Marshall, 2017-07-05 Sculpture and the Museum is the first in depth examination of the varying roles and meanings assigned to sculpture in museums and galleries during the modern period from neo classical to contemporary art practice It considers a rich array of curatorial strategies and settings in order to examine the many reasons why sculpture has enjoyed a position of such considerable importance and complexity within the institutional framework of the museum and how changes to the museum have altered in turn the ways that we perceive the sculpture within it In particular the contributors consider the complex issue of how best to display sculpture across different periods and according to varying curatorial philosophies Sculptors discussed include Canova Rodin Henry Moore Flaxman and contemporary artists such as Rebecca Horn Rachel Whiteread Mark Dion and Olafur Eliasson with a variety of museums in America Canada and Europe presented as case studies Underlying all of these discussions is a concern to chart the critical importance of the acquisition placement and display of sculpture in museums and to explore the importance of sculptures as a forum for the expression of programmatic statements of power prestige and the museum's own sense of itself in relation to its audiences and its broader institutional aspirations     The Great Boston Collectors Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, Carol Troyen, Pamela S. sea captains Gilded Age millionaires curators on horseback and missionaries gone native North American museums now possess the greatest collections of Chinese art outside of East Asia itself How did it happen The China Collectors is the first full account of a century long treasure hunt in China from the Opium Wars and the Boxer Rebellion to Mao Zedong's 1949 ascent The principal gatherers are mostly little known and defy invention They included foreign devils who braved desert sandstorms bandits and local warlords in acquiring significant works Adventurous curators like Langdon Warner a forebear of Indiana Jones argued that the caves of Dunhuang were already threatened by vandals thereby justifying the removal of frescoes and sculptures Other Americans include George Kates an alumnus of Harvard Oxford and Hollywood who fell in love with Ming furniture The Chinese were divided between dealers who profited from the artworks removal and scholars who sought to protect their country's patrimony Duanfang the greatest Chinese collector of his era was beheaded in a coup and his splendid bronzes now adorn major museums Others in this rich tapestry include Charles Lang Freer an enlightened Detroit entrepreneur two generations of Rockefellers and Avery Brundage the imperious Olympian and Arthur Sackler the grand acquirer No less important are two museum directors Cleveland's Sherman Lee and Kansas City's Laurence Sickman who challenged the East Coast's hegemony Shareen Blair Brysac and Karl E Meyer even handedly consider whether ancient treasures were looted or salvaged and whether it was morally acceptable to spirit hitherto inaccessible objects westward where they could be studied and preserved by trained museum personnel And how should the US and Canada and their museums respond now that China has the means and will to reclaim its missing patrimony

The Great Chinese Art Transfer Michael St. Clair, 2016-04-01 This book tells the story of how and why millions of Chinese works of art got exported to collectors and institutions in the West in particular to the United States As China's last dynasty was weakening and collapsing from 1860 into the early years of the twentieth century China's internal chaos allowed imperial and private Chinese collections to be scattered looted and sold A remarkable and varied group of Westerners entered the country had their eyes opened to centuries of Chinese creativity and gathered up paintings bronzes and ceramics as well as sculptures jades and bronzes The migration to America and Europe of China's art is one of the greatest outflows of a culture's artistic heritage in human history A good deal of the art procured by collectors and dealers some famous and others little known but all remarkable in individual ways eventually wound up in American and European museums Today some of the art still in private hands is returning to China via international auctions and aggressive purchases by Chinese millionaires

Modern Japanese Art and the Meiji State Dōshin Satō, 2011 This is an insightful and intelligent re thinking of Japanese art history its Western influences This broad ranging and profoundly influential analysis describes how Western art institutions and vocabulary were transplanted to Japan in the late nineteenth century In the 1870 80s artists and government administrators in Japan encountered the Western system of the arts for the first time Under pressure to exhibit and sell its artistic products abroad Japan's new Meiji government came face to face with the need to create European style art schools and museums and even to establish Japanese words for art painting artist and sculpture Modern Japanese Art is a full re conceptualization of the field of Japanese art history exposing the politics through which the words categories and values that structure our understanding of the field came to be while revealing the historicity of Western and non Western art history Painting in Boston, 1950-2000 Rachel Rosenfield Lafo, Nicholas J. Capasso, Jennifer Uhrhane, 2002 The book includes essays by five experts in the field presenting and analyzing the work of sixty seven artists Rachel Rosenfield Lafo introduces the reader to the Boston art scene from the academic institutions that have nourished the area s painters to the galleries where their work has been shown to the museums exhibitions and critics that have shaped public opinion Writing about the realist tradition that has thrived in Boston for over three hundred years John Stomberg focuses on a group of painters of widely differing styles who have redefined realism in modern and contemporary terms BOOK JACKET Daitokuji Gregory P. A. Levine, 2005 The Zen Buddhist monastery Daitokuji in Kyoto has long been revered as a cloistered meditation centre a repository of art treasures and a wellspring of the Zen aesthetic Gregory Levine s Daitokuji unsettles these conventional notions with groundbreaking inquiry into the significant and surprising visual and social identities of sculpture painting and calligraphy associated with this fourteenth century monastery and its enduring monastic and lay communities The book begins with a study of Zen portraiture at Daitokuji that reveals the precariousness of portrait likeness the face that gazes out from an abbot s painting or statue may not be who we expect it to be or submit quietly to interpretation By tracing the life of Daitokuji s famed statue of the chanoyu patriarch Sen no Riky u 1522 91 which was all but destroyed by the ruler Toyotomi Hideyoshi 1537 98 but survived in Rash omon like narratives and reconstituted sculptural forms Levine throws light upon the contested status of images and their mytho poetic potential Levine then draws from the seventeenth century journal of K ogetsu S ogan Bokuseki no utsushi to explore practices of calligraphy connoisseurship at Daitokuji and the pivotal role played by the monastery s abbots within Kyoto art circles The book s final section explores Daitokuji s annual airings of temple treasures not merely as a practice geared toward preservation but also as a space in which different communities vie for authority over the artistic past An epilogue follows the peripatetic journey of the monastery s scrolls of the 500 Luohan from China to Japan to exhibition and partial sale in the West and back to Daitokuji Illuminating canonical and heretofore ignored works and mining a trove of documents diaries and modern writings Levine argues for the plurality of Daitokuji s visual arts and the breadth of social and ritual circumstances of art making and viewing within the monastery This diversity encourages reconsideration of stereotyped notions of Zen art and offers specialists and general readers alike opportunity to explore the fertile and sometimes volatile nexus of the visual arts and religious sites in Japan The Print-collector's Quarterly A. Bulletin ,1922      The Emergence of the Korean Art Collector and the Korean Art Market Charlotte Horlyck,2024-08-29 Articulating the shifting interests in Korean art and offering new ways of conceiving the biases that initiated and impacted its collecting this book traces the rise of the modern Korean art market from its formative period in the 1870s through to its peak and subsequent decline in the 1930s The discussion centres on the collecting of Kory celadon ceramics as they formed the focal point of commercial exchanges of Korean artefacts and explores how their acquisition and ownership formed part of the complex power relationship that played out between the Koreans Japanese Americans and Europeans Drawing on a wide range of primary sources the volume analyses collectors acquisition practices arguing that their fascination with ceramics from the Kory kingdom 918 1392 was shaped not only by the aesthetic appeal of the objects but also by biased perceptions of the Korean peninsula its history and people The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history social history cultural history Korean studies collection studies museum studies Korean history and Asian studies The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license      Annual Report National Endowment for the Arts,1994 Reports for 1980 19 also include the Annual report of the National Council on the Arts
