Professional Autonomy and the Public Interest Barry

Cahill,2019-11-07 Formed in 1825 the Nova Scotia Barristers Society is the second oldest law society in common law Canada after the Law Society of Ontario Yet despite its founders ambitions it did not become the regulator of the legal profession in Nova Scotia for nearly seventy five years In this institutional history of the Nova Scotia Barristers Society from its inception to the Legal Profession Act of 2005 Barry Cahill provides a chronological exploration of the profession s regulation in Nova Scotia and the critical role of the society Based on extensive research conducted on internal documents legislative records and legal and general interest periodicals and newspapers Professional Autonomy and the Public Interest demonstrates that the inauguration of the Nova Scotia Barristers Society was the first giant step on the long road to self regulation Highlighting the inherent tensions between protection of professional self interest and protection of the larger public interest Cahill explains that while this radical innovation was opposed by both lawyers and judges it was ultimately imposed by the Liberal government in 1899 In light of emerging models of regulation in the twenty first century Professional Autonomy and the Public Interest is a timely look back at the origins of professional regulatory bodies and the evolution of law affecting the legal profession in Atlantic Canada

Family Law Advocacy Mavis Maclean,John

Eekelaar,2009-05-15 The role of the law in settling family disputes has been a matter of particular debate over the past twenty five years In keeping with the general public perception the media has been largely critical about the role of lawyers in family law matters sustaining a general lack of confidence in the legal profession and a more specific feeling that in family matters lawyers aggravate conflict or even represent a female conspiracy The climate in which family lawyers practise in England and Wales is therefore a harsh one The authors of this path breaking study felt it was time to find out more about the contribution of barristers in family law cases They therefore embarked on a careful study of the Family Law Bar its characteristics what its members do and how their activities contribute to the management or resolution of family disputes Much of the study is comprised of an in depth examination of the day to day activity of members of the family law bar through observation of individual barristers as they performed their role in the context of a court hearing In attempting to answer questions such as whether our family justice system is excessively adversarial or whether family barristers earn too much from human unhappiness or indeed whether those working in the front line of child protection earn enough the authors reach some surprising conclusions The barrister is both mentor and guide for the client is how they begin their conclusion we hope that we have shown that society should value their contribution better is how they finish This title is included in
