Breadfruit Or Chestnut? Bonnie Thomas, 2006-01-01 Breadfruit or Chestnut examines gender construction comparatively across the fiction of contemporary writers of Guadeloupe and Martinique In particular it explores the construction of gender identity by six authors three male and three female who have never been brought together in a study of this issue Rather than following the trend of studying theory and cultural identity in the central male writers and of studying women's writing in the works of the female writers Thomas expertly blurs these traditional boundaries in order to present an unexplored aspect of identity In addition to illuminating women's conception of gender this work examines the male equivalent and how each gender observes and perceives the other Breadfruit or Chestnut not only contextualizes the primary literature but also draws on contemporary theoretical debates surrounding feminism subjectivity and postcolonialism The combination of literary and historical tools of analysis allows for a deeper probing into gender relations in the French Caribbean

Creole Economics Katherine E. Browne,2010-01-01 What do the trickster Rabbit slave descendants off the books economies and French citizens have to do with each other Plenty says Katherine Browne in her anthropological investigation of the informal economy in the Caribbean island of Martinique She begins with a question Why after more than three hundred years as colonial subjects of France did the residents of Martinique opt in 1946 to integrate fully with France the very nation that had enslaved their ancestors The author suggests that the choice to decline sovereignty reflects the same clear headed opportunism that defines successful crafty and illicit entrepreneurs who work off the books in Martinique today Browne draws on a decade of ethnographic fieldwork and interview data from all socioeconomic sectors to question the common understanding of informal economies as culture free survival strategies of the poor Anchoring her own insights to longer historical and literary views the author shows how adaptations of cunning have been reinforced since the days of plantation slavery These adaptations occur not in spite of French economic and political control but rather because of it Powered by the essential tensions of maintaining French and Creole identities the practice of creole economics provides both assertion of and refuge from the difficulties of being dark skinned and French This powerful ethnographic study shows how local economic meanings and plural identities help explain work off the books Like creole language and music creole economics expresses an irreducibly complex blend of historical contemporary and cultural influences

Surviving Revolution

Denise Z. Davidson, 2025-10-15 Surviving Revolution explores how two wealthy and well connected families with roots in Lyon responded to the French Revolution and the resulting transformations In building a new political system based on liberty equality and fraternity the French Revolution encouraged both individuals and families to recognize their power to shape the world through political action rethink their strategies in negotiating intimate relations and family life and assess both terrifying new risks and enticing opportunities for advancement Denise Z Davidson traces two families trajectories and weaves together the strategies they employed to survive and hopefully thrive in the decades that followed the Revolution Their private correspondence shows that affect and interest intimacy and property are mutually constitutive and cannot be thought separately Her analysis reveals what it meant to be bourgeois how gender played a role in the formation of class identities and how family and emotional life overlapped with other arenas These social and cultural themes are woven into the narrative through the stories told in the families letters By viewing dramatic historical events through the eyes of people who lived through them Surviving Revolution illuminates how the practices of everyday life shaped emerging notions of bourgeois identity
