Stakeholders In Rural Development Critical Collaboration In State Ngo Partnerships:

Stakeholders in Rural Development John M. Riley, 2002 With its novel and practical approach to an issue of increasing importance in development John Riley describes and elaborates on a form of collaborative effort between governments and voluntary agencies which appear to be working in practice in what he calls critical collaboration performance of ngos with reference to women empowerment Dr J Saritha, Journal of Rural Development, 2005 Forests People and Power Oliver Springate-Baginski, Piers Blaikie, 2013-06-17 With tens of millions of hectares and hundreds of millions of lives in the balance the debate over who should control South Asia's forests is of tremendous political significance This book provides an insightful and thorough assessment of important forest management transitions currently underway MARK POFFENBERGER EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF COMMUNITY FORESTRY INTERNATIONAL The contributions in this volume not only breathe life into the field of writing and analysis related to forests they do so on the strength of extraordinarily insightful research Kudos to Springate Baginski and Blaikie for providing us with a set of thoroughly researched provocative studies that should be required reading not only for those interested in community forestry in south Asia but in resource governance anywhere ARUN AGRAWAL ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF NATURAL RESOURCES it challenges our assumptions of the benefits of participatory forest management and the role of forestry in poverty reduction It should be of interest to policy makers and to all those who have been involved with the struggle of transforming forestry over the decades DR MARY HOBLEY HOBLEY SHIELDS ASSOCIATES NATURAL RESOURCE MANAGEMENT AND PLANNING CONSULTANCY A rare combination of extensive field study social science insights and policy studies will be of immense value DR N C SAXENA MEMBER OF NATIONAL ADVISORY COUNCIL GOVERNMENT OF INDIA In recent decades participatory approaches to forest management have been introduced around the world This book assesses their implementation in the highly politicized environments of India and Nepal The authors critically examine the policy implementation processes and causal factors affecting livelihood impacts Considering narratives and field practice with data from over 60 study villages and over 1000 household interviews the book demonstrates why particular field outcomes have occurred and why policy reform often proves so difficult Research findings on which the book is based are already influencing policy in India and Nepal and the research and analysis have great relevance to forestry management in a wide range of countries Published with DFID Civil Society and Democratization in India Sarbeswar Sahoo, 2013-04-26 Developing a distinctive theoretical framework on civil society this book examines how Non Governmental Organizations NGOs contribute towards democratization in India and what conditions facilitate or inhibit their contribution It assesses three different kinds of politics within civil society liberal pluralist neo Marxist and communitarian which have had different implications in relation to democratization By making use of in depth empirical analysis and comparative case studies of three developmental NGOs that work among the tribal communities in the socio historical context of south Rajasthan the book shows that civil society is not necessarily a democratizing force but that it can have contradictory consequences in relation to democratization. It discusses how the democratic effect of civil society is not a result of the stock of social capital in the community but is contingent upon the kinds of ideologies and interests that are present or ascendant not just within the institutions of civil society but also within the state. The book delivers new insights on NGOs, democratization, civil society, the state, political society, tribal politics, politics of Hindu Nationalism, international development aid, and grassroots social movements in India. It enables readers to understand better the multifaceted nature of civil society, its relationship with the state, and its implications for development and democratization.

Voluntary Sector and Rural Development Rajeeb Misra, 2008. This book systematically analyzes the theoretical background of non-governmental organizations (NGOs) based on contemporary thoughts on the subject. The book covers the concepts of development and rural development and devotes adequate space to the strategies adopted to rural development in India, including an analysis of the themes of various rural development programs under India's First to Tenth Five Year Plans. The findings contain many significant observations on the functioning of NGOs. The book constitutes the author's seminal contribution in studying the strategy for poverty removal and rural development. The idea contained here is not only fresh but in all appearances pragmatic as well. It points to the role of three forces in the civil society: authority, voluntarism, and profit. It asserts that programs designed to work in a social system without integrating the above three forces will not succeed fully. The book also charts out a strategy for adoption by program implementation agencies.

Empowering Asian Youth through Volunteering Elaine Suk Ching Liu, 2019-09-09. This book describes the origin, development, and current state of volunteerism in Asia and Hong Kong. It also presents a field-tested model of empowering through volunteerism, namely the CYEP at City University, that involves youth, governmental, and non-governmental agencies and their clients in a rapidly changing society. Volunteerism is then described as a win-win situation for all stakeholders/actors. Volunteerism converges the needs, the struggles, the personal motives, and the aspirations of the volunteers together with the dreams and the difficulties of the clients, the expertise of the professionals, and the lack of resources of the agencies, the new values emerging in society, the effects of globalization, and the new policies. This book presents actual Asian case examples with the voices of the people involved: on the CYEP, volunteers, officers, service recipients, who explain how volunteering changed their lives, their values, their attitudes toward social, civic, and political participation, their ethics, and sense of individual responsibility. These stories from the frontlines can be adopted and/or adopted for use by other institutions, but it is also the chance for understanding the emergence of volunteering in Asia overall and its future direction.

Economic and Political Weekly, 2003. The World Summit on Sustainable Development L. Hens, Bhaskar Nath, 2005-11-17. This book provides an overview of the most important issues as they are dealt with in the Johannesburg World Summit on Sustainable Development's Plan of Implementation. It addresses the science behind the discussions on poverty, production, and consumption patterns, water, energy, Small Island Developing States, sustainability, issues in Central Eastern Europe and Latin America and the role of the financial world in the sustainable development of education science and research New Governance Paradigm Thodupuzha M. Joseph, 2008 Globalization is one of the most debated concepts in contemporary discussions in the domain of development The emerging paradigm of governance in the area of globalization reframes the roles of institutions of state market and civil society This involves questioning of the erstwhile dominant role of other institutions Weakening and erosion of major modern institutions of governance such as legislature bureaucracy and judiciary in third world reflects the growing governance crisis Social tension and conflicts based on identity are on rise This has significant implications on issues such as social equity justice and environment that affect the life of people especially the third world poor This collection addresses some pertinent issues that emanate from the emerging paradigm of governance The major areas of concern are globalization civil society gender social services and infrastructure This documentation will help carry forward creation of knowledge and formulation of strategies in the field of rural management to meet the future challenge of rural development Local Governance in India Thodupuzha M. Joseph, 2007 Papers presented at the National Workshop on Decentralised Democracy and Planning held at Newman College Thodupuzha on Dec 19 2003 Journal of Forest and Livelihood , 2001 Proceedings of the 2nd International Conference on Administrative Science (ICAS 2024) Ahmad Yani Andi, Ismail Nuralamsyah, 2025-08-04 This is an open access book The 2nd International Conference on Administrative Science ICAS 2024 is a joint conference as collaborative effort between Department of Administrative Science Hasanuddin University and Faculty of Administrative Science and Policy Studies Universiti Teknologi MARA Malaysia and Indonesian Association for Public Administration IAPA South and West Sulawesi Chapter This Joint Conference aims to explore the complex landscape of Maritime Governance and Sustainable Development in the frame public administration discourse under the comprehensive theme Bridging Waves of Change The significance of this conference lies in its ability to bring together various stakeholders including academics practitioners and influential leaders to collectively address various issues surrounding Maritime Governance and Sustainable Development By delving into topics such as climate change adaptation disaster resilience and effective public policy frameworks ICAS 2024 strives to drive impactful change and promote sustainable practices in these crucial areas Public Performance & Management Review , 2005 Religion and Gender in the Developing World Tamsin Bradley, 2010-12-07 Faith based development organizations have become a central part of the lives of the women of rural Rajasthan and have come to represent an important aspect of both individual and collective identities And yet religious teachings continue to be used to exclude women from public decision making forums and render them vulnerable to increasing levels of domestic violence In a unique multi disciplinary approach combining a range of subjects Tamsin Bradley provides a unique study of the role of development organizations and faith organizations in the lives of women in rural Rajasthan Faith and religion emerge as being able to afford a space within which women are able to interact with one another and create an identity for themselves However faith proves not just to be a positive sphere in which women are able to assert themselves Its ambiguity becomes clear as the author explains that religious women often find their visions of social justice and equality marginalised by the dominance of male leadership Nevertheless Bradley also look at how religious women challenge male dominance drawing on their beliefs and practices in creative and innovative ways Thus a complex picture emerges and including insights from gender studies and anthropology Bradley argues that religion can both empower and disempower local communities and the women who live within them By analysing development through the prism of gender studies Bradley highlights the complex nature of power relationships that are at the very heart of development agendas and organizations and offers an invaluable contribution to the understanding of the nexus of varied disciplines in the analysis of women and religion in Rajasthan This book will be of interest to students reseachers and policy makers involved in various fields including those of Development Studies Religion Gender Studies and Social Anthropology Economy and Society of North Bengal Pankaj Kumar Debnath,Subhasis Bhattacharjee,2008 Papers presented at a seminar held in 2004 at Koch Bihar India articles with reference to the northern part of West Bengal India The Indian Journal of Public Administration ,2002 Democratic Political Process ,2009 In Indian context Social Action ,2002 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2002
