Soldiers In Zibbabwes Liberation War:

Society in Zimbabwe's Liberation War Ngwabi Bhebe, T. O. Ranger, 1996 This work examines people's beliefs, ideas and experiences both during Zimbabwe's liberation war and afterwards. The contributors look at African religion and Christianity and explore the efforts to educate people for a new society. They also look at the ideas used by whites to justify brutality and at the civilian experiences at the hands of the guerillas and the Fifth Brigade. Finally, they ask whether the new ideas were carried on after the war had ended. Zimbabwe University of Zimbabwe Publications

Soldiers in Zimbabwe's Liberation War Ngwabi Bhebe, T. O. Ranger, 1995 Guns and Guerilla Girls Tanya Lyons, 2004 The history of women guerilla fighters in the Zimbabwean National Liberation war 1965-80. This book provides an examination of the many different groups of women who joined the armed struggle and contributes to a feminist understanding of Zimbabwe and African history and politics. Most previously published accounts of this event in history have tended to focus on the feminine or natural role women played in it, ignoring the experiences of female guerilla fighters. This book redresses the balance, giving voice to a previously unsung group of women

Bhebe, T. O. Ranger, 1995 The Zimbabwe African People's Union, 1961-87 Eliakim M. Sibanda, 2005 This book is an exploration of the political history of insurgency in Southern Rhodesia. During the early years of its struggle, ZAPU employed non-violent means to try and achieve its goal for majority rule and a non-racial society. Because of the belligerency of the White settler regime, ZAPU added the armed resistance to its strategy and went on to build a formidable army. Problems escalated and alliances were built and dissolved until, tired of being hunted down and butchered, the ZAPU leadership decided to merge its party with the ruling party in December 1987

Zimbabwe's Migrants and South Africa's Border Farms Maxim Bolt, 2015-09-25 During the Zimbabwean crisis, millions crossed through the apartheid era border fence searching for ways to make ends meet. Maxim Bolt explores the lives of Zimbabwean migrant labourers, of settled black farm workers and their dependants, and of white farmers and managers as they intersect on the border between Zimbabwe and South Africa. Focusing on one farm, this book investigates the role of a hub of wage labour in a place of crisis. A close ethnographic study, it addresses the complex shifting labour and life conditions in northern South Africa's agricultural borderlands. Underlying these challenges are the Zimbabwean political and economic crisis of the 2000s and the intensified pressures on commercial agriculture in South Africa following market liberalization and post-apartheid land reform. But amidst uncertainty, farmers and farm workers strive for stability The farms on South Africa's margins are centers of gravity islands of residential labour in a sea of informal arrangements countries in the region The Struggle over State Power in Zimbabwe George Hamandishe Karekwaivanane, 2017-11-09

The establishment of legal institutions was a key part of the process of state construction in Africa and these institutions have played a crucial role in the projection of state authority across space This is especially the case in colonial and postcolonial Zimbabwe George Karekwaivanane offers a unique long term study of law and politics in Zimbabwe which examines how the law was used in the constitution and contestation of state power across the late colonial and postcolonial periods Through this he offers insight on recent debates about judicial independence adherence to human rights and the observation of the rule of law in contemporary Zimbabwean politics The book sheds light on the prominent place that law has assumed in Zimbabwe s recent political struggles for those researching the history of the state and power in Southern Africa It also carries forward important debates on the role of law in state making and will also appeal to those interested in African legal history Zimbabwes Lost Decade Lloyd Sachikonye, 2012-04-24

Zimbabwe occupies a special place in African politics and international relations and has been the subject of intense debates over the years At independence in 1980 the country was better endowed than most in Africa and seemed poised for economic development and political pluralism The population was relatively well educated the industrial and agricultural bases were strong and levels of infrastructure were impressive However in less than two decades Zimbabwe was mired in a deep political and economic crisis Towards the end of its third decade of independence the economy had collapsed and the country had been transformed into a repressive state How can we make sense of this decline How can we explain the lost decade that followed Can the explanation be reduced to the authoritarian leadership of Robert Mugabe and role of ZANU PF Or was something defective about in the institutions through which the state has exercised its authority Or was it the result of imperialism the West and sanctions Zimbabwes Lost Decade draws on Lloyd Sachikonys analyses of political developments over the past 25 years It offers a critique of leadership systems of governance and economic strategies and argues for democratic values and practices and more broad based participation in the development process War Veterans and the World after 1945 Ángel Alcalde, Xosé M. Núñez

Seixas, 2018-03-29 This book examines war veterans history after 1945 from a global perspective In the Cold War era in most countries of the world there was a sizeable portion of population with direct war experience This edited volume gathers contributions which show the veterans involvement in all the major historical processes shaping the world after World War II Cold War politics racial conflict decolonization state building and the reshaping of war memory were phenomena in which former soldiers and ex combatants were directly involved By examining how different veterans groups movements and organizations challenged or sustained the Cold War strived to prevent or to foster decolonization and transcended or supported official memories of war the volume characterizes veterans as largely independent and autonomous actors which interacted with societies and states in the making of our times Spanning historical cases from the United States to Hong Kong from Europe to Southern Africa from Algeria to Iran the volume situates veterans within the turbulent international
