have given to the thinking men of this age reason to expect a still greater progress in these branches which have already progressed so far To show some possible results from this progression has been the object of the labors of most of the men and women who play their parts in this book These men and women are for the most part plain people who might have lived anywhere but the scene of their actions when not penetrating into the polar regions was laid in northern New Jersey for the reason that it pleased me to make my characters dare and love and succeed amid the same beautiful scenery which surrounded me as I wrote the story No one of these characters is drawn from real life In his youth Roland Crewe might have been acquainted with Mr Edison and the success of that eminent tamer of natural forces may have fired his young ambition to do great deeds in the same arena

The Great Stone of Sardis Illustrated Frank Richard Stockton, 2020-02-05 Frank R Stockton 1834 1902 was an American writer and humorist best known today for a series of innovative children s fairy tales that were widely popular during the last decades of the 12th century Stockton avoided the didactic moralizing common to children s stories of the time instead using clever humor to poke at greed violence abuse of power and other human foibles describing his fantastic characters adventures in a charming matter of fact way in stories like The Griffin and the Minor Canon 1885 and The Bee Man of Orn and Other Fanciful Tales 1887 His most famous fable is The Lady or the Tiger 1882 which is about a man sentenced to an unusual punishment for having a romance with a king s beloved daughter

The Great Stone of Sardis Stockton, 2021-01-28 One of these passengers a man about thirty five stood looking out over the stern of the vessel instead of gazing as were most of his companions towards the city which they were approaching He looked out over the harbor under the great bridge gently spanning the distance between the western end of Long Island and the New Jersey shore its central pier resting where once lay the old Battery and so he gazed over the river and over the houses stretching far to the west as if his eyes could catch some signs of the country far beyond This was Roland Clewe the hero of our story who had been studying and experimenting for the past year in the scientific schools and workshops of Germany It was towards his own laboratory and his own workshops which lay out in the country far beyond the wide line of buildings and settlements which line the western bank of the Hudson that his heart went out and his eyes vainly strove to follow
