The Groundwork Of Christian Ethics:

The Groundwork of Christian Ethics Norman Hamilton Galloway Robinson, 1972 Many theologians as well as many philosophers may be heard today asserting that there neither is nor can be any such thing as a uniquely Christian ethical system On the one hand it is argued that an ethic based on revelation must be inherently static unable to respond to new demands and situations but if the ethical code is little more than a refinement of so called natural law or natural morality then there is no reason to term it Christian In consequence most of the current discussion in the field of ethics addresses itself almost exclusively to a consideration of such specific issues as war sex abortion or mercy killing Professor N H G Robinson however turns his attention to the basic question of what Christian ethics really is Morality Robinson argues was not created by Christianity but exists independently all men are subject to it whatever their belief This fundamental truth about human beings is of profound significance for theology which must continue to insist upon an objective moral code We will never understand Christian ethics Robinson asserts until we accept the doctrine of natural morality But there can hardly be two moralities one natural and the other supernatural each competing for our obedience Rejecting both the medieval and the post Reformation approaches to the relationship of natural and Christian ethics Robinson looks to the redemptive nature of Christian revelation for his answer Moral standards are not merely imposed upon us nor do we invent them we discover them their authority depends on their existing independently of us It is the entry of redemptive revelation into the system of moral philosophy that creates what Robinson describes as natural morality judged reoriented and transformed and brought under the forgiving and reconciling lordship of Christ which constitutes the Christian life Here then is no inflexible static code incapable of responding to change Rather Robinson describes a creative ethic that is objective normative and theocentric a morality always in the making it is a way of life not a closed system Moral rules he overserves are yesterday s moral solutions Teh Groundwork of Christian Ethics is a major contribution to the field of Christian ethics which no serious student can afford to overlook Publisher Groundwork of Christian Ethics Richard G.
