Eastern Learning and the Heavenly Way Carl Young, 2014-08-31

Tonghak or Eastern Learning was the first major new religion in modern Korean history Founded in 1860 it combined aspects of a variety of Korean religious traditions Because of its appeal to the poor and marginalized it became best known for its prominent role in the largest peasant rebellion in Korean history in 1894 which set the stage for a wider regional conflict the Sino Japanese War of 1894 1895 Although the rebellion failed it caused immense changes in Korean society and played a part in the war that ended in Japan s victory and its eventual rise as an imperial power It was in this context of social change and an increasingly perilous international situation that Tonghak rebuilt itself emerging as Ch ndogyo Teaching of the Heavenly Way in 1906 During the years before Japan s annexation of Korea in 1910 Ch ndogyo continued to evolve by engaging with new currents in social and political thought strengthening its institutions and using new communication technologies to spread its religious and political message In spite of Korea s loss of independence Ch ndogyo would endure and play a major role in Korean nationalist movements in the Japanese colonial period most notably the March First independence demonstrations in 1919 It was only able to thrive thanks to the processes that had taken place in the twilight years of Korean independence This book focuses on the internal developments in the Tonghak and Ch ndogyo movements between 1895 and 1910 Drawing on a variety of sources in several languages such as religious histories doctrinal works newspapers government reports and foreign diplomatic reports it explains how Tonghak survived the turmoil following the failed 1894 rebellion to set the foundations for Ch ndogyo s important role in the Japanese colonial period The story of Tonghak and Ch ndogyo not only is an example of how new religions interact with their surrounding societies and how they consolidate and institutionalize themselves as they become more established it also reveals the processes by which Koreans coped and engaged with the challenges of social political and economic change and the looming darkness that would result in the extinguishing of national independence at the hands of Japan s expanding empire

The Challenge of Conflict:

International Law Responds Ustina Dolgopol, Judith G. Gardam, 2006-03-29 The papers in this collection bring together a wide and diverse range of viewpoints to consider how the catastrophic consequences of deadly armed conflict can be addressed. Commentators are drawn from the United Nations and its agencies, key non governmental organisations, world class academic circles, senior members of government, leading human rights lawyers and judges with experience in international criminal law. These experts address deadly conflict in a comprehensive fashion covering all its stages, the causes and prevention of conflict, conflict resolution and peace building, international criminal law and international humanitarian law and the role of the United Nations humanitarian organisations and peacekeepers in post conflict situations. This collection is for those with an existing interest and expertise in international law, international relations, peace studies and criminal justice as well as for those who wish to become conversant with emerging developments in these fields. The Future of Digital Work: The Challenge of Inequality Rajendra K. Bandi, Ranjini C. R., Stefan Klein, Shirin Madon, Eric Monteiro, 2020-12-03 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the IFIP WG 8.2.9.1.9.4 Joint Working Conference on the Future of Digital Work: The Challenge of Inequality, IFIPJWC 2020, which was supposed to be held in Hyderabad, India, in December 2020 but was held virtually due to the COVID 19 pandemic. This conference was organized for IFIP's 60th anniversary and to commemorate its mission to achieve worldwide professional and socially responsible development and application of ICTs. The 22 full papers presented together with an introduction and two keynotes were carefully reviewed and selected from 29 submissions. They are organized in topics on innovation and entrepreneurship, the social significance of digital platforms transforming healthcare and the dark side of digitalization. Climate Crisis, Social Responses and Sustainability Uttam Mukhopadhyay, Subhasis Bhattacharya, Pradip Chouhan, Suman Paul, Indrajit Roy Chowdhury, Uday Chatterjee, 2024-05-28 This proposed book aims to present an analysis of several crisis issues induced by global climate changes and implications at the micro level, particularly from the perspective of ground based study. Climate crisis leads to several socio ecological issues which need to be discussed with some empirical case studies from the contextual global evidences. Climatic crisis generates several social responses which are associated with mitigating issues in addition to sustainable development goals. Under these circumstances, several loopholes interlinked with climatic crisis need to be exposed in the present day context. This book argues that it is important to understand the issues from multiple dimensions. It identifies some important dimensions to discuss in the process. Themes we purpose to cover are: several field based studies are included for which micro level field based data would be incorporated to understand current crisis induced by climate change, thus exposing the vulnerabilities of the communities which would be incorporated in different chapters with adequate representation of qualitative methods, modelling based geospatial approach. Therefore, some secondary data based studies have also been included to provide a broader picture. Additionally, this book aims to provide an interdisciplinary understanding of the issues mainly from the lenses of Geography, Economics and Sociology as well as Environmental Studies too. Given the focus of this study, it is believed that an approach that harmonizes the cognitive domain from different discipline is appropriated A combination of chapters using qualitative as well as quantitative methods also made this book exclusive from others We believe that this edited book surely contributes the knowledge domain with some relevant chapters discussion in the contemporary time and leads to reduce the gap of knowledge

International Handbook of Human Response to Trauma Arie Y. Shalev,Rachel Yehuda,Alexander C. McFarlane,2013-11-11 In 1996 representatives from 27 different countries met in Jerusalem to share ideas about traumatic stress and its impact For many this represented the first dialogue that they had ever had with a mental health professional from another country Many of the attendees had themselves been exposed to either personal trauma or traumatizing stories involving their patients and represented countries that were embroiled in conflicts with each other Listening to one another became possible because of the humbling humanity of each participant and the accuracy and objectivity of the data presented Understanding human traumatization had thus become a common denominator binding together all attendees This book tries to capture the spirit of the Jerusalem World Conference on Traumatic Stress bringing forward the diversities and commonalities of its constructive discourse In trying to structure the various themes that arose it was all too obvious that paradigms of different ways of conceiving of traumatic stress should be addressed first In fact the very idea that psychological trauma can result in mental health symptoms that should be treated has not yet gained universal acceptability Even within medicine and mental health competing approaches about the impact of trauma and the origins of symptoms abound Part I discusses how the current paradigm of traumatic stress disorder developed within the historical social and process contexts It also grapples with some of the difficulties that are presented by this paradigm from anthropologic ethical and scientific perspectives

Climate-Related Human Mobility in Asia and the Pacific Stellina Jolly, Nafees Ahmad, Matthew Scott, 2024-08-27 This open access book critically examines the policies and practices related to climate related human mobility in Asia Pacific and the legal and policy protection framework for climatically displaced migrants CDMs through an interdisciplinary human rights based approach While covering the policy and theoretical dimensions of mobility it also evaluates the issue through empirical studies The book illustrates how interdisciplinary rights based approaches address and identify gaps in the protection framework for the region regarding dimensions of climate change displacement migration forced migration susceptibility to climate change and typology of climate change induced displacement Presenting multiple case scenarios it recommends a legal mechanism based on human rights in a region brimming with variety and multiculturalism Bringing together voices from the Asia Pacific Academic Network on Disaster Displacement the book examines issues that are immediately relevant in countries where they are living and working In addition to academic perspective the chapters also bring perspectives from positions held in national human rights institutions and government They bring insight into lived experience and policy processes seeking to avert minimize and address displacement including through general disaster risk reduction and climate change adaptation initiatives as well as specific initiatives around emergency preparedness for response and planned relocation and resettlement The chapters examine diverse forms of human mobility including displacement planned relocation and forced immobility The combination of studies focusing on both sudden onset and slower onset movement is also distinctive With a thorough understanding of the interdisciplinary rights based approaches to the issue students researchers policymakers administrators and all those engaged in studying these topics can quickly evaluate and appreciate how the rights of CDMs are protected on a national regional and international level in Asia Pacific

years since the first test tube baby in vitro fertilization and other methods of reproductive assistance have become a common aspect of family life and medicine in affluent nations and increasingly throughout the world How do persons seeking treatment donors and medical experts make use of these reproductive technologies How in crossing borders between nations do they manage to evade legal and bioethical regulations And how do they make sense of these new modes of making kinship against the backdrop of diverse world views and social settings
