television shows and theme parks Addressing students and fans of the city and of popular culture Popular New Orleans examines three pivotal moments in the history of New Orleans in popular media the creation of the popular image of the Crescent City during the late nineteenth century in the local color writings published in Scribner's Monthly Century Magazine the translation of this image into three dimensional immersive spaces during the twentieth century in Disney's theme parks and resorts in California Florida and Japan and the radical transformation of this image following Hurricane Katrina in public performances such as Mardi Gras parades and operas Covering visions of the Crescent City from George W Cable's Old Creole Days stories 1873-1876 to Disneyland's New Orleans Square 1966 to Rosalyn Story's opera Wading Home 2015 Popular New Orleans traces how popular images of New Orleans have changed from exceptional to exemplary Tell About the South Fred Hobson, 1983-10-01 In this insight studded work that established him as the premier interpreter of southern literary culture Fred Hobson explores the southern urge toward self examination the seeming compulsion of southern writers to discuss their region some defending it others damning it He focuses on fourteen practitioners of the southern genre of regional confession who wrote between 1850 and 1970 showing how they in many cases linking their own destinies with the fate of the South produced deeply felt impassioned books that sought to explain the region to outsiders as well as to fellow southerners and perhaps most of all to themselves Strange Talk Gavin Jones, 1999-10-19 Late nineteenth century America was crazy about dialect vernacular varieties of American English entertained mass audiences in local color stories in realist novels and in poems and plays But dialect was also at the heart of anxious debates about the moral degeneration of urban life the ethnic impact of foreign immigration the black presence in white society and the female influence on masculine authority Celebrations of the rustic raciness in American vernacular were undercut by fears that dialect was a force of cultural dissolution with the power to contaminate the dominant language In this volume Gavin Jones explores the aesthetic politics of this neglected cult of the vernacular in little known regionalists such as George Washington Cable in the canonical work of Mark Twain Henry James Herman Melville and Stephen Crane and in the ethnic writing of Abraham Cahan and Paul Laurence Dunbar He reveals the origins of a trend that deepened in subsequent literature the use of minority dialect to formulate a political response to racial oppression and to enrich diverse depictions of a multicultural nation
