Staking A Claim Feminism Bureacracy And The State:

Staking a Claim Suzanne Franzway, Dianne Court, Raewyn Connell, 1989 An attempt to bring feminist experience and social theory together to produce a systematic view of the state as an agent in sexual politics The book questions the nature of the state itself and the ways in which it is constituted by gender relations and shaped by changing sexual politics Among the topics covered are the nature of citizenship the structure of patriarchy sexual violence welfare institutions electoral politics and trade unions The particular policy issues discussed are welfare policies rape reform law housing policy and equal employment opportunities Publisher description Feminist Perspectives on Public Law Susan Millns, Noel

Whitty, 2013-03-04 Feminist scholarship can provide public lawyers with the critical tools and insights to respond to these new challenges This collection begins a dialogue between public law and feminism by offering a range of perspectives on contemporary public law themes and topics Women's Movements and Public Policy in Europe, Latin America, and the Caribbean Geertje A. Nijeholt, Saskia Wieringa, 2019-05-23 The triangle of empowerment is how this volume s editors describe the three sets of actors involved in women s collective struggles in the political arena the women s movement feminist politicians and feminist civil servants Original case studies from Europe Latin America and the Caribbean analyze the political struggles women are waging to make their voices heard and to place women s issues on the agenda in different societies Challenging Democracy Madeleine Arnot, Jo-Anne Dillabough, 2014-02-04 This collection establishes a highly topical new international field of study that of gender education and citizenship It brings together for the first time important cutting edge research on the contribution of the educational system to the formation of male and female citizens It shows how gender relations operate behind apparently neutral concepts of liberal democratic citizenship and citizenship education The editors asked leading international educationalists to describe the theoretical frameworks and methodologies they used to research gender and citizenship Challenging Democracy suggests ways in which the educational system could help develop genuinely inclusive democratic societies in which men and women play an equal role in shaping the meaning of citizenship Feminist Review The Feminist Review Collective, 2005-08-03 Feminist Review is the UK s leading feminist journal It has a unique place in the women s movement internationally This issue focusing on Nationalism and National Identities features articles by Nahid Yegeneh and Catherine Hall Feminists Organising Against Gendered Violence L.

McMillan, 2007-10-23 McMillan provides the first detailed account of the women s anti violence movement in Europe from an international comparative perspective Exploring how feminists have responded to violence in society this study also examines how they have organized their response their achievements and the factors that have facilitated their calls to change

Socialism C. M. Hann, 2003-09-02 Socialism as a political system may be on the wane yet no one can doubt that its cultural legacies will make themselves felt for years to come and on a worldwide scale The contributors to this volume adopt a variety of anthropological approaches to illuminate changes which have removed socialists from power in many countries Presenting detailed ethnographic accounts across a wide range of countries they bring out the factors which have given socialism such a profound worldwide impact including a substantial impact upon the discipline of anthropology itself The first sustained and wide ranging investigation of socialism by social anthropologists this volume will enable readers to understand better how socialism has been experienced by millions of people and thereby to now better understand how they may cope with post socialist dilemmas

Among Men Søren Ervø, Thomas Johansson, 2016-12-05 The two Moulding Masculinities volumes represent the first major publication in English of Northern European studies on masculinities They focus on men's relationships towards each other and their bodies primarily from psycho dynamic and social constructionist perspectives The contributors are drawn from disciplines as diverse as sociology social anthropology media studies and sports sciences and include scholars from Denmark Sweden Norway Finland The Netherlands Germany Australia the UK and the USA Investigating the relational aspects of masculinity this volume describes how different masculinities are moulded within diverse structures and settings It explores how men interact with each other and how they collectively react to and embody changing concepts of masculinity By centering on the struggle and negotiation between different groups and discourses of masculinity and investigating the origin of dominant images and ideals of masculinity these two volumes will widen international understanding of how historic forms of masculinity are interpreted revived and combined in the process of moulding masculinities

Nations and Nationalism Philip Spencer, Howard Wollman, 2005 Nationalism is a key area of political theory with a huge amount of literature available This text includes both the core texts in this area and a selection of less mainstream pieces with the aim of engaging readers with contemporary debates which have reconfigured understanding of nationalism

The New Politics of Gender

Equality Judith Squires, 2007-09-11 During the past decade governments around the globe have introduced institutional mechanisms to promote the advancement of women including measures to increase women's political participation rates and to incorporate women's interests into policy making Why have they done so How successful have these initiatives been What are the emerging agendas facing gender equality advocates now In The New Politics of Gender Equality Judith Squires examines the origins evolution and key features of three strategies that have been employed across the world in pursuit of gender equality quotas policy agencies and gender mainstreaming The author critically examines each strategy to see how far they transform political institutions and agendas and to what extent they lead rather to the assimilation of women in male defined structures Squires argues that a multi pronged approach drawing on democratic rather than technocratic strategies offers the best potential for advancing gender equality She highlights too the limitations of approaches that ignore inequalities among women and the challenges of developing equality initiatives to address multiple and cross cutting inequalities between groups Judith Squires is Professor of Political Theory University of Bristol She has written researched and published widely in the field of gender politics and gender equality

The Oxford Handbook of Philosophy of Social Science Harold Kincaid, 2012-08-23 The philosophy of the social sciences considers the underlying explanatory powers of the social or human sciences such as history economics anthropology politics and sociology The type of questions covered includes the methodological the nature of observations laws theories and explanations to the ontological whether or not these sciences can explain human nature in a way consistent with common sense beliefs This Handbook is a major comprehensive look at the key ideas in the field is guided by several principles The first is that the philosophy of social science should be closely connected to and informed by developments in the sciences themselves The second is that the volume should appeal to practicing social scientists as well as philosophers with the contributors being both drawn from both ranks and speaking to ongoing controversial issues in the field Finally the volume promotes connections across the social sciences with greater internal discussion and interaction across disciplinary boundaries

Reproducing Gender Madeleine Arnot, 2002-01-17 Reproducing Gender charts the development of a theory of gender relations built up over the last twenty years This theory has been highly influential in establishing the importance of the sociology of women's education for the study of society It demonstrates the power of feminist educational theory and research and its role in creating new political and academic agendas This fascinating book explores gender relationships at all levels of schooling It brings together political social and cultural theories to understand continuity and change in gender and education Madeleine Arnot widely considered to be a pioneer in the field of gender and education brings together for the first time in a single volume her most influential writings This book is essential reading for students and academics in the areas of gender studies women's studies educational policy sociology and history of education

Yalla Feminists Lina AbiRafeh, Rebecca O'Keeffe, 2023-11-07 The Arab region continues to be among the most challenging in the world for the progress of women's rights. Equality remains elusive for women and vulnerable groups in the region due to traditional patriarchal cultures, protracted crises, lack of religious freedom, discriminatory legal frameworks, and chronic insecurity. The strongest indicator of peace in any country is in its treatment of women, but the story of women's rights in the region is one of patchy progress and major regress. Today women are experiencing a massive backlash against their rights and fundamental freedoms. And yet there is hope. Feminists, particularly young feminists from the Arab region, fight tirelessly for their rights and are leading movements around the region pushing for change. This book looks at the last 50 years of Arab feminism with a view to understanding what the next 50 years will hold. Built from hundreds of firsthand accounts with women in the region, this book brings together voices across the 22 Arab states to present new pathways to women's rights and gender equality. APAIS 1991: Australian public affairs information service, Schooling Reform In Hard Times Bob Linguard, John Knight, Paige Porter, 2003-09-02. Based on research carried out under Labour governments throughout the 1990s in Western Australia, the authors consider the social, political, and economic conditions under which policy is formulated, understood, and enacted. They look at how the state structure affects the content and nature of policy statements and provide an outline of the history of policy developments and point to future possibilities and probabilities. Outcomes within funding ceilings, accountability frameworks, and national guidelines are but some of the changes referred to. The emergence of competency-based standards in education and training in schools, workplaces, and the professions is evident throughout Australia at state level, but the concern is whether issues of education should be played out within the state and outside civil society. The authors argue for the mediation in implementation of policy rather than a lambasting of policy formulation and implementation. This text is intended for heads of education departments, PGCE, BEd, MEd students, and researchers interested in education policy and planning. Education policymakers and educational historians. The Politics of Gender Equality Carol Johnson, 2024-08-22. This open access book provides the first in-depth study of the development of federal gender equality politics and policy in Australia from the 1970s to the present day. Australia has a history of gender equality innovation, including granting women's suffrage long before equivalent countries. From the 1970s on, it became the first country to introduce a women's adviser, femocrats, feminist bureaucrats, and gender-responsive budgeting, but then fell behind, partly due to the influence of Anglosphere neoliberalism. However, the Albanese government has pledged to make Australia a world leader in gender equality again. The book situates Australia in an international context, assessing the useful though sometimes salutary lessons which the Australian experience provides. It engages with key literature, including feminist political theory, discursive framing analysis, gendered public policy analysis, LGBTIQ issues, path dependency, and gender and leadership. It will interest academics, undergraduate and postgraduate researchers, public policy experts, and practitioners, and a broader readership interested in issues of gender equality. The book makes innovative contributions to the study of the politics of gender equality.

policy addressing what a gender equality policy agenda could look like if the needs of women in all their intersectional social diversity were the driving force. In doing so it addresses a range of issues that are impacting the future of women including an ongoing pandemic, technology, education and training, agendas, issues of sovereign capability, securitisation, climate change and the growth of campaigns that oppose so-called gender ideology. It explores how current government agendas such as the focus on wellbeing could be made even more gender inclusive. Finally, the book suggests that Australia as a multicultural but predominantly Western settler colonial society situated in the Asia Pacific has some potentially unique insights to offer in a world facing major geoeconomic and geopolitical change. Gender, Nation and Women Politicians in Serbia and Kosovo

Gordana Subotić, 2022-03-30. This book examines the ways women politicians in Serbia and Kosovo have imagined, constructed and politicised national identity and gender while engaging with politics in the context of the democratisation process. The first book to focus on the work of women inside political structures, it draws on participant observation and interview material to answer the question of how women in positions of power and influence deal with their national identity and gender in societies deeply divided along ethnic lines. Based on close studies of the work of a small number of women from different ethnic backgrounds, the author offers comparative analyses of the ways in which women politicians of different ethnicities respond to similar events in their everyday work. An original political ethnography that considers engagement of women in formal politics, this volume will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in political structures and political participation, particularly as these relate to questions of gender, nation and ethnicity. Education, Globalisation and New Times. Stephen J. Ball, Ivor F. Goodson, Meg Maguire, 2007-03-08. Education, Globalisation and New Times comprises a selection of the most influential papers published over the twenty-one years of the Journal of Education Policy.
