Showman, 1974 Editions for 1954 and 1967 by O Handlin and others New Dimensions in Rural Policy, 1986 In the Wake of the Giant Max H. Kirsch, 1998-07-10 Contrasting native and outsider points of view this book explores the contemporary realities of work development and redevelopment in Pittsfield Massachusetts a New England community undergoing rapid industrial restructuring The Cambridge Economic History of the United States Stanley L. Engerman, Robert E. Gallman, 1996 Volume III surveys the economic history of the United States and Canada during the twentieth century The Boston Renaissance Barry Bluestone, Mary Huff Stevenson, 2000-06-29 This volume documents metropolitan Boston's metamorphosis from a casualty of manufacturing decline in the 1970s to a paragon of the high tech and service industries in the 1990s The city's rebound has been part of a wider regional renaissance as new commercial centers have sprung up outside the city limits A stream of immigrants have flowed into the area redrawing the map of ethnic relations in the city While Boston's vaunted mind based economy rewards the highly educated many unskilled workers have also found opportunities servicing the city's growing health and education industries Boston's renaissance remains uneven and the authors identify a variety of handicaps low education unstable employment single parenthood that still hold minorities back Nonetheless this book presents Boston as a hopeful example of how America's older cities can reinvent themselves in the wake of suburbanization and deindustrialization A Volume in the Multi City Study of Urban Inequality The Chicopee Manufacturing Company, 1823-1915 John Michael Cudd, 1974 The Senator from New England Sean J. Savage, 2015-06-11 Chronicles JFK's growing confidence and ambition while a member of the US Senate John F Kennedy's path to the presidency began during his eight years of service in the United States Senate In The Senator from New England Sean J Savage contends that Kennedy initially pursued a centrist bipartisan course in his rhetoric and policy behavior regarding the regional policy interests of New England Following his narrow defeat for the Democratic vice presidential nomination in 1956 and his nationwide speaking campaign for Adlai Stevenson JFK's rhetoric and policy behavior became more partisan and liberal especially during the 1958 midterm elections While JFK claimed that he still protected and promoted the policy interests of New England on a bipartisan basis he used his speaking engagements to interact with Democratic politicians throughout New England in an effort to secure the entire region's delegate votes at the 1960 Democratic National Convention Based on the use of primary sources archives and special collections from four presidential libraries the Library of Congress Boston College the Margaret Chase Smith Library the Massachusetts Historical Society and other institutions The Senator from New England provides an unrivaled glimpse into Kennedy's Senate career and early presidential campaign strategy Sean Savage's masterful account of the early political career of John F Kennedy takes a commanding place in the multitude of Kennedy biographies With his focus on Kennedy as a US Senator and his complex relationship with President Eisenhower and major figures in his own party Savage illuminates the ambition and shrewdness of this rising star of American politics and adds nuance and complexity to our picture of JFK Ross K Baker author of Is Bipartisanship Dead A Report from the Senate Asking how John F Kennedy extricated himself from sometimes sordid and provincial state and regional politics to become an inspiring national leader The Senator from New England provides new insights into the forces and strategies that propelled Kennedy into the presidency Donald A Ritchie author of The U S Congress A Very Short Introduction Remaking Boston Anthony N. Penna, Conrad Edick Wright, 2009 Remaking Boston chronicles many of the events that altered the physical landscape of Boston while also offering multidisciplinary perspectives on the environmental history of one of America's oldest and largest metropolitan areas Regional Economic Problems A. J. Brown, E. M. Burrows, 2017-08-25 Originally published in 1977 This book provides the first concise non technical account of what the main kinds of regional problems are how they arise and the kinds of policy which have been used to tackle them in the UK USA and Western Europe The book starts with a discussion of why regional problems really are situations which call for special action followed by a short preliminary classification of problem regions including those in the less developed countries then on to a more detailed survey of the origins and experience of selected problem regions in the more developed market economies The authors focus on four broad kinds of problem region agricultural regions coal mining regions old textile regions and so called congested regions They conclude with a selective survey of regional policies in these more advanced economies distinguishing and comparing the main trends and the different national styles
