

Reception of sound

In mammals, sound waves are collected by the external, cartilaginous part of the ear, called the pinna. Then they travel through the auditory canal and cause vibration of the thin diaphragm called the tympanum (ear drum), the innermost part of the outer ear.

Interior to the tympanum is the middle ear, which holds three small bones (ossicles) that transfer energy from the moving tympanum to the inner ear: the malleus (hammer), incus (anvil), and stapes (stirrup). The ossicles are unique to mammals, and they are homologous to bones in a fish mouth: the bones that support gills in fish are thought to be adapted for use in the vertebrate ear over evolutionary time.
