Slump City Andrew Friend, Andy Metcalf, 1981      Urban Regeneration and Neoliberalism Clare Kinsella, 2020-10-29

This book explores the concept of home in Liverpool over phases of regeneration following the Second World War Using qualitative research in the oral history tradition it explores what the author conceptualises as forward facing regeneration in the period up to the 1980s and neoliberal regeneration interventions that prioritise the past from the 1980s to the present The author examines how the shift towards city centre focused redevelopment and event led initiatives has implications for the way residents make sense of their conceptualisations of home and demonstrates how the shift in regeneration focus discourse and practice away from Liverpool s neighbourhood districts and towards the city centre has produced changes in the ways that residents identify with neighbourhoods and the city centre with prominence being given to the latter Employing Pierre Bourdieu s concepts of habitus and field as mechanisms for understanding different senses of home and shifts from localised views to globalised views this book will appeal to those with interests in urban sociology regeneration geography sociology home cultures and cities      Scarman and After John Benyon, 2014-05-17 Scarman and After Essays Reflecting on Lord Scarman s Report the Riots and their Aftermath covers the proceedings of a conference on Lord Scarman s social and economic issues held at the University of Leicester in April 1982 organized by the Continuing Education Unit of the University s Department of Adult Education The Lord Scarman Report itemized and stressed particular issues that arose from the Brixton disorders This text is organized into five parts encompassing 22 chapters The first parts explore the political agenda of the Brixton riot and Lord Scarman s report explanations images and impact of riots Another part is concerned with the issues in policy making related to the community public and accountability These topics are followed by discussions of the issues of unemployment and racial disadvantages in cities The last part contains a summary of the Report This book will prove useful to historians sociologists and researchers cities shape and are shaped by globalization and provides lessons for the future      Attachment Volume 2 Number 1

Hollister, 2013-06-29

Curious about the images of the city that have been evolving in the different social sciences we did what academics often do in such a situation we set up a seminar on Images of the City in the Social Sciences From the start we counted on the help of specialists in other fields to pursue their interests Of the persons who agreed to participate all but two came from the United States and their analyses in the main reflect the experience of Western countries and the United States In our formal instructions to our collaborators we took for granted that a variety of images of the city could be found or inferred in their fields of expertise We asked them to identify these images and their functions to explain how and why they have changed over time and to relate these images to the distinct intellectual traditions and techniques analytical or otherwise in their respective fields The definition of image was left to the judgment of the participants      State, Power, Crime Roy Coleman, Joe Sim, Steve Tombs, David

Whyte, 2009-10-16 Following the outstanding introduction by the authors there are fifteen excellent original articles devoted to an integrated theory of the relationship between the state and crime This work is on the cutting edge of critical criminology It is a must read William J Chambliss Professor of Sociology The George Washington University USA This book is a superb compilation of original papers by an impressive roster of authors While the articles cover a wide range of empirical issues from Northern Ireland and corporate crime to youth crime and heterosexual hegemony they all explore the implications strategies and mechanisms of state power There isn't a weak paper here all are extensively documented well written persuasive and scholarly in the very best sense Professor Laureen Snider Queens University Canada State Power

Obstacles to Fairness in Criminal Proceedings John D Jackson, Sarah J Summers, 2018-03-22

This volume considers the way in which the focus on individual rights may constitute an obstacle to ensuring fairness in criminal proceedings The increasingly cosmopolitan nature of criminal justice forcing legal systems with different institutional forms and practices to interact with each other as they attempt to combat crime beyond national borders has accentuated the need for systems to seek legitimacy beyond their domestic traditions Fairness expressed in terms of the right to a fair trial in provisions such as Article 6 of the European Convention on Human Rights has emerged across Europe as the principal means of guaranteeing the legitimacy of criminal proceedings The consequence of this is that criminal procedure doctrines are framed overwhelmingly in constitutional terms the protection of defence rights is necessary to restrict and legitimate the state s mandate to prosecute crime Yet there are various problems with relying solely or predominantly on defence rights as a means of ensuring that proceedings are fair or legitimate and these issues are rarely discussed in the academic literature In this volume scholars from the disciplines of law philosophy and sociology challenge various normative assumptions underpinning our understanding of fairness in criminal proceedings

Selling the Welfare State Ray Forrest, Alan Murie, 2014-06-03 Originally published in 1988 this book offers the first comprehensive and critical analysis of the privatisation of public housing in Britain It outlines the historical background to the growth of public housing and the developing political debate surrounding its disposal The main emphasis in the book however is on the ways in which privatisation in housing links to other key changes in British society The long trend for British social housing to become a welfare housing sector is related to evidence of growing social polarisation and segregation Within this overall context the book explores the uneven spatial and social consequences of the policy

Feminism and "race" Kum-Kum Bhavnani, 2001

The past two decades have seen the incursion of feminist thought into many academic areas. Within the academy, feminist approaches have gained some legitimacy, and yet simultaneous with these disciplinary advances there have been charges of racism directed at feminist scholarship and practice. These charges have resulted in feminist work continuously reshaping itself. This volume represents the strength as well as diversity of writings which discuss race and feminism, showing how these two areas usually considered to be distinct and therefore discrete from each other have developed. Feminism and Race includes articles spanning a number of disciplinary areas such as history, literary analysis, sociology, and psychology, and provides a history of how second wave feminisms have negotiated race, as well as suggesting what future directions these debates may take.

Criminological Perspectives Eugene McLaughlin, John Muncie, Gordon Hughes, 2003-02-24 This book presents in accessible form the most relevant readings from the diverse criminology literature and provides students with direct access to the main theories and perspectives which underpin and shape the discipline of criminology.

Legacy of Empire Werner Glinga, 1986

Social Work and Social Perspectives Eileen Oak, 2008-11-24 Social Work and Social Perspectives introduces readers to a range of important sociological concepts showing how these can feed critical practice and illustrate social work's complex relationship with the welfare state. Adopting a unique social policy framework, this distinctive text is an illuminating reading.

No Justice, No Police? Matt Clement, 2023-05-26 Sparked by the brutal police murder of George Floyd, the second wave of the Black Lives Matter protest movement has surged across more than 100 US cities, spilling into Brazil, South Africa, Paris, and London, to name a few of the primary sites of active resistance. This is a new movement, international in scope, with a disproportionately large section of young people, black and white, using their own language and tactics to fundamentally challenge the whole range of racist institutions governing today's globalised world. Matt Clement's No Justice, No Police: The Politics of Protest and Social Change chronicles this movement as it continues to deepen and broaden.

Inside Babylon Winston James, Clive Harris, 1993 The varied experience of the Caribbean diaspora in Britain, with its difficult and fractured history, is reflected in this distinctive and lively collection. The contributors to Inside Babylon show how employers and police, psychiatrists and welfare services help to channel black people into residential and occupational ghettos. Clive Harris, Bob Carter, and Shirley Joshi analyse the economic destiny of Afro-Caribbeans in Britain. Going beyond the familiar prisms of race relations and reductionist class analysis, they illuminate the radicalizing dynamic of British capitalism in the postwar period. Errol Francis provides a shocking account of the experience of black people at the hands of psychiatrists in Britain. Cecil Gutzmore finds the Notting Hill carnival to be a litmus test of racist formations in both the media and the state, as well as evidence of the resilience of the black community. Amina Mama and Claudette Williams explore the position of women in black communities, while Gail Lewis focuses on their characteristic patterns of employment. In a powerful concluding essay, Winston James charts the unfolding of a new Afro-Caribbean identity in Britain and debunks the notion that racist structures by themselves create a homogeneous black community.
