Advanced Information Processing in Automatic Control (AIPAC'89) R. Husson, 2014-05-23 Information Processing is a key area of research and development and the symposium presented state of the art reports on some of the areas which are of relevance in automatic control: fault diagnosis and system reliability. Papers also covered the role of expert systems and other knowledge based systems which are needed to cope with the vast quantities of data generated by large scale systems. This volume should be considered essential reading for anyone involved in this rapidly developing area.

Automatic Control in Aerospace 1989 T. Nishimura, 2014-05-23 The papers presented at the Symposium covered the areas in aerospace technology where automatic control plays a vital role. Nonlinear Control Systems Design 1989 A. Isidori, 2014-05-23 In the last two decades the development of specific methodologies for the control of systems described by nonlinear mathematical models has attracted an ever increasing interest. New breakthroughs have occurred which have aided the design of nonlinear control systems. However there are still limitations which must be understood, some of which were addressed at the IFAC Symposium in Capri. The emphasis was on the methodological developments although a number of the papers were concerned with the presentation of applications of nonlinear design philosophies to actual control problems in chemical, electrical and mechanical engineering.

Adaptive Systems in Control and Signal Processing 1989 T.S. Durrani, D.H. Owens, M.A. Johnson, M.J. Grimble, 2014-06-28 The Symposium covered three major areas: adaptive control, identification and signal processing. In all three new developments were discussed covering both theoretical and applications research. Within the subject area of adaptive control the discussion centred around the challenges of robust control design to unmodelled dynamics, robust parameter estimation and enhanced performance from the estimator while the papers on identification took the theme of it being a bridge between adaptive control and signal processing The final area looked at two aspects of signal processing recursive estimation and adaptive filters

Control of Distributed Parameter Systems 1989 M. Amouroux,A. El Jai,2014-06-28 This volume presents state of the art reports on the theory and current and future applications of control of distributed parameter systems The papers cover the progress not only in traditional methodology and pure research in control theory but also the rapid growth of its importance for different applications This title will be of interest to researchers working in the areas of mathematics automatic control computer science and engineering
