Popular Music And Television In Britain Ian Inglis,2016-04-22 Listening to popular music and watching television have become the two most common activities for postwar generations in Britain From the experiences of programmes like Oh Boy and Juke Box Jury to the introduction of 24 hour music video channels the number and variety of television outputs that consistently make use of popular music and the importance of the small screen as a principal point of contact between audiences and performers are familiar components of contemporary media operation Yet there have been few attempts to examine the two activities in tandem to chart their parallel evolution to explore the associations that unite them or to consider the increasingly frequent ways in which the production and consumption of TV and music are linked in theory and in practice This volume provides an invaluable critical analysis of these and other topics in newly written contributions from some of Britain's leading scholars in the disciplines of television and or popular music studies Through a concentration on four main areas in which TV organises and presents popular music history and heritage performers and performances comedy and drama audiences and territories the book investigates a diverse range of musical genres and styles factual and fictional programming historical and geographical demographics and the constraints of commerce and technology to provide the first systematic account of the place of popular music on British television

The Klansman's Son R. Derek Black,2024-05-14 From the former heir apparent to white nationalism The Klansman's Son is an astonishing memoir of a childhood built on fear of breaking from a community of hate When coded language and creeping authoritarianism spread the ideas of white nationalists this is an essential book with a powerful voice Derek Black was raised to take over the white nationalist movement in the United States Their father Don Black was a former Grand Wizard in the Ku Klux Klan and started Stormfront the internet's first white supremacist website Derek built the kids page David Duke was also their close family friend and mentor Racist hatred though often wrapped up in respectability was all Derek knew Then while in college in 2013 Derek publicly renounced white nationalism and apologized for their actions and the suffering that they had caused The majority of their family stopped speaking to them and they disappeared into academia convinced that they had done so much harm that there was no place for them in public life But in 2016 as they watched the rise of Donald Trump they immediately recognized what they were hearing the spread and mainstreaming of the hate they had helped cultivate and they knew that they couldn't stay silent This is a thoughtful insightful and moving account of a singular life with important lessons for our troubled times Derek can trace a uniquely insider account of the rise of white nationalism and how a child indoctrinated with hate can become an anti racist adult Few understand the ideology motivations or tactics of the white nationalist movement like Derek and few have ever made so profound a change      Selections from Rolling Stone Magazine's 500 Greatest Songs of All Time - Classic Rock to Modern Rock Alfred Music, 2008-07-03
