Adventures of a Small Game Hunter in Jamaica Max Overton,2016-01-10 An eleven year old boy is plucked from boarding school in England and transported to the tropical paradise of Jamaica where he's free to study his one great love butterflies He discovers that Jamaica has a wealth of these wonderful insects and sets about making a collection of as many as he can find Along the way he has adventures with other creatures from hummingbirds to vultures from iguanas to black widow spiders Through it all runs the promise of the legendary Homerus swallowtail Jamaica's national butterfly Other activities intrude like school boxing and swimming lessons but he manages to inveigle his parents into taking him to strange and sometimes dangerous places all in the name of butterfly collecting He meets scientists and Rastafarians teachers small boys and the ordinary people living on the tropical isle and even discovers butterflies that shouldn't exist in Jamaica Author Max Overton was that young boy He counted himself fortunate to have lived in Jamaica in an age very different from the present one Max still has some of the butterflies he collected half a century or more ago and each one releases a flood of memories whenever he opens the box and gazes at their tattered and fading wings These memories have become stories stories of the Adventures of a Small Game Hunter in Jamaica Adventures In Eating Helen R. Haines, Clare A. Sammells, 2011-05-18 Anthropologists training to do fieldwork in far off unfamiliar places prepare for significant challenges with regard to language customs and other cultural differences However like other travelers to unknown places they are often unprepared to deal with the most basic and necessary requirement food Although there are many books on the anthropology of food Adventures in Eating is the first intended to prepare students for the uncomfortable dining situations they may encounter over the course of their careers Whether sago grubs jungle rats termites or the pungent durian fruit are on the table participating in the act of sharing food can establish relationships vital to anthropologists research practices and knowledge of their host cultures Using their own experiences with unfamiliar and sometimes unappealing food practices and customs the contributors explore such eating moments and how these moments can produce new understandings of culture and the meaning of food beyond the immediate experience of eating it They also address how personal eating experiences and culinary dilemmas can shape the data and methodologies of the discipline The main readership of Adventures in Eating will be students in anthropology and other scholars but the explosion of food media gives the book additional appeal for fans of No Reservations and Bizarre Foods on the Travel Channel
