paranormal fiction Shifters and gypsies hate each other but they hate vampires more If they can't set their differences aside and forge a new alliance they've signed their own death warrants And if magic dies out of the world humans won't be far behind

Tarnished Beginnings Tairin Jabari was born in a caravan and has always believed she's Romani Why wouldn't she Her mother and father never suggested otherwise The Rom have harsh rules When Tairin's first shift catches her unaware at thirteen her father disappears and the elders move with deadly speed to punish her mother for mating outside the blood

Tarnished Legacy Half Romani Tairin's no stranger to hiding her mixed blood from gypsy caravans What she can't hide is her perpetual youth courtesy of her shifter heritage Every few years she drops out of sight resurfacing in a new country to join a caravan where no one knows her She's overstayed her welcome where she is but Germany is at war and travel has become all but impossible for everyone targeted by the Reich

Tarnished Prophecy Magic runs strong in Ilona a gypsy seer Powerful ability isn't valued in Romani women so she focuses her fortunetelling on inconsequential details Nothing that could come back to haunt her caravan if a prediction went bad Rounded up and dumped in Dachau prison camp she has plenty of time to rue her decision to downplay her ability If she'd taken the time to scry her own future she'd still be free

Tarnished Journey Long before Germany targeted the Romani people and sent them to prison camps the Netherlands declared them undesirables Yara's caravan disbanded when she was fifteen to avoid being driven out of the country Ten years have passed and she's been alone for most of that time hiding in caves and abandoned buildings It's been a lonely life but at least she still has one

The Coffin of Hegata Harco Willems, 1996

The coffin published in this book represents a type that had some popularity in southern Upper Egypt in the early Middle Kingdom but which despite its extraordinary decoration had not attracted attention so far The most striking feature of the decoration is that the object friezes the pictorial rendering of ritual implements usually found on coffin interiors of the period also include complete ritual scenes some of which are attested only here Apart from this the decoration includes an extensive selection of the religious texts know as the Coffin Texts The author first studies the archaeological context and dating of the coffin and attempts a reconstruction of the construction procedures from his technical description of the monument The detailed account of the decoration in the rest of the book interprets the ritual iconography and offers fresh translations and interpretations of the Coffin Texts A methodological innovation is that he regards the scenes and texts not as individual decoration elements but as components of an integral composition The background of this composition is argued to be a view of life in the hereafter in which the deceased is involved in an unending cycle of ritual action which reflects the funerary rituals that were actually performed on earth On the one hand these netherworldly rituals aim at bringing the deceased to new life by mummification on the other the newly regenerated deceased partakes in embalming rituals for gods representing his dead father Osiris or Atum These gods in their turn effectuate the deceased's regeneration The entire process results in a cycle of resuscitation in which the afterlife of the deceased and of the father gods are interdependent The sociological bias of this interpretation with its emphasis on kinship relations differs significantly from earlier attempts to explain Egyptian funerary religion
