The Great Land Hustle:

The Great Land Hustle Morton C. Paulson, 1972 The Great Land Groaned Yefu, 2024-03-19 On May 12 2008 a Magnitude 8 earthquake struck China's Sichuan Province the deadliest tremor to hit China since 1976 Felt as far away as Beijing and Shanghai the earthquake took nearly 70 000 lives and made an estimated 5 million people homeless Drawing concern and aid from all across China and throughout the world the earthquake summoned an unprecedented spirit of cooperation as people swarmed to the affected areas to assist in relief efforts At the same time the disaster laid bare weaknesses in the system as well as conflicts and resentments that had long been festering beneath the surface of rural society Carrying out research on rural governance in one of the affected counties at the time the writer Yefu stayed behind to observe how local officials dealt with the aftermath of the disaster Through a combination of sociological observation historical anecdotes and stirring narrative Yefu describes efforts to rebuild not only the physical structures of the disaster zone but also the spirit of its inhabitants HUD Challenge, 1973 Routledge Library Editions: Urban Planning Various, 2021-06-23 The volumes in this set originally published between 1970 and 1998 draw together research by leading academics in the area of urban planning and provide a rigorous examination of related key issues The volumes examine teaching urban markets planning transport planning poverty politics forecasting techniques and an examination of the inner city in Europe and the US whilst also exploring the general principles and practices of planning This set will be of particular interest to students of sociology geography planning and urbanization respectively Urbanization and Urban Planning in Capitalist Society Michael Dear, Allen Scott, 2018-06-12 Originally published in 1981 Urbanization and Urban Planning in Capitalist Society is a comprehensive collection of papers addressing urban crises Through a synthesis of current discussions around various critical approaches to the urban question the book defines a general theory of urbanization and urban planning in capitalist society It examines the conceptual preliminaries necessary for the establishment of capitalist theory and provides a theoretical exposition of the fundamental logic of urbanization and urban planning It also provides a detailed discussion of commodity production and its effects on urban development Westward in Eden William K. Wyant, 2023-11-15 This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1982 Justice in Climate Action Planning Brian Petersen, Hélène B. Ducros, 2021-12-01 This edited volume examines how climate action plans engage justice at the scale of the city Recent events in the United States make the context particularly ripe for a discussion of justice in urban climate politics On the one hand the emergence of the Black Lives Matter movement George Floyd's death and the prominence of racial discrimination in the public realm have mainstreamed the notion of justice On the other hand the dire consequences of increased frequency and severity of climate events on vulnerable segments of urban populations are undeniable While some cities have been proactive about integrating justice in their climate action planning in most places an explicit and systematic link between both spheres has been lacking This book explores this interface as it seeks to understand how cities can respond to climate change in a just way and for just outcomes While resilience strategies based on development may engage historic inequities they may at the same time result in marginalizing certain populations through various processes from mismatched solutions to outright exclusion and climate gentrification By identifying how certain populations are included in or excluded from climate action planning practices the chapters in this volume draw on case studies to outline the differential outcomes of climate action in American cities also proposing a template for comparative work beyond the US The authors tackle the debate about how justice is or is not integrated in climate action plans and assess practical implications while also making theoretical and methodological contributions As it fills a gap in the literature at the intersection of justice and climate action the book produces new insights for a wide ranging audience students practitioners policy makers planners the non profit sector and scholars in geography urban planning urban studies environmental studies ecology political science or anthropology Along five axes of investigation theory resilience equity community and comparison as method the contributors offer various pathways into the intersection between urban climate action and different understandings of justice Collectively they invite a reflection that can lead to practical initiatives in climate mitigation while also advancing the theorization of social justice to account for the urban as a node where in justice plays out and can be addressed with significant results
