Standards and Assessment for Academic Libraries William Neal Nelson, Robert W. Fernekes, 2002 The authors incorporate academic librarianship goals and evaluation into an outcomes assessment model based in part on the ACRL College Library Standards Topics such as planning assessment charts the library's contribution to institutional goals and communication are described Streamlining Library Services Richard M. Dougherty, 2008-02-15 Despite technologies many basic library activities still lend themselves to analysis and improvement Author Richard Dougherty provides numerous examples and easy to apply tools and techniques that can be used to analyze what libraries are doing how they are doing it and how much time is required to do it These tools include block diagrams check sheets flow process charts work flow diagrams flow charts through put analysis self administered diary studies and work sampling techniques Specific examples from all areas of library operations are presented to illustrate how techniques can be applied to analyze what occurs at critical service areas Streamlining Library Services provides detailed information on how to diagnose problem areas using such tools as Pareto and fishbone charts use techniques such as brainstorming and focus groups organize a work flow study and build and present cost studies Special emphasis is placed on activities that should occur after the analysis is concluded including data analysis as well as reporting study results and making recommendations to management and guidelines are provided for managers and staff as they strive to streamline activities The final two chapters should be of special interest to managers The first chapter is devoted to implementation issues and strategies that must be addressed as new workflows and services are introduced and the latter chapter focuses on organizational change issues and strategies for building staff support toward change College & Research Libraries News, 2002 American Book Publishing Record, 2006

The New Instruction Librarian Candice Benjes-Small, Rebecca K. Miller, 2016-11-16 The sheer amount of resources on the subject of information literacy is staggering Yet a comprehensive but concise roadmap specifically for librarians who are new to instruction or who are charged with training someone who is has remained elusive Until now This book cuts through the jargon and rhetoric to ease the transition into library instruction offering support to all those involved including library supervisors colleagues and trainees Grounded in research on teaching and learning from numerous disciplines not just library literature this book shows how to set up new instruction librarians for success with advice on completing an environmental scan strategies for recruiting efficiently and a training checklist walks readers step by step through training a new hire or someone new to instruction complete with hands on activities and examples explores the different roles an instruction librarian is usually expected to play such as educator project manager instructional designer and teaching partner demonstrates the importance of performance evaluation and management including assessment and continuing education both formal and informal and provides guided reading lists for further in depth study of a topic A starter kit for librarians new to instruction this resource will be useful for training coordinators as well as for self training Resources in Education ,1998 After the Book George Stachokas,2014-09-04 Libraries and librarians have been defined by the book throughout modern history What happens when society increasingly lets print go in favour of storing retrieving and manipulating electronic information What happens after the book After the Book explores how the academic library of the 21st Century is first and foremost a provider of electronic information services Contemporary users expect today s library to provide information as quickly and efficiently as other online information resources The book argues that librarians need to change what they know how they work and how they are perceived in order to succeed according to the terms of this new paradigm This title is structured into eight chapters An introduction defines the challenge of electronic resources and makes the case for finding solutions and following chapters cover diversions and half measures and the problem for libraries in the 21st century Later chapters discuss solving problems through professional identity and preparation before final chapters cover reorganizing libraries to serve users adapting to scarcity and the digital divide Describes how electronic resources constitute both a challenge and an opportunity for libraries Argues that librarians can re define themselves Puts the case that libraries can be reorganized to optimize electronic resource management and information services based on contemporary technology and user needs Library Programming Made Easy Michelle Demeter,Haley K. Holmes,2019-04-30 Libraries are always looking for new ways to engage with their patrons and well planned programming is one way to accomplish this goal Library programming accomplishes this Successful programming can be found in offering a variety of events focusing activities on specific constituents and providing meaningful library experiences It can also be seen in advertising social media and the careful planning and execution of programs that ensure high quality engagement and participation This book provides in depth practical advice and examples of public and academic library programming activities Included in this volume are methods for identifying target audiences activities and ways to find and generate even more ideas tools for assessment and budgeting and tips on planning programs from inception to execution Chapters include Making a Case for ProgrammingDiscovering the Best Programs for Your LibraryFinding Programming PartnersFunding and BudgetingGetting Organized and Executing ProgramsAdvertising Your Programs for SuccessPublic and Academic Library ProgrammingAssessment and Evaluation Libraries use programming to build and maintain strong partnerships and collaborative opportunities that actively engage their users In addition to these community building measures programming can provide assessment tools that help inform future decision making within the library environment while also assuring quality events and activities Use this book to attract new patrons highlight library services and resources and showcase the overall quality and value of your library What's Past is Prologue Beth R. Dudden,2007 This work provides easy to follow advice for using the latest management tools Evaluation tools are an essential part of improving service and proving the library s value Assessing for Learning Peggy L. Maki,2023-07-03 While there is consensus that institutions need to represent their educational effectiveness through documentation of student learning the higher education community is divided between those who support national standardized tests to compare institutions educational effectiveness and those who believe that valid assessment of student achievement is based on assessing the work that students produce along and at the end of their educational journeys This book espouses the latter philosophy what Peggy Maki sees as an integrated and authentic approach to providing evidence of student learning based on the work that students produce along the chronology of their learning She believes that assessment needs to be humanized as opposed to standardized to take into account the demographics of institutions as students do not all start at the same place in their learning Students also need the tools to assess their own progress In addition to updating and expanding the contents of her first edition to reflect changes in assessment practices and developments over the last seven years such as the development of technology enabled assessment methods and the national need for institutions to demonstrate that they are using results to improve student learning Maki focuses on ways to deepen program and institution level assessment within the context of collective inquiry about student learning Recognizing that assessment is not initially a linear start up process or even necessarily sequential and recognizing that institutions develop processes appropriate for their mission and culture this book does not take a prescriptive or formulaic approach to building this commitment What it does present is a framework with examples of processes and strategies to assist faculty staff administrators and campus leaders to develop a sustainable and shared core institutional process that deepens inquiry into what and how students learn to identify and improve patterns of weakness that inhibit learning This book is designed to assist colleges and universities build a sustainable commitment to assessing student learning at both the institution and program levels It provides the tools for collective inquiry among faculty staff administrators and students to develop evidence of students abilities to integrate apply and transfer learning as well as to construct their own meaning Each chapter also concludes with 1 an Additional Resources section that includes references to meta sites with further resources so users can pursue particular issues in greater depth and detail and 2 worksheets guides and exercises designed to build collaborative ownership of assessment The second edition now covers Strategies to connect students to an institution s or a program s assessment commitment Description of the components of a comprehensive institutional commitment that engages the institution educators and students all as learners Expanded coverage of direct and indirect assessment methods including technology enabled methods that engage students in the process New case studies and campus examples covering undergraduate graduate education and the co curriculum New chapter with case studies that presents a framework for a backward designed problem based assessment process anchored in answering open ended research or study questions that lead to improving pedagogy and educational practices Integration of developments across professional scholarly and accrediting bodies and disciplinary organizations Descriptions and illustrations of assessment management systems Additional examples exercises guides and worksheets that align with new content
