Stakeholders In Rural Development Critical Collaboration In Statengo Partnerships:

Stakeholders in Rural Development John M Riley, 2002-05-10 John Riley describes and elaborates on a form of collaborative effort between governments and voluntary agencies which appears to be working in practice despite a widespread atmosphere of mutual distrust and antagonism. He calls it critical collaboration, defining it broadly as a working relationship in which the two sides retain their individuality while participating as partners both in policy formulation and implementation but where the NGO often acts as a critic of the government organization. John Riley presents case studies of five NGOs working in Tamil Nadu. performance of ngos with reference to women empowerment Dr J Saritha,

Civil Society and Democratization in India Sarbeswar Sahoo, 2013-04-26 Developing a distinctive theoretical framework on civil society, this book examines how Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs) contribute towards democratization in India and what conditions facilitate or inhibit their contribution. It assesses three different kinds of politics within civil society: liberal pluralist, neo Marxist, and communitarian, which have had different implications in relation to democratization. By making use of in-depth empirical analysis and comparative case studies of three developmental NGOs that work among the tribal communities in the socio-historical context of south Rajasthan, the book shows that civil society is not necessarily a democratizing force but that it can have contradictory consequences in relation to democratization. It discusses how the democratic effect of civil society is not a result of the stock of social capital in the community but is contingent upon the kinds of ideologies and interests that are present or ascendant, not just within the institutions of civil society but also within the state. The book delivers new insights on NGOs, democratization, civil society, the state, political society, tribal politics, politics of Hindu Nationalism, international development aid, and grassroots social movements in India. It enables readers to understand better the multifaceted nature of civil society, its relationship with the state, and its implications for development and democratization. Empowering Asian Youth through Volunteering Elaine Suk Ching Liu, 2019-09-09 This book describes the origin, development, and current state of volunteerism in Asia and Hong Kong. It also presents a field-tested model of empowering through volunteerism, namely the CYEP at City University, that involves youth, governmental and non-governmental agencies, and their clients in a rapidly changing society. Volunteerism is then described as a win-win situation for all stakeholders: actors, volunteers, the needs, the struggles, the personal motives, and the aspirations of the volunteers together with the dreams and the difficulties of the clients, the expertise of the professionals, and the lack of resources of the agencies. The new values emerging in society, the effects of globalization, and the new policies. This book presents actual Asian case examples with the voices of the people involved: on the CYEP, volunteers, officers, service recipients, who explain how volunteering changed their lives, their values, their attitudes toward social, civic, and political participation, their ethics, and sense of individual responsibility. These stories from the frontlines can be adopted and or adopted for use by other institutions but it is also the chance for understanding the emergence of volunteering in Asia overall and its future.

direction Voluntary Sector and Rural Development Rajeeb Misra,2008 Voluntary Sector and Rural Development systematically analyzes the theoretical background of non governmental organizations NGOs based on contemporary thoughts on the subject The book covers the concepts of development and rural development and devotes adequate space to the strategies adopted to rural development in India including an analysis of the themes of various rural development programs under India s First to Tenth Five Year Plan The findings contain many significant observations on the functioning of NGOs The book constitutes the author s seminal contribution in studying the strategy for poverty removal and rural development The idea contained here is not only fresh but in all appearances pragmatic as well It points to the role of three forces in the civil society authority voluntarism and profit It asserts that programs designed to work in a social system without integrating the above three forces will not succeed fully The book also charts out a strategy for adoption by program implementation agencies Local Governance in India Thodupuzha M. Joseph,2007 Papers presented at the National Workshop on Decentralised Democracy and Planning held at Newman College Thodupuzha on Dec 19 2003 The World Summit on Sustainable Development L. Hens,Bhaskar Nath,2005-11-17 This book provides an overview of the most important issues as they are dealt with in the Johannesburg World Summit on Sustainable Development s Plan of Implementation It addresses the science behind the discussions on poverty production and consumption patterns water energy Small Island Developing States sustainability issues in Central Eastern Europe and Latin America and the role of the financial world in the sustainable development of education science and research New Governance Paradigm Thodupuzha M. Joseph,2008 Globalization is one of the most debated concepts in contemporary discussions in the domain of development The emerging paradigm of governance in the area of globalization reframes the roles of institutions of state market and civil society This involves questioning of the erstwhile dominant role of other institutions Weakening and erosion of major modern institutions of governance such as legislature bureaucracy and judiciary in third world reflects the growing governance crisis Social tension and conflicts based on identity are on rise This has significant implications on issues such as social equity justice and environment that affect the life of people especially the third world poor This collection addresses some pertinent issues that emanate from the emerging paradigm of governance The major areas of concern are globalization civil society gender social services and infrastructure This documentation will help carry forward creation of knowledge and formulation of strategies in the field of rural management to meet the future challenge of rural development Religion and Gender in the Developing World Tamsin Bradley,2010-12-07 Faith based development organizations have become a central part of the lives of the women of rural Rajasthan and have come to represent an important aspect of both individual and collective identities And yet religious teachings continue to be used to exclude women from public decision making forums and render them vulnerable to increasing levels of domestic violence In a unique multi disciplinary approach combining a range of subjects Tamsin Bradley provides a unique study of the role of development organizations and faith organizations in the lives of women in rural Rajasthan Faith and religion emerge as being able to afford a space within which women are able to interact with one another and create an identity for themselves However faith proves not just to be a positive sphere in which women are able to assert themselves Its ambiguity becomes clear as the author explains that religious women often find their visions of social justice and equality marginalised by the dominance of male leadership Nevertheless Bradley also look at how religious women challenge male dominance drawing on their beliefs and practices in creative and innovative ways Thus a complex picture emerges and including insights from gender studies and anthropology Bradley argues that religion can both empower and disempower local communities and the women who live within them By analysing development through the prism of gender studies Bradley highlights the complex nature of power relationships that are at the very heart of development agendas and organizations and offers an invaluable contribution to the understanding of the nexus of varied disciplines in the analysis of women and religion in Rajasthan This book will be of interest to students reseachers and policy makers involved in various fields including those of Development Studies Religion Gender Studies and Social Anthropology
