

The Dreaming Place

Thomas Griffiths

The Dreaming Place:

The Dreaming Place Charles De Lint, 1992 When a manitou a winter earth spirit that is withering and in need of blood fastens upon Nina her sixteen year old cousin Ash enters the Otherworld to stop the spirit Pintupi Country, Pintupi Self Fred R. Myers, 1991-05-02 The Pintupi a hunting and gathering people of Australia's Western Desert were among the last Aborigines to come into contact with white Australians Anthropologist Fred Myers who has been working with the Pintupi since 1973 presents an innovative study of this small scale spatially dispersed egalitarian society His comprehensive ethnography focuses on contradictions between indigenous ideas of individual autonomy and those of relatedness a tension mediated in politics spatial relations and the mythological construction of The Dreaming Myers sophisticated analysis shows how these contradictions shape Pintupi personhood despite the duress of recent relocation in settlements these Aboriginal people struggle to define themselves in terms of this cultural logic Exploring Place in the Australian Landscape

David S. Jones, 2022-08-30 This book offers an original framework on how to investigate understand and translate sense of place at a regional scale The book explores contemporary sense of place theory and practice drawing upon the Western District of Victoria in Australia being the Country of the White Cockatoo It offers a unique multi temporal and thematical analytical approach towards comprehending and mapping the values that underpin and determine strengths of human relationships and nuances to this landscape Included is a deep ethno ecological and cross cultural translation that takes the reader through both the Western understanding of sense of place as well as the Australian Aboriginal understanding of Country Both are different intellectual constructions of thoughts values and ideologies but which share numerous commonalities due to their archetypal meanings feelings and values transmitted to humans Way of the Earth T.c. Mcluhan, 1995-07 This book draws upon both ancient and contemporary sources to examine the significance of the earth from the perspective of six different cultures and how these spiritual traditions have valued perceived and understood the earth At first glance the peoples of aboriginal Australia Japan Greece Africa South America and Native North America couldn't be more different But by taking a closer look the author shows that there are many more similarities than differences all revere mountains as a source of inspiration and holiness all feel a spiritual connection to the soil itself all create art and literature to celebrate their connection to the land and all see themselves as inextricable from the land they call home This unique volume explores how human beings across the planet and across time have felt about the earth and nature and how they have understood it related to it and celebrated it in their literature mythology religion and art It demonstrates that no matter where on the planet we exist and no matter what time period we live we all have a profound connection to the earth from Book Jacket Here Be Dragons Stefan Ekman, Stefan Ekman, 2013-02-19 First in depth study of the use of landscape in fantasy literature Winner of the Mythopoeic Scholarship Award for Myth and Fantasy Studies 2016 Fantasy worlds are never mere backdrops They are an integral part of the work and refuse to remain separate from other elements These worlds combine landscape with narrative logic by incorporating alternative rules about cause and effect or physical transformation. They become actors in the drama interacting with the characters offering assistance or hindrance and making ethical demands. In Here Be Dragons Stefan Ekman provides a wide ranging survey of the ubiquitous fantasy map as the point of departure for an in depth discussion of what such maps can tell us about what is important in the fictional worlds and the stories that take place there. With particular focus on J.R.R. Tolkien's The Lord of the Rings Ekman shows how fantasy settings deserve serious attention from both readers and critics. Includes insightful readings of works by Steven Brust, Garth Nix, Robert Holdstock, Terry Pratchett, Charles de Lint, China Miéville, Patricia McKillip, Tim Powers, Lisa Goldstein, Steven R. Donaldson, Robert Jordan and Neil Gaiman and Charles Vess. Where Ya' Been, Mate? Herb Wharton, 2011-04. Unforgettable characters emerge from this vintage Herb Wharton collection which ranges from city to bush from tall tales to amusing parables. There's Rainbow Jack the opal digger, Dr. Roo who when the dingbats are upon him boxes his own shadow and stockmen with nicknames such as Wild Duck, Grease Paint and Diamond Jim. Along with campfire yarns and memories drawn from childhood are stories from Herb's other life in the big city and on the literary trail. Edge of the Sacred - Jung, Psyche, Earth David Tacey, Does earth have spirit or soul? This is a question being asked ever more frequently especially by those interested in the future of the natural world and the development of consciousness. The alchemists said the greater part of the soul is outside the body and indigenous cultures have felt that soul or spirit resides in Nature and the physical environment. Such notions have been dismissed by modernity as illusions but we are beginning to have second thoughts about the animation of the earth. Science and rationality have not taught us how to love or care for the earth and in the modern era the environment has been disrespected. The mythic bonds to Nature such as those found in Aboriginal Australian cultures appear to have real survival value because they bind us to the earth in a meaningful way. When these bonds are destroyed by excessive rationality or a collapse of cultural mythology we are left alone outside the community of Nature and in an alienated state. In this state we do real damage to the environment because it is no longer part of our spiritual body or moral responsibility. Jung was one of the first thinkers of our time to consider the psychic influence of the earth and the conditioning of the mind by place. Inspired by his writings and those of James Hillman the field of ecopsychology has arisen as a powerful new area of inquiry. Edge of the Sacred: Jung, Psyche, Earth contributes to global ecopsychology from an Australian perspective. Geontologies Elizabeth A. Povinelli, 2016-09-15. In Geontologies Elizabeth A. Povinelli continues her project of mapping the current conditions of late liberalism by offering a bold retheorization of power. Finding Foucauldian biopolitics unable to adequately reveal contemporary mechanisms of power and governance, Povinelli describes a mode of power she calls geontopower which operates through the regulation of the distinction between Life and Nonlife and the figures of the Desert, the Animist and the Virus. Geontologies examines this formation of power from the perspective of Indigenous Australian maneuvers against the settler state. And it probes how our contemporary critical languages anthropogenic climate change plasticity new materialism antinormativity often unwittingly transform their struggles against geontopower into a deeper entwinement within it A woman who became a river a snakelike entity who spawns the fog plesiosaurus fossils and vast networks of rock weirs in asking how these different forms of existence refuse incorporation into the vocabularies of Western theory Povinelli provides a revelatory new way to understand a form of power long self evident in certain regimes of settler late liberalism but now becoming visible much further beyond Knowing Their Place? Identity and Space in Children's Literature Terri Doughty, Dawn Thompson, 2011-12-14 Traditionally in the West children were expected to know their place but what does this comprise in a contemporary globalized world Does it mean to continue to accept subordination to those larger and more powerful Does it mean to espouse unthinkingly a notion of national identity Or is it about gaining an awareness of the ways in which identity is derived from a sense of place Where individuals are situated matters as much if not more than it ever has In children's literature the physical places and psychological spaces inhabited by children and young adults are also key elements in the developing identity formation of characters and through engagement of readers too The contributors to this collection map a broad range of historical and present day workings of this process exploring indigeneity and place tracing the intertwining of place and identity in diasporic literature analyzing the relationship of the child to the natural world and studying the role of fantastic spaces in children's construction of the self They address fresh topics and texts ranging from the indigenization of the Gothic by Canadian mixed blood Anishinabe writer Drew Hayden Taylor to the lesser known children's books of George Mackay Brown to eco feminist analysis of contemporary verse novels The essays on more canonical texts such as Peter Pan and the Harry Potter series provide new angles from which to revision them Readers of this collection will gain understanding of the complex interactions of place space and identity in children's literature Essays in this book will appeal to those interested in Children's Literature Aboriginal Studies Environmentalism and literature and Fantasy literature Back Roads Australia DK Publishing, 2011-03-01 DK Eyewitness Back Roads Australia driving vacation guide will take you via scenic routes to discover charming Australian towns local restaurants and intimate places to stay Unearth the real soul of Australia relying on all the practical information you could need from road conditions and length of drive to parking information and opening hours Twenty two themed drives each lasting one to seven days reveal breathtaking views hidden gems and authentic local experiences in an Australia that can only be discovered by road Each tour is bursting with insider knowledge and loaded with ideas for varied activities from diving and snorkeling to hiking surfing wine tours cycling trips and river rafting Meanwhile the most friendly best value hotels and guesthouses and restaurants specializing in fresh local produce have been selected by expert authors Discover the unexpected on your driving vacation with DK Eyewitness Back Roads Australia
