Snow Must Return:

The Snow Must Return Denise Robins, 2014-09-11 The Chateau de Lurmines is a glorious new home for Dana Chesney a pretty young convalescent who might never leave her wheelchair For Steve it provides a luxurious background to her taxing job as Dana's companion while prolonging her own stay in Switzerland For Greville Chesney the presence of his daughter and her quiet friend in its flower filled rooms helps fill an aching void But an heiress and in such a setting is an irresistible attraction to any footloose adventurer who could charm her with his good looks and while away the tedious hours with dreams of romance

Love and the Fighting Female Allison P. Palumbo, 2020-07-16 The fighting female archetype a self-reliant woman of great physical prowess has become increasingly common in action films and on television However the progressive female identities of these narratives cannot always resist the persistent and problematic framing of male-female relationships as a battle of the sexes or other source of antagonism Combining cultural analysis with close readings of key popular American film and television texts since the 1980s this study argues that certain fighting female themes question regressive conventions in male-female relationships Those themes reveal potentially progressive ideologies regarding female agency in mass culture that reassure audiences of the desirability of empowered women while also imagining egalitarian intimacies that further empower women Overall the fighting female narratives addressed here afford contradictory viewing pleasures that reveal both new expectations for and remaining anxieties about the strong independent woman ideal that emerged in American popular culture post-feminism

Science Fiction and Posthumanism in the Anthropocene Jonathan Hay, 2024-12-26 With science-fiction stories imagining futures and worlds vastly different from our own and posthuman philosophies radically reconceptualising our species' place within our own world this book is a deep dive into the similarities between science-fiction studies and critical posthumanism and how they can be read together Both fields fantasise about future technologies envisage alienness through conversation with everyday life and both anticipate the Anthropocene as a dire source of rupture from the present Drawing inspiration from these and other consonances this book establishes a common theoretical ground between the two fields upon which the two currents of future-oriented thought can meet and begin to share a common language An investigation that draws critical currency from the everyday condition of our species in relation to technology and our perilous situation in the Anthropocene the book observes posthumanism not just as a theoretical framework that may be applied to science-fictional ideas but also as an integral part of how it is that science-fiction is generated Featuring case studies of the work of prominent authors Isaac Asimov Ursula K. Le Guin and Kim Stanley Robinson alongside the BBC television series Doctor Who and the cult videogame Outer Wilds Science Fiction and Posthumanism in the Anthropocene formulates a new critical paradigm which recognises the value of such works to posthumanist thought Addressing those with an interest in either academic discipline it demonstrates that urgent discourses around our shared future are more imperative now than ever before

The Snow Must Return. [read by Elizabeth

Henry]. Denise Robins,1999 Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell Hamilton,2011-08-15 In all of journalism nowhere are the stakes higher than in foreign news gathering For media owners it is the most difficult type of reporting to finance for editors the hardest to oversee Correspondents roaming large swaths of the planet must acquire expertise that home based reporters take for granted facility with the local language for instance or an understanding of local cultures Adding further to the challenges they must put news of the world in context for an audience with little experience and often limited interest in foreign affairs a task made all the more daunting because of the consequence to national security In Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell Hamilton a historian and former foreign correspondent provides a sweeping and definitive history of American foreign news reporting from its inception to the present day and chronicles the economic and technological advances that have influenced overseas coverage as well as the cavalcade of colorful personalities who shaped readers perceptions of the world across two centuries From the colonial era when newspaper printers hustled down to wharfs to collect mail and periodicals from incoming ships to the ongoing multimedia press coverage of the Iraq War Hamilton explores journalism's constant and not always successful efforts at dishing the foreign news as James Gordon Bennett put it in the mid nineteenth century to describe his approach in the New York Herald He details the highly partisan coverage of the French Revolution the early emergence of special correspondents and the challenges of organizing their efforts the profound impact of the non yellow press in the run up to the Spanish American War the increasingly sophisticated machinery of propaganda and censorship that surfaced during World War I and the golden age of foreign correspondence during the interwar period when outlets for foreign news swelled and a large number of experienced independent journalists circled the globe From the Nazis intimidation of reporters to the ways in which American popular opinion shaped coverage of Communist revolution and the Vietnam War Hamilton covers every aspect of delivering foreign news to American doorsteps Along the way Hamilton singles out a fascinating cast of characters among them Victor Lawson the overlooked proprietor of the Chicago Daily News who pioneered the concept of a foreign news service geared to American interests Henry Morton Stanley one of the first reporters to generate news on his own with his 1871 expedition to East Africa to find Livingstone and Jack Belden a forgotten brooding figure who exemplified the best in combat reporting Hamilton details the experiences of correspondents editors owners publishers and network executives as well as the political leaders who made the news and the technicians who invented ways to transmit it Their stories bring the narrative to life in arresting detail and make this an indispensable book for anyone wanting to understand the evolution of foreign news gathering Amid the steep drop in the number of correspondents stationed abroad and the recent decline of the newspaper industry many fear that foreign reporting will soon no longer exist But as Hamilton shows in this magisterial work traditional correspondence survives alongside a new type of reporting Journalism's Roving Eye offers a keen understanding of the vicissitudes in foreign news an understanding imperative to better seeing what lies ahead Munsey's Magazine ,1907 Hot Metal S. I. Soper,2019-09-03 After spending an unknown number of days caged chained and tortured in the darkness of a root cellar by men wearing hoods who insist he robbed a bank and killed several women twenty five year old Ben Hawthorne is rescued by four men But who are these men and why were they looking for him the son of Eli and Cora Hawthorne born on a ranch outside of Nacogdoches Texas orphaned at ten when his parents were killed by Comanches and then taken by the Comanches who gave him his Indian name Newcomer When he learns that his rescuers are in fact bounty hunters who believe he is the son of a rancher named Locklin he doesn't understand Matters become even more puzzling when he is taken to the home of Locklin and the big time rancher recognizes him as his missing son of five years Seth Things continue to confuse Ben when he is shown a picture of Seth and it is like looking in a mirror Hawthorne knows who he is but everyone he meets believes he is Seth including Seth's sister and Caitlan Black the spitfire who was Seth's childhood friend who is ready to go to war with Arch Locklin over access to water
