prevalent in human thought while metaphorical structures are reflected at the linguistic level Therefore analysing extensive language data can aid in revealing the metaphorical mappings of embodied experience with the senses of vision hearing smell taste touch and temperature This volume seeks to discover the similarities and differences between the metaphorical systems of the English and Chinese languages Adopting a comparative view the authors examine the semantic extensions of perception words in English and Chinese in order to reveal the metaphorical scope of each sense and the metaphorical system behind it They argue that the metaphorical systems of the senses not only help us understand and use conventionalised metaphorical expressions but also allow us to create novel expressions The findings also unveil how abstract concepts are constructed via cognitive mechanisms such as image schema and metaphor This title is a useful
