incarceration and human rights Melissa McCarthy, 2013-01-18. A collection of essays and responses from diverse contributors united in original examination of the intersection between incarceration and human rights. What do human rights concerns dictate about the practices that we tolerate in places of incarceration? And conversely, what can prisons, their hard facts and the ideas underpinning them, tell us about human rights? The book offers a diversity of voices from the inside view of Her Majesty's Inspector of Prisons to the words of a poet and former political prisoner, from an international policy overview of abuses of the mentally ill to a socio-economic reading of race and class in prisons. This range of approaches offers a uniquely rounded view of the topic while each contributor's eminence in their field gives great depth of expertise

Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019-08-13 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non penal situations described as confining or restrictive. These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time. Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality. It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment. The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary. The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory. The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods.
