Medieval Wall Paintings in English & Welsh Churches Roger Rosewell, 2008 Surveying the images and iconography that made the medieval church a riot of colour this book brings together many of the best surviving examples of medieval church wall paintings It uses new technologies to allow us to visualise these works as the artists first intended Rosewell's text accompanies the images Medieval Wall Paintings Roger Rosewell, 2014-02-10 The medieval wall paintings that remain in English churches are for the most part shadows of their former selves the rare fragments of this beautiful art to have survived not only the Reformation but also successive waves of iconoclastic zeal and unsympathetic restoration The whitewashed walls of most parish churches belie the riot of colour and decoration that once adorned them but the remnants of paintings tucked into corners or rescued from later layers of paint help us to understand the role of art in medieval religion Roger Rosewell here offers a guide to the role played by medieval wall paintings as religious didactic and commemorative works of art telling the stories of those who created them and those who used them on a daily basis He also compares and contrasts religious and domestic wall paintings using beautiful colour photography throughout Forces of the Hanseatic League David Nicolle, 2014-04-20 The Hanseatic League was a commercial and defensive federation of merchant guilds based in harbour towns along the North Sea and Baltic coasts of what are now Germany and her neighbours which eventually dominated maritime trade in Northern Europe and spread its influence much further afield The League was formed to protect the economic and political interests of member cities throughout a vast and complex trading network The League continued to operate well into the 17th century but its golden age was between c 1200 and c 1500 thereafter it failed to take full advantage of the wave of maritime exploration to the west south and east of Europe During its 300 years of dominance the League's large ships called cogs were at the forefront of maritime technology were early users of cannon and were manned by strong fighting crews to defend them from pirates in both open sea and river warfare The home cities raised their own armies for mutual defence and their riches both allowed them and required them to invest in fortifications and gunpowder weapons since as very attractive targets they were subjected to sieges at various times Were We Ever Protestants? Sivert Angel, Hallgeir Elstad, Eivor Andersen Oftestad, 2019-09-23 This anthology discusses different aspects of Protestantism past and present Professor Tarald Rasmussen has written both on medieval and modern theologians but his primary interest has remained the reformation and 16th century church history In stead of a traditional Festschrift honouring the different fields of research he has contributed to this will be a focused anthology treating a specific theme related to Rasmussen s research profile One of Professor Rasmussen s most recent publications a little popularized book in Norwegian titled What is Protestantism reveals a central aspect research interest namely the Weberian interest for Protestantism s cultural significance Despite difficulties he finds the concept useful as a Weberian Idealtypus enabling research on a phenomenon combining theological historical and sociological dimensions Thus he employs the Protestantism as an integrative concept to trace the makeup of today s secular societies This profiled approach is a point of departure for this anthology discussing important aspects of historiography in reformation history Continuity and breaks surrounding the reformation contemporary significance of reformation history research traces of the reformation in today s society The book relates to current discussions on Protestantism and is relevant to everyone who want to keep up to date with the latest research in the field

The Pictorial Arts of the West, 800-1200 Charles Reginald Dodwell, 1993-01-01 Between the ninth and thirteenth centuries the Western world witnessed a glorious flowering of the pictorial arts In this lavishly illustrated book C R Dodwell provides a comprehensive guide to all forms of this art from wall and panel paintings to stained glass windows mosaics and embroidery and sets them against the historical and theological influences of the age Dodwell describes the rise and development of some of the great styles of the Middle Ages Carolingian art which ranged from the splendid illuminations appropriate to an emperor s court to drawings of great delicacy Anglo Saxon art which had a rare vitality and finesse Ottonian art with its political and spiritual messages the colorful Mozarabic art of Spain which had added vigor through its interaction with the barbaric Visigoths and the art of Italy influenced by the styles of Byzantium and the West Dodwell concludes with an examination of the universal Romanesque style of the twelfth century that extended from the Scandinavian countries in the north to Jerusalem in the south His book which includes the first exhaustive discussion of the painters and craftsmen of the time incorporates the latest research and is filled with new ideas about the relations among the arts history and theology of the period will be an invaluable resource for both art historians and students of the Middle Ages

New Studies in Medieval and Renaissance Gdańsk, Poland and Prussia Beata Możejko, 2017-03-31 New Studies in Medieval and Renaissance Poland and Prussia The Impact of Gdańsk draws together the latest reseach conducted by local historians and archaeologists on the city of Gdańsk and its impact on the surrounding region of Pomerania and Poland as a whole Beginning with Gdańsk s early political history and extending from the 10th to the 16th century its twelve chapters explore a range of political social and socio cultural historical questions and explain such phenomena as the establishment and development of the Gdańsk port and city A prominent theme is a consideration of the interactions between Gdańsk and Poland and Prussia including a look into the city s links with the State of the Teutonic Order in Prussia and the Kingdom of Poland under the rule of the Piast and Jagiellonian dynasties The chapters are placed in the historical context of medieval Poland as well as the broader themes of religion the matrimonial policy of noble families or their contacts with the papacy This book is an exciting new study of medieval Poland and unparalleled in the English speaking world making it an ideal text for those wanting to deepen their knowledge in this subject area Organic Chemistry of Museum Objects John Mills,Raymond those who lack command of the various Scandinavian languages a basic tool for the study of Medieval Scandinavia from roughly the Migration Period to the Reformation With full page maps useful supplementary photos cross references and a comprehensive index this work will be a valuable and absorbing volume for students of the Norse sagas the Viking age and Old English history and literature and for anyone interested in the cultural and historical heritage of Scandinavia Britain and the Continent 1660–1727 Christina Strunck, 2021-10-04 This monograph examines the most prestigious political paintings created in Britain during the High Baroque age It investigates a period characterized by numerous social political and religious crises in the years between the restoration of the Stuart monarchy 1660 and the death of the first British monarch from the House of Hanover 1727 On the basis of hitherto unpublished documents the book elucidates the creation and reception of nine major commissions that involved the court private aristocratic patrons and or civic institutions The ground breaking new interpretations of these works focus on strategies of conflict resolution the creation of shared cultural memories processes of cultural translation the performative context of the murals and the interaction of painted images and architectural spaces Pigments of English Medieval Wall Painting Helen Howard, 2003 In Pigments of English Medieval Wall Painting Helen Howard demonstrates that the techniques of wall painting in medieval England were far more complex than had previously been supposed This is the first systematic analysis of the pigments employed in medieval wall paintings in northern Europe covering an extensive selection of schemes from a variety of sites including parish churches cathedrals and abbeys Canterbury Westminster Norwich Winchester St Albans Sherborne and Durham The nature and extent of the palette used is revealed as well as the sophistication with which pigments were applied to achieve differing effects Thirty pigments are detected including four previously unknown in the context of English medieval wall paintings vivianite salt green kermes lake and madder lake Also discovered are three alterations of pigments the lightening of red lead alteration of vivianite to a yellow form and the transformation of verdigris to a blue chloride based alteration product The use of different binding media employed for particular pigments in a single paint layer demonstrates the complex manner in which paintings were executed The findings discussed in the context of wall painting sculptural polychromy and panel painting techniques in medieval northern Europe show the broad chronological development in the choice fabrication and application of materials linked to changes in artistic intent technology and workshop practice Beautifully illustrated with more than 200 colour plates Pigments of English Medieval Wall Painting has significant implications for the conservation methods of such paintings and is an important source of information for all those interested in pigments and paintings English Medieval Alabasters Francis W. Cheetham, 2005 Francis Cheetham's classic survey of English medieval alabasters includes a richly illustrated catalogue of the Victoria and Albert Museum's unparalleled collection English alabasters represent a unique contribution to medieval art Less sophisticated perhaps than other contemporary forms of religious art they were a neglected area of study until this volume was first published in 1984 Stories from the New Testament and The Golden Legend were the most favoured subjects and the numerous examples that survive in churches and museums throughout Europe attest to their wide and enduring appeal Francis Cheetham examines here all aspects of their production and demonstrates how the panels and altarpieces can aid our understanding of life and devotional practice in medieval times At the heart of this fascinating study is a richly illustrated catalogue of the 260 examples in the collection of London's Victoria and Albert Museum a collection so comprehensive that it would be possible to write a survey of the subject almost without recourse to pieces elsewhere as Sir Roy Strong notes in his Foreword Their division into subject categories is an invaluable aid to identification and classification The late Francis Cheetham was an acknowledged expert on medieval English alabasters and this reissue of his classic work will be welcomed by historians art historians collectors and dealers alike taking its place alongside his Alabaster Images of Medieval England which was published by the Boydell Press in 2003

The Organic Chemistry of Museum Objects Stephen G Rees-Jones, 1987-02-24 The Organic Chemistry of Museum Objects provides an account of the composition chemistry and analysis of the organic materials which enter into the structures of objects in museum collections This book is not intended to duplicate the information available in existing handbooks on the materials and techniques of art and conservation but rather to convey the state of knowledge of the chemical composition of such materials and so provide a framework for a general understanding of their properties The book begins with a review of basic organic chemistry covering hydrocarbons and compounds with functional groups It then describes spectrometry and separation methods This is followed by discussions of the chemistry and composition of oils and fats natural waxes bituminous materials carbohydrates proteins and natural resins and lacquers Subsequent chapters deal with synthetic materials i e high molecular weight polymers of a wholly synthetic nature and natural and synthetic dyestuffs Also discussed are the deterioration and other changes in organic materials resulting from both free radical and ionic reactions and the application of analytical methods to identify the organic materials of actual museum objects This book is intended for both chemists and nonchemists
