Soldiers and Oil Keith Panter-Brick, 2025-12-15 Soldiers and Oil 1978 examines Nigeria under military rule from 1966 to 1978 a period of political change as the army took control of the country as well as economic the period also saw a twenty fold increase in Nigerian oil revenues

Soldiers and Oil Keith Panter-Brick, 2023-10-12 Soldiers and Oil 1978 examines Nigeria under military rule from 1966 to 1978 a period of political change as well as economic the period also saw a twenty fold increase in Nigerian oil revenues The oil industry became by far the greatest single source of public revenue and the distribution of oil wealth by the central federal government fundamentally changed the economics of the federated states created by the military government whose financial autonomy had been so jealously guarded

The Changing Forms of Identity Politics in Nigeria Under Economic Adjustment Cyril I. Obi, 2001 The Niger delta region of Nigeria which is at the heart of the country's oil industry has a long history of struggles for self determination dating back to the early years of the 20 superscript th century In the 1980s and 1990s these struggles unfolding as they did within the context of military authoritarianism and structural adjustment took the form of widespread agitation for greater control by local communities of the revenues accruing to the Nigerian state from exploration and extraction of oil This study attempts to capture the transformations in ethnic minority identity politics in the oil producing areas of the Niger delta In doing this attention is simultaneously drawn to the factors informing the shift from peaceful agitation to violent protest as well as the dynamic of decay and renewal in the various ethnic minority movements that are active in the delta It is suggested that part of the solution to the crisis in the delta will involve not only a thorough going restructuring of the Nigerian state but also the re orientation of the mode of operation of the giant oil multinationals in order to make them both more sensitive and accountable to the local communities

Federal Presence in Nigeria. The 'Sung' and 'Unsung' Basis for Ethnic Grievance Festus O. Egwaikhide, Victor A. Isumonah, Olumide S. Ayodele, 2009 Minorities of the oil producing states are seriously disturbed by the inequity that is apparent from the existing principles of revenue allocation in Nigeria In taking issues with them and other southern advocates of new revenue allocation criteria the dominant north's organic intellectuals have always relied on the obvious concentration of economic and commercial activities in southern Nigeria to refute the argument that the north is the greater beneficiary of Nigeria's wealth Scholarly contribution to the ethno regional debate on the equity of resource allocation has been anchored to the same popular platform namely the criteria for inter governmental revenue allocation It is as if they absolutely embody the revelation about equity or inequity of resource allocation in Nigeria where the federal government has retained between 48.5 per cent and 56 per cent of the federation account let alone revenues unpaid into this account This study marks a departure from the orthodox focus on Nigeria's ethnic problems including the contentious demand of the southern minorities for an increase in the weight assigned the principle of derivation by examining federal expenditures to determine the distribution of federal presence and thus winners and losers bearing in mind that the entire country is federal government's coverage

High Stakes and Stakeholders Kenneth Omeje, 2017-03-02 Nigeria is Africa's largest oil producing country. Oil generates enormous wealth but also extensive and devastating conflict in the country. High Stakes and Stakeholders critically explores the oil conflict in Nigeria, its evolution, dynamics, and most significantly, the interplay and consequences of high stake politics for the reproduction and persistence of the conflict. It presents a conceptual anatomy of state-oil industry-society relations and demonstrates how the embedded material interests and accumulation patterns of different stakeholders underlie, shape, and complicate both the oil conflict and security. In addition, the book provides key insights into comparable conflicts elsewhere in the global south, developing a logical framework for resolving the oil conflict in Nigeria and for reforming the security sector. This book is valuable reading material for courses in international political economy, social ecology, development studies, African politics, conflict and security studies, and environmental law and management. It will also be of interest to policy practitioners, civil societies, and the oil industry.

The Local Relevance of Human Rights Koen De Feyter, Stephan Parmentier, Christiane Timmerman, George Ulrich, 2011-09-08 Do human rights offer real protection when disadvantaged groups invoke them at the local level in an attempt to improve their living conditions? If so, how can we make sure that the experiences of those invoking human rights at the local level have an impact on the further development of human rights at national and other levels so that the local relevance of human rights increases? Since the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) on 10 December 1948, numerous international documents have reaffirmed human rights as global norms. This book examines what factors determine whether appeals to human rights that emanate from the local level are successful and whether the UDHR adequately responds to threats as currently defined by relevant groups or whether a revision of some of the ideas included in the UDHR is needed in order to increase its contemporary relevance.

Obasanjo, Nigeria and the World John Iliffe, 2011 Olusegun Obasanjo has been the most important and controversial figure in Nigeria's first 50 years of independence and the most powerful African of his time. John Iliffe examines Olusegun Obasanjo's complex personality and the extreme controversy he arouses among Nigerians and illustrates the immense demands made on a leader of a state like Nigeria.

Illusions of Power Julius Omozuanvbo Ihonvbere, Timothy M. Shaw, 1998 A contemporary account of the traumas, dialects, and dynamics of Nigeria's distinctive political economy. With an analysis located in Nigeria's pre-colonial, colonial, and neo-colonial history, the authors examine the dynamics of the various pre-capitalistic communities of modern-day Nigeria, emphasising the autonomy, creativity, and alignments of social and political forces in the processes of market consolidation, state, and class formation.

No Farewell To Arms? Claude Welch, 2019-04-11 In many contemporary nations, particularly in Africa, Asia, and Latin America, the armed forces play a major role in governing. Historical, economic, and sociological factors have contributed to the political prominence of the military in developing countries. Nevertheless, in the 1980s, several states in Latin America restored civilian

A History of Africa John Fage, with William Tordoff, 2013-10-23 A History of Africa is a thorough narrative history of the continent from its beginnings to the twenty first century Long established at the forefront of African Studies this book addresses the events of the 1990s and beyond The issues discussed include post apartheid South Africa the prospects for democratization in Africa at the beginning of the new millennium developments in Muslim North Africa including the threat of Islamic fundamentalism economic and social developments including the devastating impact of Third World debt and the provision of debt relief cultural environmental and gender issues in Modern Africa Extractive Economies and Conflicts in the Global South Kenneth Omeje, 2017-11-28 The majority of developing countries in the Global South are evidently rich in natural resources but paradoxically blighted by excruciating poverty and conflicts This paradox of deprivation and war in the midst of plenteous resources has been the subject of great debate in international political economy in contemporary history This book contributes to the debate by examining the underlying structures actors and contexts of rentier politics and how they often produce and aggravate conflicts in the various extractive economies and regions of the Global South The book critically explores the theories of rentier economies and natural resource conflicts as well as the practical ramifications of rentier politics in the Global South with all their resonance for political economy and security in the Global North Post Report, 1992 Series of pamphlets on countries of the world revisions issued Oil, Politics and Violence Max Siollun, 2009 An insider traces the details of hope and ambition gone wrong in the Giant of Africa Nigeria Africa's most populous country When it gained independence from Britain in 1960 hopes were high that with mineral wealth and over 140 million people the most educated workforce in Africa Nigeria would become Africa's first superpower and a stabilizing democratic influence in the region However these lofty hopes were soon dashed and the country lumbered from crisis to crisis with the democratic government eventually being overthrown in a violent military coup in January 1966 From 1966 until 1999 the army held onto power almost uninterrupted under a succession of increasingly authoritarian military governments and army coups Military coups and military rule which began as an emergency aberration became a seemingly permanent feature of Nigerian politics. The author names names and explores how British influence aggravated indigenous rivalries. He shows how various factions in the military were able to hold onto power and resist civil and international pressure for democratic governance by exploiting the country's oil wealth and ethnic divisions to its advantage. Territory and Power in Constitutional Transitions George Anderson, Sujit Choudhry, 2019-03-07

This collection of essays surveys the full range of challenges that territorial conflicts pose for constitution making processes and constitutional design. It provides seventeen in depth case studies of countries going through periods of intense constitutional engagement in a variety of contexts: small distinct territories, bi-communal countries, highly diverse countries with many politically salient regions, and countries where territorial politics is important but secondary to other bases for political mobilization. Specific examples are drawn from Iraq, Kenya, Cyprus, Nigeria, South Africa, Sri Lanka, the UK, Scotland, Ukraine, Bolivia, India, Spain, Yemen, Nepal, Ethiopia, Indonesia, Aceh, the Philippines, Mindanao, and Bosnia Herzegovina. While the volume draws significant normative conclusions, it is based on a realist view of the complexity of territorial and other political cleavages, the country's political geometry, and the power configurations that lead into periods of constitutional engagement. Thematic chapters on constitution making processes and constitutional design draw original conclusions from the comparative analysis of the case studies and relate these to the existing literature both in political science and comparative constitutional law. This volume is essential reading for scholars of federalism, consociational power sharing arrangements, asymmetrical devolution, and devolution more generally. The combination of in depth case studies and broad thematic analysis allows for analytical and normative conclusions that will be of major relevance to practitioners and advisors engaged in constitutional design.
