Judith Kipper, Harold Saunders

Social Constof Nationalin Mideast:

Economic Cooperation in the Middle East Gideon Fishelson, 2019-04-12 This book is an outcome of conference on Economic Cooperation in the Middle East held at Tel Aviv University in 1986 It examines economic integration in the Middle East its implications and possible costs The book analyzes the consequences of peace and economic cooperation in the Middle East

Western Imperialism in the Middle East 1914-1958 D. K. Fieldhouse, 2006-04-06 The term Fertile Crescent is commonly used as shorthand for the group of territories extending around the Rivers Tigris and Euphrates Here it is assumed to consist of Syria Lebanon Jordan Iraq and Palestine Much has been written on the history of these countries which were taken from the Ottoman empire after 1918 and became Mandates under the League of Nations For the most part the histories of these countries have been handled either individually or as part of the history of Britain or France In the first instance the emphasis has normally been on the development of nationalism and local resistance to alien control in a particular territory leading to the modern successor state In the second most studies have concentrated separately on how either France or Britain handled the great problems they inherited seldom comparing their strategies The aim of this book is to see the region as a whole and from both the European and indigenous points of view The central argument is that the mandate system failed in its stated purpose of establishing stable democratic states out of what had been provinces or parts of provinces within the Ottoman empire Rather it generated basically unstable polities and in the special case of Palestine one totally unresolved and possibly unsolvable conflict The result was to leave the Middle East as perhaps the most volatile part of the world in the later twentieth century and beyond The main purpose of the book is to examine why this was so

The New Authoritarianism in the Middle East and North Africa Stephen J. King, 2009-10-28 Stephen J King considers the reasons that international and domestic efforts toward democratization have failed to take hold in the Arab world Focusing on Egypt Tunisia Syria and Algeria he suggests that a complex set of variables characterizes authoritarian rule and helps to explain both its dynamism and its persistence King addresses but moves beyond how religion and the strongly patriarchal culture influence state structure policy configuration ruling coalitions and legitimization and privatization strategies He shows how the transformation of authoritarianism has taken place amid shifting social relations and political institutions and how these changes have affected the lives of millions Ultimately King s forward thinking analysis offers a way to enhance the prospects for democracy in the Middle East and North Africa

Economic Development in the Middle East Rodney Wilson, 2013 By examining economic development in the Middle East in the aftermath of the Arab Spring this textbook introduces undergraduate and postgraduate students to the most pressing and topical economic issues in the contemporary Middle East With comprehensive coverage of the entire region the author examines the economic prospects for the Gulf and charts the growth of economic power in the region Organised thematically a full range of topics are discussed including the role of banks and capital markets in the region s development the impact of demographic changes such as the dramatic decline in birth rates and the implications for future employment the development of economic advances in oil and gas production the effects of the region's economic development on international and inter regional trade Through discussing the region's problems of the past as well as the present and future challenges this book provides students with a compact and manageable review of the state of economic development in the Middle East

Studies in the Economic History of the Middle East M. A. Cook, 2015-12-22 First Published in 2004 Did medieval Muslims have the concept of a social class If not can we usefully employ the term in analysing their society Were there such things as guilds in the medieval Middle East Would we understand the economic decline of Mamluk Egypt better if we used paradigms derived from the study of the economic history of England and Italy in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries How much can the enormous fiscal archive of the Ottoman Empire tell us about population history Why was the Middle East so backward if indeed it was compared with the rest of the Afro Asian world in the nineteenth century Have Iran and Iraq better prospects for economic growth than otherwise comparable countries thanks to their oil royalties Or are these paradoxically a hindrance rather than a help The study of the economic history of the Middle East in Islamic times is notoriously underdeveloped This volume contains papers discussed at an international conference held at the School of Oriental and African Studies in 1967 together with three short critical essays which attempt to tie them together Some papers are specific contributions to research others survey wider areas The volume is not a comprehensive history or a systematic inventory but it is hoped that in addition to presenting a set of papers which are interesting in themselves it will give the reader a tolerable idea of the state of studies in the field

Workers and Peasants in the Modern Middle East Joel Beinin, 2001-09-06 Joel Beinin's survey of subaltern history in the Middle East demonstrates lucidly and compellingly how the lives experiences and culture of working people can inform our historical understanding Beginning in the middle of the eighteenth century the book charts the history of peasants urban artisans and modern working classes across the lands of the Ottoman empire and its Muslim majority successor states including the Balkans Turkey the Arab Middle East and North Africa Inspired by the approach of the Indian Subaltern Studies school the book is the first to offer a synthesized critical assessment of the scholarly work on the social history of this region for the last twenty years It offers insights into the political economic and social life of ordinary men and women and their apprehension of their own experiences Students will find it rich in narrative detail and accessible and authoritative in presentation

Public Health in the Middle East and North Africa Anne Maryse Pierre-Louis, Francisca Ayodeji Akala, Hadia Samaha Karam, 2004-01-01 This publication contains papers presented at the Middle East regional symposium held in Beirut in June 2002 to discuss public health challenges in the Middle East and North Africa and Eastern Mediterranean MENA EM regions Issues discussed include public health functions and infrastructures health economics affordable and culturally appropriate services for disease prevention and treatment to reduce the dual burden of illness and disability promotion strategies the HIV AIDS situation issues of road safety and strengthening primary health care in Iran

Archaeologies of the Middle East Susan Pollock, Reinhard Bernbeck, 2009-02-09 Archaeologies of the Middle East provides an innovative introduction to the archaeology of this fascinating region and a window on both its past and present. Written by some of the top archaeologists of the Middle East, scholars from diverse backgrounds with a wide range of interests and intellectual approaches. Coverage spans 100 000 years from the Paleolithic to Hellenistic times. Explores the connections between modern day politics and the social context of archaeological practice and various underutilized approaches to archaeological interpretation. Designed for student use.

The Middle East In Global Perspective Judith Kipper, Harold Saunders, 2019-06-19 Well before events in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe dramatized the rapidity with which a new political world is evolving and before the Gulf War sharpened the focus on the Middle East agenda, scholars and policymakers alike were searching for different concepts for addressing the intractable problems facing the Middle East. Even though the region has been the focus of much attention, there has been no single volume that has brought together the various approaches to the study of the Middle East.

Trade, Investment, and Development in the Middle East and North Africa Dipak Das Gupta, Mustapha K. Nabli, 2003-01-01 There is a large potential for expanding trade in the Middle East and North Africa region. This work discusses ways forward for trade integration, capturing the diversity of country experiences within the region without losing the generality of principles involved.
