

A Soldier

He is that fallen lance that lies as hurled,
That lies unlifted now, come dew, come rust,
But still lies pointed as it plowed the dust.
If we who sight along it round the world,
See nothing worthy to have been its mark,
It is because like men we look too near,
Forgetting that as fitted to the sphere,
Our missiles always make too short an arc.
They fall, they rip the grass, they intersect

The curve of earth, and striking, break their own;
They make us cringe for metal-point on stone.
But this we know, the obstacle that checked
And tripped the body, shot the spirit on Further than target ever showed or shone.

Soldier Come Home War Poetry:

Soldier Come Home Hope Morritt, 1989 The Hell of War Comes Home Owen W. Gilman Jr., 2018-02-09 Owen W. Gilman Jr stresses the US experience of war in the twenty first century and argues that wherever and whenever there is war there will be imaginative responses to it especially the recent wars in Afghanistan and Iraq Since the trauma of September 11 the experience of Americans at war has been rendered honestly and fully in a wide range of texts creative nonfiction and journalism film poetry and fiction These responses Gilman contends have packed a lot of power and measure up even to World War II s literature and film Like few other books Gilman s volume studies these new texts among them Kevin Powers s debut novel The Yellow Birds and Phil Klay s short stories Redeployment along with the films The Hurt Locker American Sniper and Billy Lynn s Long Halftime Walk For perspective Gilman also looks at some touchstones from the Vietnam War Compared to a few of the big Vietnam books and films this new material has mostly been read and watched by small audiences and generated less discussion Gilman exposes the circumstances in American culture currently preventing literature and film of our recent wars from making a significant impact He contends that Americans inclination to demand distraction limits learning from these compelling responses to war in the past decade According to Gilman where there should be clarity and depth of knowledge we instead face misunderstanding and the anguish endured by veterans betrayed by war and our lack of understanding The Joseph M. Brucoli Great War Collection at the University of South Carolina Elizabeth A. Sudduth, 2005 Brucoli Great War Collection at the University of South Carolina An Illustrated Catalogue provides a reference tool for the study of one of the great watershed moments in history on both sides of the Atlantic serving historians researchers and collectors Suffering and Sentiment in Romantic Military Art Philip Shaw, 2017-07-05 In a moving intervention into Romantic era depictions of the dead and wounded Philip Shaw s timely study directs our gaze to the neglected figure of the common soldier How suffering and sentiment were portrayed in a variety of visual and verbal media is Shaw s particular concern as he examines a wide range of print and visual media from paintings to sketches to political prose and anti war poetry and from writings on culture and aesthetics to graphic satires and early photographs Whilst classical portraiture and history painting certainly conspired with official ideologies to deflect attention from the true costs of war other works of art literary as well as visual proffered representations that countered the view that suffering on and off the battlefield is noble or heroic Shaw uncovers a history of changing attitudes towards suffering from mid eighteenth century ambivalence to late eighteenth and early nineteenth century concepts of moral sentiment Thus Shaw s story is one of how images of death and wounding facilitated and queried these shifts in the perception of war qualifying as well as consolidating ideas of individual and national unanimity Informed by readings of the letters and journals of serving soldiers surgeons notebooks and sketches and the writings of peace and war agitators Shaw s study shows how an attention to the depiction of suffering and the development of liberal sentiment enables a reconfiguring of historical and theoretical notions of the body as

Ganguly contends that global literature coalesced into its current form in 1989 an event marked by the convergence of three major trends the consolidation of the information age the arrival of a perpetual state of global war and the expanding focus on humanitarianism Ganguly analyzes a trove of novels from authors including Salman Rushdie Don DeLillo Michael Ondaatje and Art Spiegelman who address wars in Iraq Afghanistan and Sri Lanka the Palestinian and Kashmiri crises the Rwandan genocide and post9 11 terrorism These novels exist in a context in which suffering s presence in everyday life is mediated through digital images and where authors integrate visual forms into their storytelling In showing how the evolution of the contemporary global novel is analogous to the European novel s emergence in the eighteenth century when society and the development of capitalism faced similar monumental ruptures Ganguly provides both a theory of the contemporary moment and a reminder of the novel s power

Reading Confederate Monuments addresses the urgent and vital need for scholars educators and the general public to be able to read and interpret the literal and cultural Confederate monuments pervading life in the contemporary United States The literary and cultural studies scholars featured in this collection engage many different archives and methods demonstrating how to read literal Confederate monuments as texts and in the context of the assortment of literatures that produced and celebrated them They further explore how to read the literary texts advancing and contesting Confederate ideology in the US cultural imaginary then and now as monuments in and of themselves On top of that the essays published here lay bare the cultural and pedagogical work of Confederate monuments and counter monuments divulging how and what they teach their readers as communal and yet contested narratives thereby showing why the persistence of Confederate monuments matters greatly to local and national notions of racial justice and belonging In doing so this collection illustrates what critics of US literature and culture can offer to ongoing scholarly and public discussions about Confederate monuments and memory Even as we remove relocate and recontextualize the physical symbols of the Confederacy dotting the US landscape the complicated histories cultural products and pedagogies of Confederate ideology remain embedded in the national consciousness To disrupt and potentially dismantle these enduring narratives alongside the statues themselves we must be able to recognize analyze and resist them in US life The pieces in this collection position us to think deeply about how and why we should continue that work
