Revising Oral Theory Paul Acker, 1998 First Published in 1998 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informal company Learning and Persuasion in the German Middle Ages Ernst Ralf Hintz, 2014-01-14 Augustine as a point of departure This study examines Christian education in early vernacular texts of the German Middle Ages on the basis of Latin traditions of learning and teaching from Late Antiquity The point of departure is Augustine's De doctrina christiana in which Augustine not only consolidated Christian and pagan traditions but combined them into a program of Christian education Illuminates continuity of traditions The author considers the continuity of these traditions in the late sixth century in Gregory the Great's treatise on pastoral care Regula pastoralis the early ninth century work of Hrabanus Maurus De institutione clericorum in the Old High German poem the Muspilli also from the ninth century then in the Middle High German works the Memento Mori from the late 11th century and the poems of Frau Ava and Von den Letzten Dingen from the early and late 12th century respectively Translations of the Latin and early German texts generally appear together with a version of their original texts A bibliography and index conclude the volume

Courting Power Laurie Shepard, 2013-08-21 This text chronicles a change in epistolary persuasion in the 1230s crystallized at the imperial chancery of Frederick II Emperor from 1220-1250 There traditional appeals premised on authority and harmony were challenged by letters in which historical circumstances functioned as an integral part of the strategy of persuasion Based on the close reading of Artes Dictandi as well as a series of letters issued from the papal and imperial chanceries this book explores the theory and practice of medieval letter writing Letters are evaluated as verbal acts intended to persuade with the public as the ultimate arbiter of success The author argues that the form proportion and style of letters were contoured by ideology

Chrétien de Troyes Douglas Kelly, 2002 The supplement to the 1976 original bibliography reflects the expanding scope of modern Chrétien studies including items from around the world with the assistance of an international team of scholars The Supplement builds on and completes the Chrétien de Troyes Bibliography first published in 1976 Together the two volumes constitute the fullest and most complete bibliographical source now available on this major medieval author Chrétien de Troyes bequeathed a corpus of highly original and widely influential Arthurian romances Indeed his direct or indirect influence continued throughout the middle ages and beyond into modern times The Bibliography permits students of medieval romance to quickly identify the areas in which Chrétien scholarship has been active Items are listed under twenty-two topics with numerous subsections under each topic and cross references for items that treat more than one of the topics The broad geographic and linguistic scope of modern Chrétien studies is evident in items not only from western Europe and North America but also from the growing body of medieval scholarship in eastern Europe Asia Africa South America and Australasia To ensure accuracy and completeness the editor has been assisted by scholars competent in the many languages in which Chrétien studies are now published most notably in Japanese Welsh Rumanian Hungarian and Polish as well as by other scholars and librarians
