The Environment Between Theory and Practice Avner de-Shalit, 2000-03-10 Why is there a gap between the questions that environmental philosophers discuss and the issues that motivate environmental activists The author attempts to bridge this gap by combining tools of political philosophy with questions of environmental ethics and politics He defends a radical position in relations to environmental protection and social policies in order to put forward a political theory which is not only philosophically sound but also relevant to the practice of environmental activism He argues that several directions in environmental ethics can be at odds with the contemporary political debates surrounding environmental politics He then goes on to examine the environmental scope of the political theories of liberalism communitarianism participatory democracy and socialism and concludes that the last two are crucial for protecting the environment More Heat than Life: The
