The Worst of Times Paul B. Wignall, 2015-09-29 Unraveling the mystery of the catastrophic age of extinctions Two hundred sixty million years ago life on Earth suffered wave after wave of cataclysmic extinctions with the worst wiping out nearly every species on the planet The Worst of Times delves into the mystery behind these extinctions and sheds light on the fateful role the primeval supercontinent known as Pangea might have played in causing these global catastrophes Drawing on the latest discoveries as well as his own firsthand experiences conducting field expeditions to remote corners of the world Paul Wignall reveals what scientists are only now beginning to understand about the most prolonged and calamitous period of environmental crisis in Earth's history Wignall shows how these series of unprecedented extinction events swept across the planet killing life on a scale more devastating than the dinosaur extinctions that would follow The Worst of Times unravels one of the great enigmas of ancient Earth and shows how this ushered in a new age of vibrant and more resilient life on our planet

Fiction and the Sixth Mass Extinction Jonathan Elmore, 2020-04-01 Fiction and the Sixth Mass Extinction is one of the first works to focus specifically on fiction's engagements with human driven extinction Drawing together a diverse group of scholars and approaches this volume pairs established voices in the field with emerging scholars and traditionally recognized climate fiction cli fi with texts and media typically not associated with Anthropocene fictions The result is a volume that both engages with and furthers existing work on Anthropocene fiction as well as laying groundwork for the budding subfield of extinction fiction This volume takes up the collective insistence on the centrality of story to extinction studies In various and disparate ways each chapter engages with the stories we tell about extinction about the extinction of animal and plant life and about the extinction of human life itself Answering the call to action of extinction studies these chapters explore what kinds of humanity caused this event and what kinds may live through it what cultural assumptions and values led to this event and which ones could lead out of it what relationships between human life and this planet allowed the sixth mass extinction and what alternative relationships could be possible

Mass Extinction Ashraf M.T. Elewa, 2007-12-03 The present book combines three main aspects five major mass extinctions contributions on some other minor extinctions and more importantly contributions on the current mass extinction All three aspects are introduced through interesting studies of mass extinctions in diverse organisms ranging from small invertebrates to mammals and take account of the most accepted subjects discussing mass extinctions in insects mammals fishes ostracods and molluscs

Forsaken Earth: The Ongoing Mass Extinction Paul Sequoia Rauch, 2016-07-28 The Ongoing Mass Extinction of species is the most overriding issue on Earth transcending and encompassing all others It's already proven there's no debate. It is a monumental event occurring right now and escalating its culmination set to happen within most of our lives. Forsaken Earth delves deeply into this matter like no other that the worst of this earth shattering extinction event might still be avoided. Forsaken Earth fully reveals that humans are undeniably causing and allowing this event to happen and that we are the only ones who can and must stop it. Everything you ever wanted to know about our gorgeous Earth to the history of the cultural ideology at the root of the problem to the effect upon every ecosystem of Earth is written in this one potent volume. Forsaken Earth provides more solutions than any yet offered and leads us to discover and activate our most meaningful purpose individually and as humanity to participate and truly support the healing of life on Earth now.

Biotic Recovery from Mass Extinction Events M. B. Hart, 1996 Engl The Late Devonian Mass Extinction George R. McGhee, 1996 Based on two decades of research The Late Devonian Mass Extinction reviews the many theories that have been presented to explain the global mass extinction that struck the earth over 367 million years ago considering in particular the possibility that the extinction was triggered by multiple impacts of extraterrestrial objects The Great Ordovician Biodiversification Event Barry D. Webby, Florentin Paris, Mary L. Droser, Ian G. Percival, 2004-04-14 Two of the greatest evolutionary events in the history of life on Earth occurred during Early Paleozoic time. The first was the Cambrian explosion of skeletonized marine animals about 540 million years ago. The second was the Great Ordovician Biodiversification Event which is the focus of this book. During the 46 million year Ordovician Period 489-443 m.y. a bewildering array of adaptive radiations of Paleozoic and Modern type biotas appeared in marine habitats: the first animals, arthropods, walked on land and the first non-vascular bryophyte-like plants based on their cryptospore record colonized terrestrial areas with damp environments. This book represents a compilation by a large team of Ordovician specialists from around the world who have enthusiastically cooperated to produce this first globally orientated internationally sponsored IGCP International Geological Correlation Program project on Ordovician biotas. The major part is an assembly of genus and species level diversity data for the many Ordovician fossil groups. The book also presents an evaluation of how each group diversified through Ordovician time with assessments of patterns of change and rates of origination and extinction. As such it will become the standard work and data source for biotic studies on the Ordovician Period.

Carboniferous Giants and Mass Extinction George R. McGhee Jr., 2018-08-07 Picture a world of dog-sized scorpions and millipedes as long as a car, tropical rainforests with trees towering over 150 feet into the sky and a giant polar continent five times larger than Antarctica. That world was not imaginary; it was the earth more than 300 million years ago in the Carboniferous period of the Paleozoic era. In Carboniferous Giants and Mass Extinction George R. McGhee Jr. explores that ancient world explaining its origins, its downfall in the end Permian mass extinction, the greatest biodiversity crisis to occur since the evolution of animal life on Earth, and how its legacies still affect us today. McGhee investigates the consequences of the Late Paleozoic ice age in this comprehensive portrait of the effects of ancient climate change on global ecology. Carboniferous Giants and Mass Extinction examines the climatic conditions that allowed for the evolution of gigantic animals and the formation of the largest tropical rainforests ever to exist which in time turned into the coal that made the industrial revolution possible and fuels the engine of contemporary anthropogenic climate change Exploring the strange and fascinating flora and fauna of the Late Paleozoic ice age world McGhee focuses his analysis on the forces that brought this world to an abrupt and violent end Synthesizing decades of research and new discoveries this comprehensive book provides a wealth of insights into past and present extinction events and climate change

Gill,2001-04-01 This innovative study argues that the collapse of Classic Maya civilization was driven by catastrophic drought Between A D 800 and 1000 unrelenting drought killed millions of Maya people with famine and thirst and initiated a cascade of internal collapses that destroyed their civilization Linking global regional and local climate change the author explores how atmospheric processes volcanism ocean currents and other natural forces combined to create the dry climate that pried apart the highly complex civilization in the tropical Maya Lowlands in the ninth and tenth centuries Drawing on knowledge of other prehistoric and historic droughts The Great Maya Droughts is a useful study of the relationship of humans to their natural and physical environment The author tries to understand why the Classic Maya failed to adjust their behavior and culture to the climatic conditions and why civilizations in general sometimes collapse in the face of radical environmental change      Cretaceous Project 200, Volume 1: The Cretaceous World M.B. Hart,S.J. Batenburg,B.T. Huber,G.D. Price,N. Thibault,M. Wagreich,I. Walaszczyk,2025-04-02 The Cretaceous was first mentioned in the legend of a geological map largely centred on France published in 1822 by Jean Baptiste Julien d Omalius d Halloy Two hundred years of research have demonstrated that the Cretaceous records some of the highest sea levels atmospheric temperatures and extreme events in Earth history It was also a time of significant palaeogeographical changes and continental fragmentation This volume draws together a collection of papers that demonstrate these particularly Cretaceous events of warm climates sea level change and the impact of major volcanic events on the fauna and flora of the time Geochemical and stable isotope data are used to interpret these changing environments and their impact on the Cretaceous ecosystem The volume closes with a description of the recent drilling of the Chicxulub bolide impact site      Catastrophic Events and Mass Extinctions Christian Koeberl,Kenneth G.
