National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1973 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Modern Dogma and the Rhetoric of Assent Wayne C. Booth,1974-10-15 When should I change my mind What can I believe and what must I doubt In this new philosophy of good reasons Wayne C Booth exposes five dogmas of modernism that have too often inhibited efforts to answer these questions Modern dogmas teach that you cannot reason about values and that the job of thought is to doubt whatever can be doubted and they leave those who accept them crippled in their efforts to think and talk together about whatever concerns them most They have willed upon us a befouled rhetorical climate in which people are driven to two self destructive extremes defenders of reason becoming confined to ever narrower notions of logical or experimental proof and defenders of values becoming more and more irresponsible in trying to defend the heart the gut or the gonads Booth traces the consequences of modernist assumptions through a wide range of inquiry and action in politics art music literature and in personal efforts to find identity or a self In casting doubt on systematic doubt the author finds that the dogmas are being questioned in almost every modern discipline Suggesting that they be replaced with a rhetoric of systematic assent Booth discovers a vast neglected reservoir of good reasons many of them known to classical students of rhetoric some still to be explored These good reasons are here restored to intellectual respectability suggesting the possibility of widespread new inquiry in all fields into the question When should I change my mind

The Poetics of Empowerment in David Mitchell's Novels Eva-Maria Windberger, 2023-07-17 The Poetics of Empowerment in David Mitchell's Novels combines the investigation of David Mitchell's novels with the introduction of a new critical concept to literary studies empowerment. Shamanism and the Eighteenth Century Gloria Flaherty, 2014-07-14 Pursuing special experiences that take them to the brink of permanent madness or death men and women in every age have returned to heal and comfort their fellow human beings and these shamans have fascinated students of society from Herodotus to Mircea Eliade. Gloria Flaherty's book is about the first Western encounters with shamanic peoples and practices. Flaherty makes us see the eighteenth century as an age in which explorers were fascinating all Europe with tales of shamans who accomplished a self-induced cure for a self-induced fit. Reports from what must have seemed a forbidden world of strange rites and moral licentiousness came from botanists geographers missionaries and other travelers of the period and these accounts created such a stir that they permeated café talk journal articles and learned debates giving rise to plays encyclopedia articles art and operas about shamanism. The first part of the book describes in rich detail how information about shamanism entered the intellectual mainstream of the eighteenth century. In the second part Flaherty analyzes the artistic and critical implications of that process. In so doing she offers remarkable chapters on Diderot Herder Goethe and the cult of the genius of Mozart as well as a chapter devoted to a new reading of Goethe's Faust that views Faust as the modern shaman.
