Friedman, 2024-10-09 Many of the best known and most popular children's stories of the 20th and early 21st century were written by veterans of World War I and World War II These include works by such writers as A A Milne C S Lewis Roald Dahl Ian Fleming and J R R Tolkien among others Although they had experienced war most of the veterans did not overtly write about it The seeming paradox of warriors who went through searing combat and then wrote books for children has not been addressed collectively before now The essays in this book explore what motivated these veterans to write for children what they wrote and how their writing was influenced by the wars they lived through It examines how their combat experience can be traced in their writing however subtly whether it was stories about a bear and his piglet companion a World War I flying ace or a flying car Their reactions to war as reflected in their writing yield important lessons about the complicated legacy of the 20th century's two great conflicts and their long lasting impact through children on society at large Military

Everyday Denazification in Postwar Germany Mikkel Dack,2023-03-30 In the wake of World War II the victorious Allied armies implemented a radical program to purge Nazism from Germany and preserve peace in Europe Between 1945 and 1949 20 million political questionnaires or Fragebogen were distributed by American British French and Soviet armies to anxious Germans who had to prove their non Nazi status to gain employment Drafted by university professors and social scientists these surveys defined much of the denazification experience and were immensely consequential to the material and emotional recovery of Germans In Everyday Denazification in Postwar Germany Mikkel Dack draws the curtain to reveal what denazification looked like on the ground and in practice and how the highly criticized vetting program impacted the lives of individual Germans and their families as they recovered from the war Accessing recently declassified documents this book challenges traditional interpretations by illustrating the positive elements of the denazification campaign and recounting a more comprehensive history one of mid level Allied planners civil affairs soldiers and regular German citizens The Fragebogen functions as a window into this everyday history

Losing Site Dr Shelley Hornstein, 2013-06-28 As Ruskin suggests in his Seven Lamps of Architecture We may live without architecture and worship without her but we cannot remember without her We remember best when we experience an event in a place But what happens when we leave that place or that place no longer exists This book addresses the relationship between memory and place and asks how architecture captures and triggers memory It explores how architecture exists as a material object and how it registers as a place that we come to remember beyond the physical site itself It questions what architecture is in the broadest sense assuming that it is not simply buildings Rather architecture is considered to be the mapping of physical mental or emotional space The idea that we are all architects in some measure as we actively organize and select pathways and markers within space is central to this book's premise Each chapter provides a different example of the manifold ways in which the physical place of architecture is curated by the architecture in our mental space our imaginary toolbox when we think of a place and look at a photograph or visit a site and describe it later or send a postcard By connecting architecture with other disciplines such as geography visual culture sociology and urban studies as well as the fine and performing arts this book puts forward the idea that a conversation about architecture is not exclusively about formal isolated buildings but instead must be deepened and broadened as spatialized visualizations and experiences of place
