Warren H. Manning Robin Karson, Jane Roy Brown, Sarah Allaback, 2017-04-01 Warren H. Manning's 1860-1938 national practice comprised more than sixteen hundred landscape design and planning projects throughout North America from small home grounds to estates cemeteries college campuses parks and park systems and new industrial towns Manning approached his design and planning projects from an environmental perspective conceptualizing projects as components of larger regional in some cases national systems a method that contrasted sharply with those of his stylistically oriented colleagues In this regard as in many others Manning had been influenced by his years with the Olmsted firm where the foundations of his resource based approach to design were forged Manning s overlay map methods later adopted by the renowned landscape architect Ian McHarg provided the basis for computer mapping software in widespread use today One of the eleven founders of the American Society of Landscape Architects Manning also ran one of the nation s largest offices where he trained several influential designers including Fletcher Steele A D Taylor Charles Gillette and Dan Kiley After Manning s death his reputation slipped into obscurity Contributors to the Warren H Manning Research Project have worked more than a decade to assess current conditions of his built projects and to compile a richly illustrated compendium of site essays that illuminate the range scope and significance of Manning s notable career with specially commissioned photographs by Carol Betsch
