The Americanization Syndrome Robert A. Carlson, 2022-11-16 The Americanization Syndrome 1987 examines the historical role of education in the process of Americanization It argues that beginning with seventeenth century puritan leaders such as John Winthrop and Cotton Maher the pattern of American education has been not the promotion of a blend of different cultures but the indoctrination of norms of belief of religion politics and economics and an explicit discouragement of cultural variety It traces the political role of education at key junctures of American history after Independence in the reconstruction of the South after the Civil War in the establishment of settlement houses and the use of scientific management techniques by employers The author focuses on the period 1900 1925 when new waves of immigrants from southern and eastern Europe led to a new drive for orthodoxy

Stepping Stones John E. Milnes, Jan M. Milnes, 2016-02-19 With the emergence of the Industrial Revolution in Great Britain came increased riches for the wealthy and desperate poverty for the poor The Industrial Revolution was in fact the creation of mass production of goods previously generated by cottage industries Large numbers of rural people followed the job route becoming the new urban poor As a result of many varied reasons hordes of children found themselves living on the streets of the cities The British Government in a valiant attempt to help these lost souls entered into an agreement with the Canadian Government resulting in large numbers of British children emigrating to Canada in the new world These were to become known as the British Home Children because they largely started out in a philanthropic home Some even migrated through other means as will be seen in the case of John Buchan a significant character in this novel The authors determined that the wealth of books presently available did not truly reflect the reality of the situation to which these children were subjected

Through this novel they hope to generate a greater interest in the children who were to play a large part in forming the demographic of an emerging nation In Ontario alone 1 in 10 are believed to be descendants of these children Continent,1917 Annual Report of the Commissioner - General of Immigration United States.
