Airline Executives and Federal Regulation Walter David Lewis,2000 This book is a collection of eight case studies of relationships between airline executives and federal regulatory agencies from the passage of the Air Commerce Act in 1926 to the Airline Deregulation Act of 1978 By focusing on the lives and personalities of individual entrepreneurs W David Lewis and his contributors hope to explore the interaction between technology government regulation and entrepreneurship Each essay in the book focuses on a particular airline executive such as Eddie Rickenbacker Robert Six and Donald Nyrop Lewis has been careful to give a variety of perspective Airlines of various types are represented large and small scheduled and unscheduled Some of the executives profiled were known for having adversative relationships with federal regulators whereas others wholeheartedly accepted regulation and thrived under it There have been public calls for a return to airline regulation and Lewis thinks it is not inconceivable that regulation may ultimately return if problems continue and conditions deteriorate further But he say s it is well to remember that deregulation occurred because there were flaws in the regulatory system it replaced This collection of essays scholarly and well documented but written in a lively style suitable for specialists and nonspecialists alike provides a long range perspective on the issue of airline deregulation web solution we use the relation $n = \frac{t}{t_{1/2}} \ln \frac{N_0}{N}$ where n is the number of half-lives, t is the time, $t_{1/2}$ is the half-life, N_0 is the initial mass, and N is the final mass. For example, if a sample of 100 g of a substance with a half-life of 4 days decays to 30 g, we can find the time t by rearranging the equation to $t = t_{1/2} \frac{\ln(N_0/N)}{\ln 2}$. In this case, $t = 4 \frac{\ln(100/30)}{\ln 2} \approx 16$ days.
