The Political Subject of Violence David Campbell, Michael Dillon, 1993 These essays examine various aspects of the violence of the relationship between modern reason and modern political violence drawing upon Nietzschean and Heideggerean themes and the work of contemporary thinkers such as Foucault Derrida and Levinas Queering the Canon Christoph Lorey, John L. Plews, 1998 This collection of essays exposes points of queerness marginality and alterity present in the German canon and introduces further deviation from traditional German literature and culture in the form of openly lesbian and gay works It provides new queer analyses of texts by canonical authors such as Goethe Schiller Thomas and Klaus Mann Ingeborg Bachmann Christa Reinig and Elfriede Jelinek yet discusses works that have seldom received scholarly attention It also breaks the traditional limitation of Germanistik to the study of literature by including essays on aspects of German culture such as music film fine art and art history and politics and law Figures of Desire Linda Williams, 1992-01-01 An important contribution to film theory Williams has a fluid assured style She is clearly in command of the subject She s made a strong and original argument for the psychoanalytic basis of Surrealism James Monaco author of The New Wave Cinematic Encounters 2 Jonathan Rosenbaum, 2019-05-30 Eschewing the idea of film reviewer as solitary expert Jonathan Rosenbaum continues to advance his belief that a critic s ideal role is to mediate and facilitate our public discussion of cinema Portraits and Polemics presents debate as an important form of cinematic encounter whether one argues with filmmakers themselves on behalf of their work or with one s self Rosenbaum takes on filmmakers like Chantal Akerman Richard Linklater Manoel De Oliveira Mark Rappaport Elaine May and B la Tarr He also engages implicitly and explicitly with other writers arguing with Pauline Kael and Wikipedia over Jacques Demy with the Hollywood Reporter and

Variety reviewers of Jarmusch's The Limits of Control with David Thomson about James L. Brooks and with many American and English film critics about misrepresented figures from Jerry Lewis to Yasujiro Ozu to Orson Welles. Throughout Rosenbaum mines insights, pursues pet notions and invites readers to join the fray. When Movies Mattered Dave Kehr, 2011-04-15. If you have ever wanted to dig around in the archives for that perfect Sunday afternoon DVD and first turned to a witty weekly column in the New York Times, then you are already familiar with one of our nation's premier film critics. If you love movies and the writers who engage them and just happen to have followed two of the highest circulating daily papers in the country, then you probably recognize the name of the intellectually dazzling writer who has been penning pieces on American and foreign films for over thirty years. And if you called the City of the Big Shoulders home in the 1970s or 1980s and relied on those trenchant incisive reviews from the Chicago Reader and the Chicago Tribune to guide your moviegoing delight, then you know Dave Kehr. When Movies Mattered presents a wide-ranging and illuminating selection of Kehr's criticism from the Reader, most of which is reprinted here for the first time, including insightful discussions of film history and his controversial Top Ten lists. Long heralded by his peers for both his deep knowledge and incisive style, Kehr developed his approach to writing about film from the auteur criticism popular in the 70s. Though Kehr's criticism has never lost its intellectual edge, it's still easily accessible to anyone who truly cares about movies. Never watered down and always razor sharp, it goes beyond wary observations to an acute examination of the particular stylistic qualities that define the work of individual directors and determine the meaning of individual films. From current releases to important revivals from classical Hollywood to foreign fare, Kehr has kept us spellbound with his insightful critical commentaries. When Movies Mattered will secure his place among our very best writers about all things cinematic. Literary Theory at Work Douglas Tallack, 1987-01-01 PM. This is a sequel to the successful Modern Literary Theory by Jefferson and Robey Barnes. Noble. While the latter concentrates on expounding theory without embarking on its application, Tallack and his Critical Theory group take three literary texts and show how different literary theories can be used in practice in the analysis of real texts. The three texts are In the Cage by Henry James, St. Mawr by D. H. Lawrence, and Heart of Darkness by Joseph Conrad. The branches of theory applied to them are Structuralism, Narrative Theory, and Character Theory, Psychoanalytic Theory, Feminism, Linguistics, and Reader Response Theory, Deconstruction, and Marxism. Characters in Fictional Worlds Jens Eder, Fotis Jannidis, Ralf Schneider, 2010. Although fictional characters have long dominated the reception of literature, films, television programs, comics, and other media products, only recently have they begun to attract their due attention in literary and media theory. The book systematically surveys today's diverse and at times conflicting theoretical perspectives on fictional character, spanning research on topics such as the differences between fictional characters and real persons, the ontological status of characters, the strategies of their representation and characterization, the psychology of their reception, as well as their specific forms and constellations in and across different media from the book to the internet. Subjectivity Willem van

Reijen, Willem G. Weststeijn, 2000 Subjectivity is one of the central issues of twentieth century philosophy literature and art Modernism which discovered the subconscious put an end to the belief in the Cartesian Subject as the autonomous centre of knowledge and self consciousness Instead the subject became something uncontrollable unreliable incomplete and fragmentary The attempts to recapture the unity of the subject led to the existential quest and the flight into ideology nazism communism Postmodernism the cultural movement of the second half of the twentieth century did not consider the subject any longer as an important category Attention was focused on the I and the Other on dialogism and polyphonism Bakhtin Ideology lost its appeal and so did the great stories Lyotard In this issue of Avant Garde Critical Studies the problem of subjectivity in twentieth century culture is discussed from various angles by specialists in the field of philosophy literature film music and dance
