Social Class and Mental Illness August de Belmont Hollingshead, 1958 Social Class and Mental Illness August B. Hollingshead, Fredrick C. Redlich, 1967 Social class and mental illness August de Belmont Hollingshead, Fredrick Carl Redlich, 1958 Sociocultural Roots of Mental Illness J. Schwab, 2013-03-09 For the past decade and more American psychiatry has been at sea on the adventurous if uncontrolled odyssey of community psychiatry The voyage has often coursed through uncharted oceans and for many the purpose and destination of the journey have been obscure Even among those whose sights are clearer there is growing concern that the ship will be becalmed by inadequate funding or run aground on the shoals of bureaucratic anarchy For all of these voyagers this volume should come as a welcome compass The authors review of their subject is encyclopedic They have not only traced the origins of modern concepts and studies back to their historical roots but have drawn their material widely from the work of investigators throughout the world to illustrate current trends and problems The novice will find their discussion of epidemiology a clearly written and useful introduction to one of the scientific foundations of social psychiatry and novice and expert alike can profit from their thoughtful and critical assessment of basic terms and concepts including illuminating chapters on stress genetics psychophysiologic disorders and cultural psychiatry The volume ends on a personal note as the authors present their views of the current state of social psychiatry and suggest ways in which its theoretical structure might be strengthened Too often the plight of the individual is overlooked in the concern with impersonal numbers and surveys that preoccupy epidemiologists and social scientists

Concepts of Community Psychiatry National Institute of Mental Health (U.S.), 1965 New Research on Social Perception John A. Zebrowski, 2007 The contemporary concept of social perception is considered to be an umbrella term that includes various other traditional and related phenomena such as person perception impression and attitude formation social cognition attribution stereotypes prejudice social categorisation and social comparison and implicit personality theories This book presents research on social perspectives and behavioural responses which follow These include child perceptions social class issues perceived attractiveness theories occupational prestige and related communication factors

Current Topics in Clinical and Community Psychology Charles D. Spielberger, 2013-10-22 Current Topics in Clinical and Community Psychology Volume 1 reviews advances in clinical and community psychology Topics covered include theory and research in areas such as psychological assessment of intelligence personality and abnormal behavior psychotherapy broadly defined to include counseling and behavior modification and psychophysiological and neurological determinants of personality and psychopathology Comprised of five chapters this volume first illustrates how reinforcement and modeling techniques can enable psychologists to function effectively as mental health consultants and agents of social change in an institution for delinquent children The second chapter describes a unique program designed to prevent emotional dysfunction in school children by combining effective therapeutic intervention with relevant research and evaluation The third chapter challenges the relevance of psychological research that does not take into account the relationship between the experimenter and his subjects and instead demonstrates the impact of experimenter self disclosure on the responses given to psychological tests and on subjects behavior in psychology experiments The fourth chapter proposes a behaviorally oriented model for the assessment of positive mental health and describes a successful application of this model in the assessment of the competence of college freshmen The final chapter relates research on human psychophysiology to problems of psychological assessment and psychotherapy that are of central concern to clinical psychologists This book should prove useful to practicing clinical and community psychologists graduate and undergraduate students of psychology and members of other mental health professions Social Class and Mental Illness August de Belmont Hollingshead, Fredrick Carl Redlich, 1964 Epidemiology and Community Psychiatry P. Pichot, 2013-03-14 The purpose of the World Psychiatric Association is to coordinate the activities of its Member Societies on a world wide scale and to advance enquiry into the etiology pathology and treatment of mental illness To further this purpose the Association organizes mono or multi thematic Regional Symposia in different parts of the world twice a year and World Congresses dealing with all individual fields of psychiatry once every five or six years Between these meetings the continuation of the Association s scientific work is assured through the activities of its specialty sections each covering an important field of psychiatry The programs of the World Congresses reflect on the one hand the intention to present the coordinating functions of the Association and on the other to open a broad platform for a free exchange of views Thus the VII World Congress of Psychiatry held in Vienna from July 11 to 16 1983 was composed of two types of scientific events those structured by the Association and those left to the initiative of the participants The first type comprised Plenary Sessions planned by the Scientific Program Committee and Section Symposia organized by the WPA sections the second embraced Free Symposia free papers video sessions and poster presentations prepared by the participants Altogether 10 Plenary Sessions 52 Section Symposia and 105 Free Symposia took place and 78 free papers and poster sessions and 10 video sessions were held A Bibliography of Pamphlets and Reprints on the Community Aspects of Mental Health , 1956
