Skin Deep How Race And Complexion Matter In The Colorblind Era:

Skin Deep Cedric Herring, 2004 Shattering the myth of the colorblind society this collection of essays is a revealing examination of the ways skin tone inequality operates in America Race, Gender, and the Politics of Skin Tone Margaret L. Hunter, 2013-05-13 Race Gender and the Politics of Skin Tone tackles the hidden yet painful issue of colorism in the African American and Mexican American communities Beginning with a historical discussion of slavery and colonization in the Americas the book quickly moves forward to a contemporary analysis of how skin tone continues to plague people of color today This is the first book to explore this well known yet rarely discussed phenomenon Color Struck Lori Latrice Martin, Hayward Derrick Horton, Cedric Herring, Verna Keith, Melvin Thomas, 2017 Skin color and skin tone has historically played a significant role in determining the life chances of African Americans and other people of color It has also been important to our understanding of race and the processes of racialization But what does the relationship between skin tone and stratification outcomes mean Is skin tone correlated with stratification outcomes because people with darker complexions experience more discrimination than those of the same race with lighter complexions Is skin tone differentiation a process that operates external to communities of color and is then imposed on people of color Or is skin tone discrimination an internally driven process that is actively aided and abetted by members of communities of color themselves Color Struck provides answers to these questions In addition it addresses issues such as the relationship between skin tone and wealth inequality anti black sentiment and whiteness Twitter culture marriage outcomes and attitudes gender racial identity civic engagement and politics at predominately White Institutions Color Struck can be used as required reading for courses on race ethnicity religious studies history political science education mass communications African and African American Studies social work and sociology Encyclopedia of Gender and Society Jodi O'Brien, 2009 Provides timely comparative analysis from internationally known contributors Shades of Difference Evelyn Nakano Glenn, 2009-01-23 Shades of Difference addresses the widespread but little studied phenomenon of colorism the preference for lighter skin and the ranking of individual worth according to skin tone Examining the social and cultural significance of skin color in a broad range of societies and historical periods this insightful collection looks at how skin color affects people's opportunities in Latin America Asia Africa and North America Is skin color bias distinct from racial bias How does skin color preference relate to gender given the association of lightness with desirability and beauty in women The authors of this volume explore these and other questions as they take a closer look at the role Western dominated culture and media have played in disseminating the ideal of light skin globally With its comparative international focus this enlightening book will provide innovative insights and expand the dialogue around race and gender in the social sciences ethnic studies African American studies and gender and women's studies Out of Bounds Lori Latrice Martin, 2014-04-17 This collection of essays highlights the controversies surrounding racism in sports and African American athletes examining the racial discrimination that exists in one of the most public arenas in the 21st century Despite increasing diversity in the American population race and racial bias continue to be significant issues in the United States Sports one of the most visible and important subsets of American culture directly reflect our society's beliefs about race This book examines racial controversy and conflict in various sports in the United States in both previous eras as well as the current Age of Obama The essays in the work explain how racial ideologies are created and recreated in all areas of public life including the world of sports The authors address a wide range of sports including ones where racial minorities are in the numerical minority such as hockey Specific topics covered include the devaluation of black athletes racism in Major League Baseball and the treatment of black female athletes Is Lighter

Better? Joanne L. Rondilla, Paul Spickard, 2007-02-23 Colorism is defined as discriminatory treatment of individuals falling within the same racial group on the basis of skin color In other words some people particularly women are treated better or worse on account of the color of their skin relative to other people who share their same racial category Colorism affects Asian Americans from many different backgrounds and who live in different parts of the United States Is Lighter Better discusses this often overlooked topic Joanne L Rondilla and Paul Spickard ask important questions such as What are the colorism issues that operate in Asian American communities Are they the same issues for all Asian Americans for women and for men for immigrants and the American born for Chinese Filipinos Koreans Vietnamese and other Asian Americans Do they reflect a desire to look like White people or is some other motive at work Including numerous stories about and by people who have faced discrimination in their own lives this book is an invaluable resource for people interested in colorism among Asian Americans Pay to Play Lori Latrice Martin, Kenneth J. Fasching-Varner Ph.D., Nicholas D. Hartlep Ph.D., 2017-03-20

This book advances the debate about paying student athletes in big time college sports by directly addressing the red hot role of race in college sports It concludes by suggesting a remedy to positively transform college sports Top tier college sports are extremely profitable Despite the billions of dollars involved in the amateur sports industrial complex none winds up in the hands of the athletes The controversies surrounding whether colleges and universities should pay athletes to compete on these educational institutions behalf is longstanding and coincides with the rise of the black athlete at predominately white colleges and universities Pay to Play Race and the Perils of the College Sports Industrial Complex takes a hard look at historical and contemporary efforts to control sports participation and compensation for black athletes in amateur sports in general and in big time college sports programs in particular The book begins with background on the history of amateur athletics in America including the forced separation of black and white athletes Subsequent sections examine subjects such as the integration of college sports and the use of black athletes to sell everything from fast food to shoes and argue that college athletes must receive adequate compensation for their labor The book concludes by discussing recent efforts by college athletes to unionize and control their likenesses presenting a provocative remedy for transforming big time college sport as we know it The Power of Looks Bonnie Berry, 2016-02-24 There is a saying that beauty is in the eye of the beholder implying that beauty is subjective But can it be said that better looking people have more social power This book provides a fascinating insight into the social stratification of people based on looks the artificial placement of people into greater and lesser power strata based on physical appearance The author analyzes different aspects of physical appearance such as faces breasts eye shapes height and weight as they are related to social power and inequality For example tall people are often associated with power with tall people being seen publicly as more capable and thus more deserving of power than shorter people The author moreover assesses how people s physical appearance affects their chances of marriage employment education and other social and economic opportunities The book contributes to and differentiates itself from current literature by emphasizing sociological theory including constructionism and critical theory and research to understand the phenomenon of social aesthetics a term coined by the author to refer to the social reaction to physical appearance

Color Matters Kimberly Jade Norwood, 2013-12-17 In the United States as in many parts of the world people are discriminated against based on the color of their skin This type of skin tone bias or colorism is both related to and distinct from discrimination on the basis of race with which it is often conflated Preferential treatment of lighter skin tones over darker occurs within racial and ethnic groups as well as between them While America has made progress in issues of race over the past decades discrimination on the basis of color continues to be a constant and often unremarked part of life In Color Matters Kimberly Jade Norwood has collected the most up to date research on this insidious form of discrimination including perspectives from the disciplines of history law sociology and psychology Anchored with historical chapters that show how the influence and legacy of slavery have shaped the treatment of skin color in American society the contributors to this volume bring to light the ways in which colorism affects us all influencing what we wear who we see on television and even which child we might pick to adopt Sure to be an eye opening collection for anyone curious about how race and color continue to affect society Color Matters provides students of race in America with wide ranging overview of a crucial topic
