The Gospel According To Matthew A Structural Commentary On Matthews Faith:

The Gospel According to Matthew Daniel Patte, 1987 O Woman, Great is Your Faith! Douglas Sean

O'Donnell, 2021-08-26 The concept of faith holds a central position in New Testament and early Christian thought yet this concept has not received the careful attention it deserves in the Synoptic Gospels The present study offers a comprehensive analysis of faith as a key motif in the Gospel of Matthew where it plays a major role in communicating this Gospel's vision for how readers should respond to the person and message of Jesus The argument propounded is that Matthew's unique narrative portrayal of the Canaanite woman's faith 15 21 28 is used for pedagogical purposes namely that by comparing and contrasting her great faith with those characters expressing no faith and little faith Matthew uses Jesus's quantitative terms to teach on the nature of true faith She embodies Matthew's theological vision of faith Even though she is a gentile outsider enemy she comprehends the universal scope and abundant blessings of Jesus's mission Moreover she acknowledges Jesus's messianic identity correctly perceiving him to be both David's royal heir and David's Lord Finally based on who she perceives Jesus to be and the purpose of his mission she demonstrates faith as trust manifested in action Mercer Commentary on

Carrier, 2020-11-09 In this study Brian Carrier provides a comprehensive analysis of the role that seismic language plays within the Matthean Gospel narrative After reconstructing what connotations seismic language likely carried in Matthew's cultural context the author utilizes an historically informed author oriented narrative criticism that is complemented with redaction criticism to analyze the relationships that Matthew's seismic references display with regards to each other and to the overall narrative. This analysis leads to the conclusion that Matthew's seismic references collectively indicate that the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus together represent the partial fulfillment of the Old Testament eschatological Day of the Lord.

John the Baptist and the Jewish Setting of Matthew Brian C. Dennert, 2015-09-11 Although recent discussions on Matthew have emphasized the document's setting within Judaism, these studies have not analyzed how the Jewish figure of John the Baptist functions within this setting. Brian Dennert steps into this gap, arguing that Matthew presents Jesus to be the continuation and culmination of John's ministry in order to strengthen the claims of Matthew's group and to vilify the opponents of his group. By doing this, he encourages Jews yet to align with Matthew's group, particularly those who esteem the Baptist and to gravitate away from its opponents. The author examines texts roughly contemporaneous with Matthew which reveal respect given to John the Baptist at the time of Matthew's composition. The examination of Matthew shows that the first Evangelist more closely connects the Baptist to Jesus while highlighting his rejection by Jewish authorities. Interpreting the Sermon on the Mount in the Light of Jewish Tradition as Evidenced in the Palestinian Targums of the Pentateuch Isabel Ann Massey, 1991 An elucidation of selected themes in Matthew's Sermon on the Mount including father-be-ye perfect, measure for measure, word's vacuous and the fruit metaphor.

Metanoia (Repentance): A Major Theme of the Gospel of Matthew ChoongJae Lee, 2020-04-13 Matthew describes the beginning of Jesus's ministry with the summary words: repent, turn for the kingdom of heaven is at hand (3:2-4, 17). Why does Matthew use this command at the beginning of his ministry, and how does it relate to the rest of the Gospel? What do and mean? Scholars have stated that (4:17) has critical value for understanding Matthew because the verse functions as a summary statement or key phrase of Jesus's public ministry and teaching. This book argues the thematic significance of turning repentance in the Gospel of Matthew. The lexical idea of and involves a turning of mind or heart, will, thinking, and behavior, and so in turn of one's whole being and life. This opening commandment of turning, especially the concept, the essence, and the contents, is fully revealed throughout the body of Matthew in various ways: Discipleship, the language of righteousness, doing the will of God, changing one's heart and mind, the Great Commission, and Matthean soteriological theme convey the essence of and the contents of the fruit worthy of (3:2, 8, 4, 17). The five major teaching blocks (5, 7, 10, 13, 18, 23, 25) teach the theme and the content of.

Not the Righteous But Sinners John Barnett, 2003-01-01 When critics study reader-character interaction in Matthew's Gospel, they tend to reach similar conclusions. The disciples are viewed as the link between Jesus and the readers. The supplicants and Pharisees serve as foils complementing the true meaning of discipleship. This study reconceptualises the reader's role on the basis of M. M. Bakhtin's analysis of the author-hero relationship. The outcome of this reading strategy is that the readers must also interact with Jesus.

through the limited perspective of the major character groups momentarily suspending the post resurrection knowledge that all authority is granted to him By encouraging the readers to identify with the Pharisees the Gospel is able to constitute the readers as sinners thereby establishing them in the supplicants condition of need and thus as the potential recipients of good news Transformative Encounters Ingrid R Kitzberger, 2021-10-01 This composite post colonial and multi dimensional volume contains sixteen original essays by distinguished Jewish and Christian Scripture scholars on a wide range of perspectives on the relation between Jesus and women as portrayed in the New Testament Gospels as historically reconstructed in the context of Second Temple Judaism and of Mediterranean society as well as in present actualizations The contributions reflect the different social locations of interpreters from all continents and testify to the richness of methods employed in biblical interpretation at the end of the 20th century ranging from literary approaches narrative criticism reader response criticism intertextuality historical critical methods archaeology and social scientific interpretation to cultural studies and film theory By addressing new questions and searching for answers on untrodden paths the vital scholarship on Jesus and women will be reviewed enriched and challenged A Structural Commentary on the So-Called

Antilegomena Kalina Wojciechowska, Mariusz Rosik, 2024-06-17 The structural approach facilitates exposure of the elements of eschatological teaching characteristic of 2 Peter's author with its correct or incorrect interpretation Narratives drawn from Jewish tradition aim to show two attitudes towards the announcement of destruction a positive attitude signifying salvation and a negative attitude signifying annihilation This pattern is transferred to the attitude towards prophetic and apostolic eschatological teaching Part 1 of the commentary 2 Pet 1 2 focuses on the misinterpretation of this teaching by false teachers and their followers Their eschatological scepticism is ridiculed and their grim fate described As the starting point for this description and Peter's whole line of argumentation 2 Pet 2 3b is taken the thesis is that God's inaction is only apparent while judgment and punishment are inevitable although only God knows when they will be executed Part 2 of the commentary 2 Pet 3 focuses on the proper interpretation of this teaching and on laying out the principles of the letter author's hermeneutics This hermeneutic construes texts from Jewish tradition as foreshadowing and typologies of eschatological events In explaining the principles of his hermeneutic the letter's author drew on the creation story which Jewish apocalypticism read inversely to mark that the eschatological hermeneutics is rooted in tradition The starting point of Peter's line of argumentation was taken to be 2 Pet 3 5 7 with its thesis of God's creative and destructive word and God's sovereign will regarding the preservation of creation and the appointment of the time of judgement This thesis explains the apparent lack of divine action which was also a major concern in Part 1 of the commentary 2 Pet 1 2 Jesus as Philosopher Runar M. Thorsteinsson, 2018 Jesus as Philosopher The Philosophical Sage in the Synoptic Gospels examines the possible ways in which the authors of the Synoptic Gospels Mark Matthew and Luke were inspired by contemporary philosophical traditions about the ideal philosophical sage in their description of their ideal human being Jesus Christ Runar M Thorsteinsson considers the following questions How does the author in question speak of Jesus in relation to contemporary philosophy Do we see Jesus take on a certain philosophical role in the Gospels either by his statements and reasoning or his way of life In what way are Jesus words and actions analogous to that of leading philosophical figures in Graeco Roman antiquity according to these texts Conversely in what way do his words and actions differ from theirs While Thorsteinsson discusses a number of Graeco Roman sources the emphasis is on the question of how these parallel texts help us better to understand the Gospel authors perception and presentation of the character of Jesus While the fields of theology and ethics are often intertwined in these texts including the philosophical texts Thorsteinsson s main focus is the ethical aspect He argues that the Gospel authors drew in some ways on classical virtue ethics The study concludes that the Gospel authors inherited stories and sayings of Jesus that they wanted to improve upon and recount as truthfully as possible and they did so in part by making use of philosophical traditions about the ideal sage especially that of Stoicism and Cynicism Jerusalem, Alexandria, Rome

Florentino García Martínez, Gerard P. Luttikhuisen, 2004-03-01 The present volume has been compiled by colleagues and friends as a tribute to Dr A Hilhorst the Secretary of the Journal for the Study of Judaism on the occasion of his 65th birthday Its 23 contributions by renowned international experts reflect the various interests of the honouree his approach to the Classical and Semitic languages and literatures as forming part of a continuum and his attention to the interactions between the different literary corpora Several contributions deal with the interaction of the Old Testament with later Jewish Gnostic or Christian writings others explore the influences of Greek writings within a Jewish context at the levels of philology of theological ideas of realia or of influence of literary compositions Furthermore a number of contributions centers on the interaction of Greek motives in Jewish and Christian literature whereas in several others the focus is on the Martyrium literature or on early Christian texts Minoritized Women Reading Race and Ethnicity Mitzi J. Smith, Jin Young Choi, 2020-09-24

Nonwhite women primarily appear as marginalized voices if at all in volumes that address constructions of race ethnicity and early Christian texts Employing an intersectional approach the contributors analyze historical cultural literary and ideological constructions of racial ethnic identities which intersect with gender sexuality class religion slavery and or power Given their small numbers in academic biblical studies this book represents a critical mass of nonwhite women scholars and offers a critique of dominant knowledge production Filling a significant epistemological gap this seminal text provides provocative innovative and critical insights into constructions of race ethnicity in ancient and modern texts and contexts Persuasion and Dissuasion in Early Christianity, Ancient Judaism, and Hellenism Pieter Willem van der Horst, 2003

For those of you who like jargon this book is about propaganda protreptics apologetics and polemics For those of you who don t this is a study of ancient religious discourse and the interaction between different religious groups

Matthew's Gospel and Judaism in the Late First Century C.E. Anthony Ovayero Ewherido, 2006 Following a thorough examination of the structure language and argument of Matthew s discourse on parables Anthony O Ewherido underscores its primary relevance to the ongoing discussion on the social context of Matthew's Gospel. The convincing analysis of the textual evidence and study of some social and historical trends in Christianity and Judaism in the post 70 C.E. era inform Ewherido's conclusion that at the time the Gospel was written to its predominantly Jewish Christian community that community had parted ways with Judaism and stood at an ideologically irreconcilable distance from the synagogue across the street.

Stories with Intent Klyne Snodgrass, 2008-01-11 Stories with Intent offers pastors and students an accessible and comprehensive guide to Jesus' parables. Klyne Snodgrass explores in vivid detail the context in which these stories were told, the purpose they had in Jesus' message, and the ways they have been interpreted by the church and modern scholarship. While holding a consciously evangelical approach, Snodgrass deals throughout with a broad spectrum of opinions and interpretations. He begins by surveying the primary issues in parables interpretation. Offering both a new, more functional classification system for Jesus' parables and guidelines for interpreting them, he provides an overview of other parables often neglected in the discussion from the Old Testament Jewish writings and the Greco-Roman world. The remaining chapters group the longer and more important parables of Jesus thematically and give a comprehensive treatment of each, including background and significance for today.

The crowds in the Gospel of Matthew [electronic resource] J. R. C.

Cousland, 2002. Annotation: Arguing that crowds in the Gospel of Matthew serve as a theological entity that represent the people of Israel as opposed to their leaders, Cousland, classical Near Eastern and religious studies U of British Columbia, Canada, explores how this representation sheds light on Matthew's relationship to Judaism. Although Matthew had broken with Jewish leadership, he still had hopes of converting the Jewish people to Christianity, and this tension was displayed in the ambivalent manner in which crowds were portrayed in the gospel. Heaven and Earth in the Gospel of Matthew Jonathan T. Pennington, 2007-11-30. A much overlooked aspect of the Gospel of Matthew is the theme of heaven and earth. Rather than being a reverential circumlocution for God, heaven in Matthew is part of a highly developed discourse of heaven and earth language. Matthew's idiolectic way of using heaven language consists of four aspects: 1) a distinction in meaning between singular and plural forms of ouranos; 2) frequent use of the heaven and earth word pair; 3) regular reference to the Father in heaven; and 4) the recurrent use of the Matthean expression, kingdom of heaven. This book examines the historical precedents for each of these aspects and shows in Matthew how they serve one overriding theological purpose: to highlight the tension that currently exists between heaven and earth or God and humanity while looking forward to its eschatological resolution.
