s mother Matilda was a kind and smart woman who always kept a close eye on her rowdy calf Max Milo s dad was a strong protective figure who looked out for the well being of the whole group Even though they were safe and happy with their group Milo was very interested in what was going on He wanted to know everything about the world outside of where he lived He was drawn to go into the unknown by the stories the wind told and the sounds of other animals in the distance Milo was driving on a strange road one day when the sun made everything look golden It was huge and twisting like a huge snake had gone through the ground Milo s eyes got bigger as he looked at the strange road in front of him The long deep footprints in the dirt looked like the path of a huge snake As the giant got closer to the cave its heart raced with a mix of excitement and worry Who or what could have left such a big mark that is easy to spot Milo stood at the side of the trail and looked at the tracks that went off into the distance When he saw the marks which were much bigger than any he had ever seen before he was both amazed and scared He knew right away that this wasn t just any animal They could only have been made by something so big and strong that it could leave such big marks Milo s eyes got big when he saw a huge snake with shiny scales come out of the darkness It was twice as big as the rest of Milo s herd It had sharp teeth and eyes that looked like they were on fire When he saw it the mammoth had no question that it was a huge snake from the past that had been told about Milo s heart was racing with fear but he kept his cool during the whole thing He was well aware of how important it was to protect his sheep from this terrible beast Milo blew a horn that could be heard throughout the countryside to call his herd together and tell them to get ready for battle The sound of the trumpet could be heard all over the country Milo s horn made an amazing sound that could be heard all over the prehistoric landscape This made Milo s herd move quickly The mammoths came out of the forests and grasslands one by one their huge bodies coming together to make a single front They knew that Milo s call gave them a limited amount of time and that there was danger ahead Milo was surrounded by the herd which made a barrier to protect him by raising their tusks high and standing up straight Their cries matched the determination in their eyes and rang out with a mix of boldness and unity They were ready to fight the prehistoric big serpent to protect their ecosystem and the people they cared about from the huge danger it posed Milo moved forward his eyes fixed on the huge animal that stood in front of them in the huge gap Fear and energy were pumping through his body making his heartbeat fast and hard in his chest He knew that the fight that was coming would test their bravery and resolve but he was determined to keep his herd safe no matter what The huge prehistoric snake slithered forward Its moves were graceful but their power was scary Its scales shone in the sun which showed how bad the situation was Milo s spine tingled when he saw the creature s fiery red eyes and sharp teeth but he kept his cool and drew strength from his herd s steady support The mammoths rushed forward with a loud roar shaking the ground fiercely as their huge bodies moved forward They blew huge horns and lifted their trunks into the air to make a rallying call that could be heard all over the countryside It showed that they were sure they wanted to keep their family and home safe During the fight the old great serpent moved incredibly fast Its sharp teeth stuck out in front of it ready to tear the thick hides of the mammoths. The group on the other hand stood their ground and relied on their size and strength to win. Their huge tusks turned into dangerous weapons which helped them fight off the snake's attack. Milo went to fight against the huge snake sure that he would win. The battlefield was filled with the sound of his tusks hitting the snake's teeth. The mammoth's huge size and overwhelming strength met the snake's attack and each blow showed the mammoth's determination and unwavering will to win. Over time the fight turned into a dance of strength and strategy. The mammoths fought bravely and in unison and their movements made it impossible for the enemies to get through. They charged, blew horns and hit not flinching in the face of the huge snake's relentless attack. On the other hand the snake turned out to be a very scary enemy because it was smart and quick. It curled up and moved slowly before hitting with great accuracy and speed. The mammoths knew that their opponent was much stronger than them but they still wouldn't give up. They fought hard and didn't give up. Their friendship as herders gave them the strength to keep going when things got hard. As the most important part of the battle got closer, Milo's drive grew stronger. He ran forward with all his heart aiming his tusks at the weak spot in the snake's middle. When he struck the prehistoric giant snake, he yelled in pain and anger. Milo's huge blow slowed the snake down and made it back away. When the chance came, the other mammoths got together and attacked the huge creature in an organized way. As they swung their trunks and hit their tusks against each other, the earth shook from the weight of their fight. The prehistoric giant snake fought with a fierceness that came from nature but the mammoths fought just as hard and were just as determined to win. Milo took the lead and moved forward because he wanted to protect his group. He tried to break down the snake's defenses with each hit of his big tusks. As he hit him with punch after punch, the ground started to shake. Every step he took showed how strong his desire was. On the other hand, the huge snake from ancient times was a dangerous foe. It responded by twisting and swirling its body in a beautiful dance of speed and strength. Its sharp teeth barely got through the thick hides of the mammoths but the fact that they did shows how deadly it was. As the war seemed to last for days, the sun and the moon took turns watching the epic fight. Every second that went by, the huge prehistoric snake got weaker and its hits which were once very powerful became less so. The mammoths stayed strong and didn't give up because they loved their surroundings and each other. Milo used all of the strength he still had to finally hit the snake hard. On the battlefield, people were determined and never gave up. The mammoths fought nonstop and because they were so big and had strong wills, they were a terrible opponent for the huge ancient snake. They were sure that they would protect not only their country but also each other. As the fight went on, the prehistoric huge snake which had been strong and dangerous started to show signs of weariness. Its blows were not as strong or accurate as they used to be. As the snake moved more slowly and slowly, its sharp teeth started to lose their deadly edge. As soon as the mammoths learned they were in charge, they moved faster. Milo, the strong head of the herd, woke them up with a loud trumpet call. The scream resounded all around us like a trumpet call, strong and sure. It served as a rallying cry, getting his friends fired up and pushing them to keep going and win Nature Readers Julia McNair Wright,1896
