The Earp Decision:

Decisions and Orders of the National Labor Relations Board United States. National Labor Relations Board, 1987

Hazardous Decisions D. Huitema, 2005-12-15 where Jeremy Richardson Albert Weale and Hugh Ward were excellent hosts at the Department of Government and Thomas Christiansen a very good roommate Having included the UK as a country where decision processes were far less participatory and thus worse in my own view than those in the Netherlands I started doing my first interviews there which were mainly intended to identify suitable case studies for research But then I read a highly critical review of a book that had a similar topic as my study The critique was that cases of hazardous waste siting cannot adequately be studied without understanding their national context This made me decide to devote some attention to the legal context of hazardous waste siting in the three countries of interest which is of course only a part of the national context and its development through the years The study of the UK system of environmental regulation and land use planning was not a simple issue and I was warned various times for instance by Andrew Blowers at the Open University that the legislation was highly complex and easily misinterpreted I felt personally touched by such warnings and decided that I should perhaps approach the UK system a bit less as an evil empire and maybe be a bit more objective in my appraisals

Federal Trade Commission Decisions United States. Federal Trade Commission, 1952 Counterpunch Meg Frisbee, 2016-05-02 Boxing was popular in the American West long before Las Vegas became its epicenter However not everyone in the region was a fan Counterpunch examines how the sport's meteoric rise in popularity in the West ran concurrently with a growing backlash among Progressive Era social reformers who saw boxing as barbaric These tensions created a morality war that pitted state officials against city leaders boxing promoters against social reformers and fans against religious groups Historian Meg Frisbee focuses on several legendary heavyweight prizefights of the period and the protests they inspired to explain why western geography economy and culture ultimately helped the sport's supporters defeat its detractors A fascinating look at early American boxing Counterpunch showcases fighters such as Gentleman Jim Corbett Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Johnson the first African American heavyweight champ and it provides an entertaining way to understand both the growth of the American West and the history of this popular and controversial sport California.
